HANDS OFF, BAR WARNS IN NEW DEAL COURT WAR

National Body Opens Parley in Boston.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Gathered here in the cradle of American liberty for their 59th annual meeting, members of the American Bar association today uttered a resounding "hands off" to those who would shackle the courts to effectuate the policies of the New Deal.

The warning was first uttered by William L. Ransom of New York, president of the association, in his presidential address at the opening session of the five day meeting this morning. It was picked up and amplified in the reports of various committees of the association, presented to the assembly.

Free Courts the Issue.

"I believe," said Mr. Ransom, "that the issue which, above all others, is stirring the consciousness of the American people, and should command the militant support of all lawyers, is that there shall be preserved unimpaired the great heritage of our people—impartial, independent, nonpartisan, nonpolitical, and law governed courts, made up of courageous judges controled only by their own judgment and their own conscience—judges selected for their qualifications for judicial office, judges secure in tenure, judges who owe no fealty to political programs or preconceived views, judges who give the people the benefit of deliberate, detached, and disinterested judgment.

"The bar and the people should face frankly the issue of a competent and truly independent judiciary. If courts are to be reconstituted to serve preconceived theories, if judges are to be chosen to reward partisans or factional service and are to remain active in partisan or factional contests, and if judges on the bench are to bow weakly to supposed popular demands for the breakdown of the rights of some citizens in order to favor others, then constitutional safeguards become of no avail and the very keystone of the American form of government is in danger.

Liberty the Forfeit.

"If the judge on the bench appears responsive to politicians, the appearance if not the actuality of impartial and impersonal justice is destroyed. If the judge on the bench makes a hodge-podge of human rights in order to serve supposed social ends, the 'blessings of liberty' are to that extent forfeit.

"The people, not the courts, decide and determine the public policy of the United States as embodied in the fundamental law; the people make and change their constitution, according to their deliberative judgment; but we shall lose the distinctive feature of our institutions if the courts are denied the right and duty to speak on fundamental questions or are made subservient to the demand of transient political control. Here is an issue we should nail to our masthead and put and keep in the first place."

Would "Reëxamine Bases."

The New Deal had its spokesman present, in the person of Stanley Reed, solicitor general of the United States. Speaking in response to the official welcome to the association on behalf of the city of Boston, he asserted that "the American bar is interested in a reëxamination of the fundamental bases of our law."

"We realize," he said, "that the profound social and economic changes have made this reëxamination necessary."

Mr. Reed said that such influences as improved transportation, the radio, and uniform systems of education are fostering a greater homogeneity in the United States. This, he contended, has opened the way for what he termed "mass application of law" under which neither the legislator nor the legal counselor deals any longer with the individual. But, he said of the ba: meeting, "this is not the place for controversies over economic or political ideas."

Plea for Truce Unheeded.

Members of a number of the standing and special committees failed to heed his plea to a truce on controversy, however. The social security act was termed unconstitutional by a committee headed by John T. Black of Chicago, to which report Herman L. Ekern, who was the elder La Fol-

NOMINEE WARNS OF DICTATORS IN N. Y. SPEECH

Would Ban Oath of Teachers.

Gov. Landon's address from Buffalo, N. Y., is to be broadcast over WMAQ-NBC from 8:30 to 9 o'clock, Chicago time, tomorrow night.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Chautauqua, N. Y., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Educational institutions, newspapers, and the radio must be kept from the control of autocratic government or any selfish interest, Gov. Alf M. Landon declared tonight in the second speech of his eastern campaign trip.

Gov. Landon spoke in the assembly hall of the Chautauqua institution, which was founded 62 years ago as an experiment in adult education and which has been a great formative force in the building of American liberal opinion.

2 Fundamental Conclusions.

As a citizen, a father, and as governor of Kansas, Landon expressed two fundamental conclusions on the subject of education in this country, as follows:

Our schools—public, parochial, and private—must be kept free of all control by the federal government.

No teacher shall be required to take any oath not required of all other citizens.

The old amphitheater, scene of many famous addresses, was crowded beyond capacity, and the 7,000 seats were filled an hour before Landon appeared. Two thousand more persons stood on the outside.

Waiting Crowd Sings.

While the crowd waited Walter Howe, the chorus director, led in community singing and "Smiles," "There's a Long, Long Trail," and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" rang out as a pipe organ formed a thunderous overtone.

At 10 minutes before 7 o'clock it was announced that Gov. Landon was entering the hall, and the audience arose and sang "The Star Spangled Banner" as the governor's party approached the stage.

Melvin C. Eaton, New York state chairman, welcomed the governor to the Empire state and presented him to the audience, and Dr. Arthur D. Bestor, president of the Chautauqua, added his welcome.

Throng Salutes Landon.

Then Gov. Landon, dressed in a blue suit, took his place on the stand, and as he waved his arm in greeting thousands of white handkerchiefs were broken out in the famous "Chautauqua salute."

On the controversial teachers' oath question, which has been raised in many states, Gov. Landon declared that a teacher has the same right as any other citizen to express political, social, or religious convictions and to work for accomplishment of these ideas, but that the teacher has no right to become a propagandist and to put forth pet views and theories at the expense of other views and theories.

Stands with Teachers.

In this attitude Gov. Landon took a stand beside many teachers' organizations and leading educators, and in opposition to some of his influential supporters.

He was particularly emphatic in his denunciation of efforts of the federal government to undermine the faith of the people in the American form of government.

More serious than the danger of teachers becoming propagandists, he said, is the "widespread use of the machinery of the federal government to maintain the present administration in power and to bring into question the faith of the people in their way of life and in their form of government. When money is forcibly taken from citizens and used to tear down those things most precious to our people we see propaganda in its most shabby form."

Great Issue of Campaign.

In this attack on the administration Gov. Landon was expressing in more concrete form his conception of the great issue in the present campaign—the preservation of the American form of government against the insidious drive toward a centralized burocracy which is manifest in the New Deal school of thought.

"The right of free inquiry," he

MAKING A PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE KNOWN TO THE PEOPLE

Money Hidden at Home and in Bank Boxes

Heirs of a hermit, who for many years had lived alone in two rooms of a four story building on the near north side, learned yesterday that they will share in more than $500,000 in cash and securities, found after the death of their eccentric relative.

The hermit, Albert Welge, died last June 16, at the age of 68, in his otherwise untenanted building at 1501 North Clark street, where he had lived so long in solitude.

Regarded as Mystery Man.

From the day in 1932 when Welge, an old overcoat held together at his throat with a large safety pin, walked into the Harris Trust and Savings bank, 115 West Monroe street, and announced that he wanted to draw a will, he has been regarded as a mystery man. His eccentricities have attracted further attention since his death.

In each of the five safety boxes held in his name there was a card reading as follows:

"Keep your damn hands off. We count this and we know what is in it. We know you have a key."

Each of the boxes contained money and government bonds, it was learned, as well as numerous mortgages. Welge also had several bank accounts.

Newspapers Fill Rooms.

His home was filled with piles of newspapers. It was said he almost never threw out a newspaper. They lay in neat stacks about the apartment. Welge had marked every news item pertaining to estates filed in the Probate court. He noted carefully the investments listed in the large estates. And hidden among the newspaper piles were many packages of currency. The amount of cash found in the home has not been made public but it was said to be a large sum.

Although Welge lived a hermit's life for many years, the rooms were found to be fairly clean after his death. He did his own cooking, but occasionally prepared meals were sent to him by George Pohl, the janitor of his building, and Mrs. Pohl, who lived in an adjacent structure at 56 East Burton place. Pohl, incidentally, is named as one of the Welge heirs.

Find 30 Year Old Whisky.

Those who took charge of the hermit's place and sent the furniture into storage, said it was obvious he smoked a great many cigars every day. He also had many bottles of 30 year old whisky in his home but all of it, excepting one quart, had been turned into a medicine by the addition of berries. Apparently Welge passed most of the time reading newspapers and smoking cigars.

North Clark street folk said the PARIS, Aug. 24.—Europe's anxiety over whether a general war will develop out of the Spanish conflict was temporarily relieved tonight by:

1. Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's belated decision to join a solid diplomatic nonintervention front in the Spanish civil war. He made it plain, however, that Germany still expects satisfaction from Madrid for the "Kamerun incident" and the detention of a German airliner.

2. Soviet Russia's agreement to halt arms shipments to Spain, provided Germany, Italy, and Portugal do likewise. Moscow would also suppress arms contracts already signed and exchange information with other neutrals.

3. Britain's decision not to make an issue of the Gibel Zerjon incident. London said the affair—interference with a British merchantman by a Spanish warship—was closed when the warship commander apologized to the master of a British man-of-war.

Army Action a Surprise.

Paris was robbed of some of its satisfaction over Germany's arms ban by Berlin's almost simultaneous announcement of extension of the military training period in Germany from one to two years. Informed sources considered this Berlin's answer to the Russian reduction of the age limit for service in the soviet army.

In French diplomatic circles, where the Spanish situation still dominates interest, however, the German agreement to join most of the other European nations in putting an embargo on arms shipments either to the rebels or the government forces in Spain was said to have dispelled much disquiet.

The announcement that Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German economic dictator and president of the Reichsbank, will come to Paris probably toward the end of this week to return the visit which Emile Labeyrie, governor of the Bank of France, paid to Berlin recently, means superficially that the tension between France and Germany is not so bad after all.

Prevents Taking Sides.

Of course, the decision of Germany has more bearing on the general European situation than it has on the particular Spanish civil war situation. Nonintervention, as is clearly evident, is a diplomatic pose aimed to keep the European nations from lining up, at least openly, on opposite sides, which division would lead to a break.

But behind the outward protestations of nonintervention each country in Europe, in accordance with its political outlook for or against Fascism, is supplying arms to one or the other side in the Spanish fray. Behind the open nonintervention policy, arms, munitions, and men are pouring into Spain because of the fear that a general war will come too soon, which has dictated the nonintervention, but has not lessened intrinsic partisanship. Italy and Germany and Portugal [saying Portugal is purely euphemistic] are clandestinely aiding the Spanish rebels just as munitions and hundreds of volunteers are pouring across the Pyrenees from another direction to help the Madrid government's side.

Help Behind the Scenes.

Jay Allen, THE TRIBUNE correspondent who observed activities in Portugal, testifies that the German steamer Kamerun unloaded German munitions in Lisbon for the Spanish rebels.

I heard that a war committee in

YOU'RE NOT SAFE IN YOUR HOME, SURVEY SHOWS

"The safety of the home" is a misnomer, according to facts revealed yesterday in a survey just completed by the National Safety council. The study is based partly on the reports of 4,602 home accident cases treated at the County hospital here in 1934 and 1935.

Figures submitted with the report show that in 1935 there were 4,631,000 known home accidents in the United States, which cost $590,000,000 in wages, doctor bills and accident insurance, in addition to human suffering.

The figures also disclose that accidents in the home caused more permanent injuries and more temporary disability than any other general class of accidents, while only automobile accidents caused more deaths.

Of the 4,602 victims of accidents in the home who were taken to the County hospital in the two year period, 286 died, 20 were permanently disabled, 348 were partially disabled, and the remaining 3,948 recovered only after hospitalization of from a few days to several months.

Falls injured 2,910, and 391 were suffering from burns, scalds and explosions, 298 were hurt by stepping on or striking against objects, and 191 were hit by falling objects.

573,000 SCHOOL BOOKS BOUGHT AT $75,400 SAVING

The purchase of 573,000 textbooks for $357,600 was authorized by the board of education yesterday after considering bids submitted by 61 publishers. According to Don C. Rogers, head of the board's textbook bureau, the purchase represents a saving of $75,400, compared with the prices paid before September, 1935, when the competitive bidding system was adopted.

The books will be delivered for the opening of the fall semester on Sept. 14. Of the 53 successful bidders the largest order went to John C. Winston & Co., for 70,800 mathematic books at 32 cents each. Last year books on that subject were purchased from 12 publishers at 50 cents each.

Russia Shoots 16 for Plot to Murder Stalin

MOSCOW, Aug. 25 [Tuesday].—(AP)—Sixteen men convicted of a plot to overthrow Dictator Josef Stalin and the soviet government have been executed, it was officially announced today.

A terse statement said the central executive committee of the soviet union had declined an appeal for mercy and that all sixteen, convicted and sentenced early yesterday of plotting to kill Stalin and set up a Fascist reign of terror, had been shot.

The defendants—including Leon Kamenev and Gregory Zinoviev, once high in bolshevik councils—had been sentenced to suffer "the highest measure of social defense—death before a firing squad."

All Prisoners Had Confessed.

All had confessed their participation in the plot, and many had even admitted they "deserved" death, in a series of self-accusations which even surpassed the prosecutor's charges.

The convicted men, most of whom had manned the barricades nineteen years ago when the bolsheviks fought the czarists, had been given at the most 72 hours to live after sentence was passed yesterday. But as they waited silently in their cells, the presidium of the central executive committee rejected their requests for clemency.

No mention was made of where or how the executions were performed, nor why the action was so sudden. A previous announcement had said they would have the 72 hours of grace.

Offers to Stand Trial.

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Leon Trotzky, exiled Russian bolshevist leader, said tonight he stood ready to answer charges he had fomented a plot to overthrow the soviet régime and kill Dictator Josef Stalin.

Trotzky said he was willing to appear before an impartial Norwegian court and answer the charges levelled against him at the Moscow trial of 16 conspirators condemned to death for their part in the plot which they laid to Trotzky.

Trotzky's declaration followed upon suggestions by a labor party chieftain that he return to Moscow and face trial.

Johan Scharftenberg, writing in the labor newspaper Arbeiderbladet said "Trotzky says he can prove the accusations made against him at the Moscow trial were false. If so it is his moral duty is immediately to go to a Moscow court."

Trotzky's presence in Norway has caused a perplexing problem as the labor party was understood to have wished him to leave, fearing complications in the general elections in October, but the labor cabinet which allowed him to enter the country feels it cannot very well expel him now.

COUNT OF RAGWEED POLLEN IN AIR HITS 160; HIGH FOR YEAR

The ragweed pollen count for the twenty-four hour pediod ending at 5 p. m. yesterday was 160 grains per cubic yard of air, according to the Illinois Medical association. The count, made on slides exposed for the twenty-four hour period, was the highest recorded this year, causing hay fever sufferers who are sensitive to ragweed pollen to experience their most painful day of the season. The count Saturday, which hay fever victims termed "terrible," was 120, and on Friday, 98.

David E. Shanahan Suffers Setback in His Long Illness

State Representative David E. Shanahan, five times speaker of the house at Springfield, was reported last night to have suffered a setback at Mercy hospital, where he has been ill since a heart attack in May. His condition was said to have been improving until the recent heat wave, which brought the sinking spell. Mr. Shanahan is 73 years old. He has represented the Ninth congressional district since he was 31 years old.

Hyden, Ky., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Hugging 14 year old Edna Vernon in public cost Charley Wilder, 28, one cent and two hours in jail after a jury of hill men decided the act was an offense. He was jailed until officials remitted the costs.

Only 71 days remain in which to save your country. What are you doing to save it?

Portbou, Spain, was signing up volunteer aviators and machine gunners from the French side a few days ago.

However, in response to reports that Spanish rebels had executed five Frenchmen taken prisoners along with loyalists, the Paris government stated that "adventurers" must take their own risks.

Officials of the Spanish embassy in Paris, which is one of the embassies remaining fairly loyal to the Madrid government, said the situation is satisfactory for the government. They thought Madrid appeared to be winning. The tone of the French press also appeared more and more to reflect this and it may not be a bad guess that one of the reasons why Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Premier Mussolini, after long delays, agreed to join the French nonintervention proposals was that neither wanted to back a losing horse. More simply put it means the possibilities of exploiting the Spanish situation against Great Britain have been diminished.

Estimate Rivals' Resources.

Figures on the comparative resources of the Spanish government and the rebels which were authenticated here today are significant. It was estimated the rebels controled 64 per cent of the agricultural products of Spain and the government, but 36 per cent. The government, on the other hand, controls 57 per cent of the mineral raw materials, against 43 per cent for the rebels.

The government controls 42 per cent of other industrial raw materials and the rebels 58 per cent. But on the capacity for industrial production, which is a salient factor, the government has 65 per cent of the country's capacity, while the rebels have but 35 per cent.

Madrid Must Reply.

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Nazi Germany agreed today to declare an immediate embargo on arms and airplane shipments to Spain.

In deciding on its sudden action Germany made an important concession in not waiting for the release of a German airplane confiscated at Madrid.

Similarly, the incident created by the Spanish government's search of the German merchantman Kamerun, in the absence of a "satisfactory" reply from Spain, remained where it was before the embargo was declared.

Sees Further Progress.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—British officialdom tonight saw a salutary effect of Germany's arms embargo on the forthcoming Locarno peace conference.

The British government earlier had termed "closed" the incident of a Spanish warship's interference with the British trader Gibel Zerjon in view of an apology from the commander of the Madrid government cruiser which stopped and searched the ship.

Italy Awaits More Action.

ROME, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Fascist officials, commenting on Germany's agreement to put a Spanish arms embargo into immediate operation, tonight said the proposed international neutrality accord is not yet in effect.

One official said Italy had not yet heard from other arms producing countries which she insists take similar action, and therefore does not consider the accord as yet effective. Italy, this official said, might not have to place an actual embargo on the export of arms, since she can control them through a system of export permits already in operation.

Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano accepted the neutrality proposition last Friday, with reservations which included a stipulation that other arms manufacturing countries, such as Czechoslovakia, also be bound by it.

REPORT CHIEF OF RIFFS ESCAPES ISLE OF EXILE

PARIS, Aug. 25 [Tuesday].—(AP)—The newspaper Le Matin published a report today that Abd-el-Krim, one-time belligerent war lord of the Moroccan Riffs, had escaped from exile on the island of Reunion, east of Madagascar, in the Indian ocean. Official confirmation of the report is lacking.

Abd-el-Krim said early last year he was tired of his ten year exile and hinted he would cause no further trouble if his French captors would free him. On the island the French government allowed him a mansion and a pension of about $7,000, but as he was allowed to take his harem into exile the pension was not more than enough, Abd-el-Krim said. His family numbered thirty-six persons.

Abd-el-Krim led the tribes of the Riff—a mountainous inland section south of Spanish Morocco—in successful attacks on the Spaniards for almost five years. He drove them to the coast and set up the "Riff republic" with himself as head. In 1925, however, he made a blunder—he attacked the French. Their colonial troops pushed him and his fighters back into the mountains, where his own men deserted and he surrendered.

Cardinal Reported Killed Is Safe in Italian Refuge

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Prelates today denied Spanish rebel reports that Cardinal Vidal y Barraquer, archbishop of Tarragona, had been killed by government militiamen. The cardinal was said to have taken refuge in Italy en route to Rome.

Loyalists Storm Prison; Attempt to Lynch Hostages

HENDAYE, France, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Thousands of government sympathizers in the city of San Sebastian, enraged by the rebels' renewed bombardment, tonight rushed the doors of the prison and tried to lynch political hostages, diplomats here reported.

Only the prompt action of workers' militia under the personal direction of military governor, Jesus Larranaga, it was said, prevented a wholesale massacre.

The militiamen forced the crowd back at gunpoint while the diplomats quoted Larranaga as promising them that five rebel prisoners would be executed for every civilian killed in bombardments.

Only three shells had been fired by the rebel warships during the day, but apparently it was the renewal of the bombardment rather than the number of shells fired which enraged the populace.

Fear Daily Bombings.

Also today Fascist rebel planes renewed bombing of Irun while Moorish native troops stood by for an expected land assault on the whole Irun-San Sebastian line. This was taken as an indication the rebel general, Emilio Mola, intended to establish a daily routine in the sector of air and sea bombardments followed by infantry attacks.

More than 100 inhabitants were killed in the raid on Irun, it was reported by supporters of the Spanish government's "Popular Front," but confirmation was lacking.

Gen. Mola tonight received a wireless from the rebel commander at Oviedo that "unless you send promised aid I will be forced to surrender." At Oviedo it was reported government planes rained bombs on the city after the rebel defenders had spurned an ultimatum to surrender or be bombed.

Colonel Dies in Action.

Reports from rebel headquarters at Pamplona confirmed the death in action of Col. Ortez de Zarate, rebel commander-in-chief at Oyarzun, a town near Irun.

On the French side of the frontier rumors were current that peace negotiations were being sought by Count Romanones, former premier and one of the richest men in Spain. He was released Sunday by government forces in San Sebastian and crossed immediately to Dax, France.

Trains Transport Rebels.

MADRID, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Rebel forces were said today to have traveled by train from Seville to Badajoz and to northern Spain. This apparent facility of the rebel forces in moving about the war-torn countryside was causing concern among both officials and civilians here.

From southeast of Madrid, rebel forces were driving steadily forward toward Toledo in a determined attempt to reach their comrades last reported holding out in the besieged Alcazar garrison against government forces theoretically holding the city.

The government admitted enemy planes from Seville bombarded Getafe airport outside the loyalist capital early yesterday, but declared the damage was slight, and the raiders were chased away by planes from the field. Another squadron of loyalist planes bombed Granada airdrome in retaliation and destroyed two planes.

Three Planes Shot Down.

Three rebel planes were reported shot down in flames during fighting on the Guadarrama battlefront northeast of Madrid. Advices from government field headquarters said the pilots died in their machines.

Government field headquarters at Guadarrama reported that loyalist peasants blew up the Balsan power plant supplying light and power for La Granja, a serious handicap to Fascist forces.

A Madrid statement said rebel troops, attempting to force their way through government lines besieging Saragossa, were driven off under heavy artillery and machine gun fire and with heavy casualties. Rebel troops, headed by Moors, attempted to break through government forces surrounding Cordoba, in the south, but were forced back. The loyalists reported they had summarily executed all Moors and rebel legionnaires captured.

Arrest Confessor to King.

MADRID, Aug. 25 [Tuesday].—The Spanish Socialist government arrested the aged Father José Ferandez Montana, who ministered to the former royal family, in a new purge of Fascist sympathizers within Madrid today.

The former confessor to Alfonso and Victoria was arrested as a new "people's summary tribunal" inaugurated a "swift and relentless justice for Fascists."

Four rebel officers were executed upon sentence by the new tribunal, created after a fire and attempted rebellion in the capital's "model prison" Saturday.

The tribunal was composed of the president of the Supreme court, Mariano Gomez, two high court judges, with fourteen civilians representing.

IRISH CRUSADERS FORMED TO AID REBELS IN SPAIN

DUBLIN, Aug. 24.—Gen. Owen O'Duffy, former leader of the Cosgrave party and chief of the Blue Shirts, has staged a dramatic reëntry into public life here as leader of a crusade against the Spanish Reds.

Following a recent visit to the continent, Gen. O'Duffy made a whirlwind tour of his Corporate party adherents' areas throughout the Free State, and today he announced the formation of "an Irish volunteer brigade" which would go forth as crusaders in the fight for Christianity on the Spanish frontier.

Acts on Rebel Appeal.

Gen. O'Duffy said he has taken this action in response to an appeal from Spanish insurgent leaders. He claimed already to have applications from 2,000 young men anxious to take up arms against the leftist government forces in Spain, while large numbers of doctors, nurses, and medical students, he added, have volunteered for Red Cross work.

"Within a fortnight," O'Duffy said, "we hope to be able to send the first hospital unit to Spain.

"This crusade has been begun to assist the persecuted people of Spain in their life and death struggle for Christianity."

Of some 2,000 who have volunteered O'Duffy mentioned that almost half are Irish residents of Great Britain and Northern Ireland. He stressed the fact that a large proportion of the northerners were Protestants who viewed the prospects of an anti-Christian victory in Spain with alarm. O'Duffy does not propose, he said, to arm and equip the members of his brigade. He will give them distinctive badges and they will join the insurgents' forces—if and when they leave—as a sort of foreign legion. The arms and equipment are to be provided by the Spanish rebel army.

Scoffs at Neutrality.

When the Blue Shirt leader was reminded that the Free State government had subscribed to the proposed nonintervention pact, as consequence of which President De Valera's administration may intervene in the present formation of the proposed brigade, O'Duffy said he didn't see why the government here should stand by the French pact which he described "as the biggest hoax ever imposed on the nations of Europe."

"French communists are pouring into Spain with full military equipment," he said. "So are others. In view of these facts our Catholic-Irish government can scarcely intervene to prevent assistance being given to Gen. Francisco Franco's army in Spain in its fight for Christianity."

MUSSOLINI AND KING SEE NEW MACHINES TRIED IN WAR GAMES

AVELLINO, Italy, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Amid the rumble of war thunder in Europe Italy tonight tuned up new and deadlier war machines in the Italian army's annual war games.

Military observers watched a new anti-aircraft, anti-tank 20 millimeter gun fire tracer bullets with great rapidity. They saw a heavier anti-tank gun of 47 millimeters aimed at the limits of its extraordinary range—from an angle of 68 degrees to one 10 degrees below the horizon.

Other new armaments which attracted militarists' attention were 40 millimeter mortars, and new, heavy machine guns. Officials showed special interest in a ground clearing tank. It swept terrain clear of obstacles over a 25 foot width, clearing a swath in which ordinary tanks and trucks could follow.

Selection of a midpeninsular region for the war games, however, was viewed optimistically. It was seen as symptomatic of more cordial relations between Germany and Italy as a consequence of the German-Austrian accord. Last year the practices were staged near Bolzano on the Austrian border.

To diffuse the lessons of the Ethiopian war as widely as possible, large numbers of recent conscripts and reserve officers were assigned side by side with veterans of the African campaign. Cabinet officers, government officials, senators, deputies, and Fascist leaders who hold army commissions were ordered into uniform in a traditional Fascist fusion of the political and military branches.

POLAND JAILS U. S. WOMAN; BROKE CURRENCY LAWS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—(AP)—The state department was advised today that a Polish court at Ostrow had sentenced Mrs. Dorothy Atkinson of Minneapolis to one year imprisonment for failure to declare a $5,000 letter of credit and $14 at the Polish frontier.

Mrs. Atkinson was a voting delegate to the international conference of university women in session at Cracow, Poland.

Thomas H. Bevan, American consul general at Warsaw, reporting that he was advised of the case late today by Mrs. Atkinson's daughter, said he sent a clerk to Ostrow immediately to render assistance and obtain Mrs. Atkinson's release under bond if possible. In this effort, he said, the American embassy at Warsaw is cooperating. Mrs. Atkinson is the wife of Frederick G. Atkinson, Minneapolis milling executive. She is the daughter of the late Dr. George H. Bridgeman, former president of Hamline university in St. Paul.

HITLER CREATES ARMY OF MILLION MEN; EYES RUSSIA

Boosts Military Service to Two Year Term.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler soon will have a stronger army than former Kaiser Wilhelm commanded in pre-war days as a result of the Fuehrer's action today.

By a stroke of the pen Hitler doubled the term of conscript service, increasing it from one year to two years for all three branches of the fighting services—army, navy, and air force. Technical experts will serve longer. Measures also were prepared to extend compulsory labor service from six months to a year, thus giving men one year's training before entering actual military service.

Plans Army of Million Men.

Through the decree the German army, which is now estimated to number close to 700,000 men, will far exceed the million mark in the course of the next two years. The former kaiser's army totaled about 800,000 men.

Citing "bolshevik danger" as the reason for increasing the period of military training, Hitler in his decree said:

"History has taught us that in order to have domestic peace it is better when necessary to make sacrifices rather than sink into bolshevistic chaos."

Issuance of the decree followed a fierce press campaign against the "dangers of bolshevism." The official party news service tonight launched a violent attack on Russians and Jews and blamed them for the extra year Germans must serve in the army, navy, and air force.

See Neighbors Raising Term.

Tomorrow's edition of the newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter will say that all of Germany's neighbors will compel their recruits to serve more than a year, especially "the allied countries, France, soviet Russia, Belgium, and Czechoslovakia."

German military officers pointed out that the new conscription law follows an increased military service term in Russia with the alleged aim of increasing the soviet forces to 2 million men. They added that it has been just eighteen months since Hitler enforced conscription, "after France had taken the lead and introduced longer service for her men."

Foreign military experts in Berlin were somewhat baffled by Hitler's decree. German officers have been telling them they lack the facilities for housing and training numerous recruits. They also complained there were not sufficient officers. By doubling the number of recruits these difficulties will only be increased. The Nazis made light of these objections. They said that the building of new barracks will provide work for the labor front and that conscription, as well as protracted labor service, will help keep unemployment figures down.

Old time officers complained that the young recruits failed to goose-step with the perfection of their fathers. Others asserted the new technical service is so complicated that young men were unable to master the military intricacies in a year's time. The increased period of service will tend to eliminate these criticisms.

Hungary to Follow Suit.

Simultaneously with the announcement of the doubling of the military service term came reports from well informed diplomatic sources that Hungary will follow Germany's example and that she will cast off the last military restrictions imposed on her by the treaty of Trianon and "arm to the teeth." Hungarian rearmament was the main object of the conversations between Admiral Nicholas Horthy, Hungarian regent, and Hitler in Berchtesgaden, Bavaria, last week. Hitler promised Horthy the reich's fullest support if Hungary continued to rearm "against the bolshevist danger."

MOROCCAN REVOLT REPORTED; HITS USE OF MOORS IN SPAIN

PARIS, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Tangier dispatches to L'Oeuvre, leftist Paris newspaper, today reported Moorish nationalists were revolting against rebel authorities in Spanish Morocco.

The nationalists, the dispatches said, were angered by rebel use of native troops against the Spanish government.

"Everywhere throughout Spanish Morocco the native population is rising up in revolt and events charged with ominous possibilities are imminent," the paper's Tangier correspondent stated.

MALAGA LOYALISTS REPORTED RIOTING AMONG THEMSELVES

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

Casablanca, French Morocco, Aug. 24.—Twenty-three British and French women refugees from Malaga who arrived here today on the Jugo-Slav steamer Nicolina Markawitch told a terrible tale of conditions in Malaga which they left two days ago.

"Communists and anarchists now are fighting each other for mastery, though both parties are hunting down and shooting bourgeois suspects," one woman reported.

"The real horrors began after the rebels' successful air raid on Friday when the Campsa company's gasoline tanks were destroyed and eighty in the working class quarter killed and wounded. Militiamen, infuriated by the casualties and by the loss of the gasoline which was essential for keeping the trucks serving the columns at Estepona and Antequera rushed to the center of the town, looting and killing indiscriminately. Summary executions must have accounted for 300 lives.

SPAIN PROMISES TO PAY FOR U. S. PROPERTY SEIZED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—The Spanish government has formally notified the American government that it will not seize foreign or privately owned property in Spain without full and fair compensation, the state department announced today. The declaration was made in a note from the Spanish foreign office to Eric C. Wendelin, who is in charge of the American embassy at Madrid since Ambassador Claude G. Bowers has fled Spanish soil.

The note was interpreted here as a reply to the American note of protest and warning sent Spain early this month after the seizure of Ford and General Motors automobile plants in Barcelona by the Catalonian government.

[Catalan officials disclosed today that the General Motors plant had been turned into a munitions factory, producing bombs and apparatus for releasing them from planes.]

CRITIC REVEALS WPA 3D DEGREE TO FORCE DENIAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—John Stapleton, city engineer of Bloomington, Ind., who exposed waste and inefficiency of boondoggling in his [Monroe] county and later recanted his exposure, today charged he was coerced into signing his denial after being subjected to a third degree by WPA representatives.

Stapleton's exposure was printed Aug. 19 by the Republican national committee. In it he asserted WPA costs are 300 per cent above private contracts, that a community cabin which cost $14,000 could have been built for $2,000; that the cost of laying stones on one project was $3.27 a stone, and that WPA paid $6 a cubic yard for crushed stone which the city of Bloomington gets at 55 cents.

On Aug. 20 WPA headquarters announced that investigators would be sent to Monroe county to determine the accuracy of the charges. On the following day a statement purporting to come from Stapleton denied the exposure.

Affidavit Explains Denial.

Today the Republican national committee made public an affidavit from Stapleton in which he not only stands by his original charges, but reveals how he was forced to make the denial for WPA representatives.

"I have been placed in a bad position before the public and believe a frank explanation should be made, the affidavit said. "I was asked by representatives of Wayne Coy to deny the story in regard to WPA costs which appeared in the papers as given by the Republican national committee to save the projects which are now under way, and which are being planned for Bloomington.

"These projects run to a total of half a million dollars, including the waterworks extension to Bean Blossom. I thought the denial was for Wayne Coy, and to save Patrick Hyland and William Owens, county and district WPA directors, who were not in charge all of the time covered by the story in the newspapers.

Two Hour Third Degree.

"It was held out to me that I would be the cause of Bloomington losing all her projects, throwing several hundred men out of jobs, and I did not want this to happen. I thought my denial of the story, which was written out for me, which was not in my language, and which was signed only for the above reasons, would go into the files of Mr. Coy and I had no idea it would be broadcast and published as a political document.

"Before I signed the paper I went through two hours as bad as any third degree in a murder case. Before I signed the letter it was agreed that Bloomington WPA projects were to go on as started and planned.

"However, since so many local people know the real facts, my conscience compels me to state the real truth about this matter.

"The purported 'denial' I signed was so wrong that I am ashamed of it and the whole transaction and want my friends and the public to know the truth."

Will Disregard Charges.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Wayne Coy, Indiana WPA director, indicated tonight his office would disregard charges of WPA waste and extravagance in projects at Bloomington, Ind., and Monroe county.

Coy said he had learned from Washington WPA headquarters of an affidavit made by John T. Stapleton, Bloomington city engineer, reasserting charges of WPA waste and alleging he had recently denied the charges after undergoing "a third degree."

Coy said, "We are through with the incident, and I believe all right thinking people will think no more about it when they see that Mr. Stapleton is an 'on again, off again' man."

Coy would not comment immediately on Stapleton's allegation that he had been put through a "third degree."

Mayor A. H. Berndt of Bloomington said, "The entire affair started without my knowledge. I have no direct information on the facts. I have no further statement to make."

MARY TO FIGHT $1,000,000 SUIT

MARY PICKFORD FIGHTS SLANDER AND LIBEL SUIT

Boston, Mass., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Fifty witnesses have been summoned to testify at a hearing here Wednesday in the $1,000,000 slander and libel suit against Mary Pickford, Attorney Francis B. Burns announced today.

Burns said he had been appointed by Federal Judge John Knox in New York City to take evidence in the action instituted by J. Raymond Cornell of Boston, a former Wellesley organ manufacturer.

Witnesses whom Burns said he had summoned to testify before him include Martin H. King, former superintendent of the Boston police; several other police officers; Edward R. Dewing, district attorney of Norfolk county; City Solicitor Charles R. Young of Quincy, and a Boston and a Newburyport attorney.

Defense Moves Outlined.

Attorney Arthur F. Driscoll, counsel for the famous screen star, said in New York that "We'll take some depositions of our own, too." He indicated that residents of Newburyport, Wellesley, and Newtonville would be called to support Miss Pickford's defense.

Cornell has charged that he was slandered by the diminutive movie star early in 1934 when he tried to sell her an original manuscript of Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the Christian Science church.

The organ manufacturer asserted that when he met Miss Pickford she "abused" him and later left Boston for Cape Cod, claiming she had been threatened with kidnaping.

Deny Plaintif's Name Mentioned.

Cornell contended that newspaper stories quoting Miss Pickford as saying mysterious visitors caused her to flee Boston had injured his business and reputation. He declared that, although he was denied admission to a theater to which Miss Pickford had invited him to discuss purchase of the document, she later wrote him and requested that he visit her again.

Attorney Driscoll asserted that Miss Pickford actually feared a kidnaping plot at the time of her contact with Cornell, but declared that the organ man's name never appeared in print in connection with the case.

"Cornell volunteered the information that he was the man in question, and then slapped the suit on us," Driscoll said.

MME. BOURQUE CALLED A SUICIDE; DEATH OF HUSBAND IS MYSTERY

A coroner's jury at an inquest over Mme. Emilia Bourgue, director of the Little French school, 43 East Elm street, and her husband, Arthur Lynch, former prohibition propagandist, was unable to determine whether Lynch had been murdered by his wife or had committed suicide. Both bodies were found Sunday morning in their third floor apartment above the school at the Elm street address. The jury found that Mme. Bourgue had committed suicide by inhaling chloroform. The anesthetic also caused Lynch's death.

Russell W. Lynch, 426 Surf street, a brother, expressed his conviction following the verdict that Lynch had been chloroformed by his wife as he slept.

Lynch, who was 40 years old, and his wife, who was 48, were principals in a court hearing in 1932 which brought about the resignation of Mrs. Beata Brucer, 2426 North Hamlin avenue, as head of the Cook county chapter of the W. C. T. U. Lynch had been hired to do publicity work for temperance organizations.

STOP DELIVERIES FOR GROCERIES IN MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Strikers stopped farmers who attempted deliveries direct to retail grocery stores today as doors of 16 wholesale grocery companies, whose truck drivers walked out last week, still remained closed.

Elevator employés still were out on a strike for union recognition and 400 pickets were stationed about some 30 elevators, one flour mill, and several feed mills.

Simultaneously workers at seven manufacturing jewelry firms struck today demanding adjustments in wages and working conditions together with recognition of a newly organized jewelry workers union.

The rescue of two young men who clung to their capsized sailboat in Lake Michigan fifteen miles off Evanston for 24 hours was disclosed yesterday with the docking of the National Steel corporation's barge, the Louis W. Hill, at South Chicago.

The two men who were rescued after being sighted hanging onto their overturned craft by the crew of the freighter are Stuart Ahrens, 26 years old, 1315 Leonard place, Evanston, an insurance accountant, and John Zipprich, 23 years old, 623 Forest avenue, Wilmette, son of Carl B. Zipprich, head of a teaming company.

On Week's Vacation.

The young men left Wilmette harbor Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Penguin, a twenty-seven foot sloop owned by Ahrens and a friend. They were bound for Benton Harbor on a week's vacation.

About 7 o'clock Saturday evening a squall blew up and their boat was overturned.

"We succeeded in balancing the boat so it wouldn't turn over," young Zipprich related." "As night came on we ate a can of beans, fastened ropes under our arms and lashed ourselves to the boat."

See Boats Pass Them.

The young man told how they waited all Sunday in the hope they would be sighted by some passing boat.

"We saw two boats pass us, apparently unable to see us. As it began to grow dark Sunday night we were near exhaustion and about to give up hope when we sighted another ship.

"We signaled frantically. Finally we heard the steamboat whistle and we knew they had seen us."

The boat was the freighter Louis W. Hill. When the crew sighted the overturned boat Capt. Samuel Sexsmith ordered the freighter turned around and a lifeboat was lowered to pick up the two men. Both were suffering from sunburn.

St. Louis' Heat Is Too Much Even for a Camel

EXPECT SHOWERS TODAY TO BREAK HEAT WAVE HERE

The heat wave probably will be broken by lake winds late today when the wind swings from the southwest to the northeast, according to Forecaster A. W. Cook. The break in the heat will be marked by showers and cooler weather will remain through tomorrow, he added.

Today's maximum should not be as high as the 95 degrees yesterday, which exceeded by three degrees the record for Aug. 24 set in 1873. Since July 1 the daily excess of temperature has been 4 degrees above the normal 72, in comparison with the record in 1916 of 4.2 degrees.

Temperatures over the 100 mark continued yesterday in the baking plains of Kansas, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Missouri, and southern Illinois, with little change expected today. With 110 at Topeka, it was the 51st day of temperatures 100 degrees or higher in that city this year.

Howard O. Hunter, drouth relief administrator of the WPA, announced yesterday that more than 105,000 persons are at work on drouth relief jobs in 13 states. Southern Illinois drouth relief committees were ordered yesterday to have all needy farmers certified by Sept. 30. Five hundred of these farmers, the first of 2,500, started work yesterday.

HIGHWAY BANDITS ROB AUTOIST.

G. L. North, employed on a farm in Waterman in De Kalb county, reported to the sheriff's office in Sycamore yesterday that two men forced his car off route 23 near Genoa and robbed him of $20.

OFFICIAL OF WPA AVERS JOBS END IF STRIKES OCCUR

Seek to Widen Tieup in New Jersey.

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Lieut. Col. B. B. Somervell, Works Progress administrator, announced today that there can be no strikes on work-relief projects. If workers strike, Col. Somervell said, he will promptly shut down the project.

Col. Somervell's statement was in answer to a telegram from Jacob Rosenberg, secretary of Local 802, American Federation of Musicians, threatening a strike of 1,000 musicians on WPA projects unless a dispute over hours was adjusted. Col. Somervell agreed to see a delegation from the union at 4 p. m. tomorrow, but said he would not tolerate any strike threat.

"If they don't want to work there will be no strike because we'll simply close up the project," he asserted. "In other words, they cannot strike."

Seek to Widen Walkout.

Mount Holly, N. J., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—With about 600 WPA workers in Burlington county on strike for a higher wage scale and fewer hours of work, strike leaders made efforts tonight to extend the walkout to the entire force of 7,000 work-relief employés engaged on twenty-four projects in the county.

The strike was called by Louis Porter, Burlington county chairman of the Workers' alliance, following demands of some of the workers that they be given the same wage and hour basis as that in effect in Camden and Mercer counties.

The WPA scale in Burlington calls for 134 hours a month at 45 cents, while the scale in the two nearby counties provides 121 hours at 50 cents.

"If they don't work they won't be paid," announced Frank S. Absalom, deputy WPA director at Trenton.

"Demands" Put to Roosevelt.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Wage increases for all WPA workers and recognition as a collective bargaining agency for them of the Workers' Alliance of America, headed by David Lasser of New York, were the major proposals in a series of "demands" presented today to President Roosevelt and to Aubrey Williams, deputy WPA administrator.

The proposals were submitted by letter to the President at a conference attended by Walter C. Holden of the American Federation of Labor.

Based on a lengthy statistical analysis of WPA wages and relief conditions, the letter urged that all WPA wages of less than $40 a month be raised to that figure; that those in higher brackets be increased immediately by 20 per cent, and that WPA workers be paid the union scale for their trade in each community.

WPA WORKER JAILED WHEN HE CAN'T PAY TAXI FARE TO COURT

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Howard Hunter, 31 years old, a WPA worker, rode to court in Brooklyn today in a taxicab. The driver asked for 90 cents.

"I'll pay you when I get my WPA check," Hunter said.

Hunter explained that his wife had received a summons—he didn't know for what—and he had rushed to court to help her. His wife was not in court.

"You've had a few drinks," the magistrate ventured.

"Yes, sir," said Hunter.

"It's a shame that a man drawing WPA pay should be riding in a taxicab when other men who are supporting themselves have to walk," said the magistrate. Hunter was jailed when he couldn't furnish $500 bail.

SCHOOLS, PRESS MUST BE FREE, ASSERTS LANDON

Both at home and abroad, Gov. Landon said, men are striving today for power through leadership of the mob. This is his interpretation of the Roosevelt acceptance speech, although he does not go into personalities.

Urges Background for Youth.

"Because of this," he said, "I believe that our educators should make a more than normal effort to see that our youth is given a background of our heritage and tradition—a fundamental understanding of the form and philosophy of our government. If this is done we need have no fear of allowing our youth to study any and all systems of government to which their curiosity leads them."

Our educational system, Gov. Landon said, mirrors better than anything else the philosophy and progress of American democracy.

Religion and education, he said, have worked hand in hand throughout our history, and "neither can realize its full possibilities without the other."

"Tide Runs Against Freedom."

Our system of free education has failed, he declared, if class distinctions are allowed to develop in this country.

"We may as well face the fact," he said, "that the tide is running against free government today. In many lands the hand of government is closing down upon education. It is being made into a tool, for autocratic purposes.

"In these days of widespread propaganda it is imperative that our teachers be kept free and that our educational institutions, our newspapers, and the radio be kept independent, either from control of autocratic government or from the influence of any selfish interest.

"There must not be censorship of what is spoken or written, and, equally important, there must be no control of the source of news."

"We Americans," he concluded, "still are in control of our own destiny. We can remain so only through the processes of sound education."

JOBS HELD ONLY SOLUTION

Discussing the challenge of the depression and relief in a talk to 4,000 persons who greeted him, Gov. Landon said:

"To the million of our countrymen who have been forced to accept relief from government in this emergency, and to those other millions who have had such hard times in making ends meet by taking such work as they could find, the whole country owes a tribute of gratitude and respect.

Cites Real Heroes.

"These two groups of our fellow citizens upon whom the burden of this depression has rested most heavily are the real heroes of the hard times, from which, thank God, we finally are fighting our way out.

"Every true American knows that relief must be continued until real jobs once more are available. But, as I have said before and as all of you well know, there is no future for any American on the relief rolls.

"The American solution of the problem of unemployment is real jobs at good wages. Toward that solution government ought to lead the way not by squandering the people's money but by expending it wisely and carefully. It should lead the way not by discouraging business, not by stifling enterprise, not by limiting crops, but by the pursuance of sound policies that will revive business and encourage enterprise, and release once more the boundless energy and initiative of the whole people.

"No Time For Despair."

"This is no time for counsels of despair. The American people are not quitters. They have confidence in themselves and in the American institutions.

"I believe the time has come when they are entitled, in the field of government and business, to a leadership that will reflect that confidence and be worthy of that faith in America. Such a leadership will speed up recovery and hasten the day of our return to prosperity.

"Until that day comes relief must be continued. This is a matter of plain duty. But in the performance of that duty, while we ought to be generous in relief, we should not reduce the matter of relief to absurdity.

"Every man, woman, and child entitled to relief should be given it, with no questions asked regarding race, religion, or political affiliation."

TEXT OF GOV. LANDON'S SPEECH WARNING AGAINST AUTOCRACY

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 24.—(Special.)—Following is the text of the address by Gov. Landon, made here today:

"All of us like to return to familiar scenes, to meet old friends, and renew the associations of bygone days.

"It is with such a feeling—a feeling of returning home—that I come to Chautauqua. I am coming back to scenes where, as a boy and as a young man, I spent some of the happiest, some of the most profitable days of my life.

"Chautauqua has meant so much to me that I feel only a very gifted historian ever will be able to appraise the full value of the movement which originated here.

Hails Assemblies.

"The annual assemblies on the shores of Lake Chautauqua began 62 years ago. They made Chautauqua a center for men and women wishing a broader, more liberal view of life. The best books of the time were made available through its home reading courses.

"The papers that were prepared and read, and the open discussions that were held in the thousands of local circles, all helped to create an informed public opinion.

"The inspiration, the knowledge, the ideas that countless thousands received here were carried back to local communities all over the country.

"At a later date, traveling chautauquas, inspired by your success here, became welcome centers of culture to towns and villages throughout the country. They brought good music, wholesome entertainment, and instructive discussions by leaders in various fields of thought to audiences of millions of people—millions of people who had no other access to such advantages.

"It is not too much to say that chautauquas pioneered some of the present leading methods of adult education: Our growing summer schools, home reading courses, study by correspondence, and our university and college extension services.

"The chautauqua tent in the country town was the symbol of two significant things. One was the deep longing for education that has always stirred the American heart and mind; the other was the native ability of the American people to provide the means and the institutions to satisfy their hunger for education.

EDUCATION PERIL SEEN

"In view of the great contribution Chautauqua made to American life, I was glad to accept your invitation to speak. The dangers that face free education today were an added incentive.

"I cannot discuss these dangers with the brilliance or learning of some of our professional educators. I shall not attempt that. But as a parent and as the chief executive of a great state I have had to deal with education and I know something about its problems. I have learned that it is best to meet them squarely and with complete frankness.

"Let me give you two of my fundamental conclusions at once, conclusions that I have reached as a citizen and as the chief executive of Kansas.

"Schools Must Be Free."

"In Kansas we believe that our schools—public, parochial, and private—must be kept free of all control by the federal government.

"In Kansas we insist that no teacher should be required to take any oath not required of all other citizens. In Kansas we believe in academic freedom and practice it.

"Now let me discuss the background of study and experience that led me to these conclusions. They have their roots far back in the history of education in our country.

"Our forefathers knew that the success of a free government depended upon an educated and informed citizenry. This is still true today. Now, as then, public education is the best insurance that can be taken out by a democracy. The first school law enacted in the state of Illinois declared: 'To enjoy our rights and liberties, we must understand them.'

"If we doubt this, we need merely to look at developments of the last few years. At least some of the failures of popular governments that we have witnessed in other countries have been largely due to the people's not being educated up to the responsibilities of self-government.

"Each of these failures provides evidence of the wisdom with which our forefathers laid the foundation for our educational system. For, remember, that in spite of all of their earnest desires for public education, and in spite of their conviction in its supreme value, both to the nation and to the people themselves, the founders set a noteworthy example which we have always followed.

"This was that they did not use the powers of the national government either to establish an educational system, or to influence its development.

"Trust Put in People."

"They realized the important truth, that just as life is a process of growth, so are the things by which men live and advance. They put their trust in the wisdom and ability of the people to create their own institutions to serve their own needs.

"At times some of our people become impatient and demand an immediate solution for our needs and problems. They are inclined to take short cuts—to have the thing done at one stroke by the powerful hand of government. This was not the way in which our educational system was developed. It was the result of patient labor, long struggle, and sustained devotion.

"As you all know, it took the efforts of a full generation to win the fight for free public schools supported by tax levies. In this fight the humiliating pauper school laws were the first to go."

Education Termed Birthright.

"Then, after more years of effort, we wiped out the last law which, by levying charges upon the parents, denied schooling to the children of the poor.

"This meant that we at last recognized that an education is the birthright of every American child, that to provide for it is a common obligation of the community and of the state. This principle is the foundation upon which our tax-supported public school system has been built.

"At the same time our schools have kept pace with the developments of modern life. The little red schoolhouse of the affectionate recollection of the older generation was adapted to the needs of a simpler age. The school of today faces the problems of more complex conditions. Under the direction of a better educated and no less devoted teaching corps the public schools have gone far beyond the three R's.

"Public Ready for Sacrifices."

"They have developed this way with the full approval and support of their public—a public which always has stood ready to undergo sacrifices to give adequate training to the future citizens of America. My own state, for example, devotes more than 40 per cent of each tax dollar to the support of the schools, and other communities and states act with corresponding liberality.

"One rung after another has been added to the ladder of free public education. Today we have the state universities, the agricultural colleges, the vocational schools, the junior colleges, and the free public libraries. It is a truly democratic ladder. Given the ability within himself, the child from any home can aspire to climb to the highest rung.

PRICELESS AMERICAN ASSET

"This freedom of educational opportunity has been one of the priceless assets of American life. It has been one of the great unifying forces of our nation. It has helped to train the people for our kind of government. It has maintained democracy at the Grass Roots.

"No one can study this record without being impressed by the imagination and constructive genius of the American people. In every sense this movement for free public schools came from the people themselves.

"At each stage responsibility remained close to them. At no point has the federal government been required to assume charge. At no point has it been necessary to change any of the fundamental principles of self-government to make the desired progress.

Interest Always Maintained.

"Because our people felt that the school system was their own, their interest in education always has been maintained. They wanted schools that would give their children better opportunities than they themselves had enjoyed, and they were willing to make sacrifices that they would not make for any other public purpose.

"Strong religious convictions led groups of our people to establish private schools and colleges at their own expense. No better proof is necessary to show the vitality of religion. Such devotion to principle has made this country great. Throughout our history religion and education have worked hand in hand. Each owes much to the other; neither can realize its full possibilities without the other.

Processes Slower, Surer.

"It seems to me this is largely the reason why, next to our government, our educational system is our greatest public effort. It has been well termed our outstanding success. The development has taken time, it is true. The processes of a democracy are always slower than those of an all-powerful government. But they are likely to be more certain of good results.

"One of the best of these results has been our leaders. We have always welcomed natural leaders—in education, religion, business, and government. They could lead in a democracy because their purpose was service, not power for its own sake.

"Our system of free education has failed if class distinctions are allowed to develop in this country. We must look to our teachers to see that they do not develop.

Tide Runs Against Freedom.

"Today, perhaps to a greater degree than ever before, the control of our educational institutions must be kept in the hands of the local communities and the educators themselves. For we may as well face the fact that the tide is running against free government today.

"In many lands the hand of government is closing down upon education. It is being made into a tool for autocratic purposes. In these countries free inquiry in the pursuit of enlightenment for its own sake is being destroyed.

"In these days of widespread propaganda it is imperative that our teachers be kept free and that our educational institutions, our newspapers, and the radio be kept independent, either from control of autocratic government or from the influence of any selfish interest.

No Speech Censorship.

"There must not be censorship of what is spoken or written and, equally important, there must be no control of the source of news.

"But let me say here it is to our everlasting credit that most of the great gifts to our educational institutions have been made without any strings attached to them. They have been kept singularly free from political influence or burocratic control.

"An excellent example of the freedom which exists today in our educational institutions is the active interest always taken by educators in our social, political, and economic problems. In some instances the arguments and conclusions advanced by our institutions of learning have jarred the viewpoints of those who are unable to see the necessity for change.

"But many examples could be cited of progressive policies in government and in business which had their origin in our educational institutions. Education usually can be counted upon to encourage change when change means progress. Thus our educational system has not been a thing apart from that restless search of the American people for ways of doing new things, and doing old things better. This is as it should be.

"If education is to realize its true goal it cannot confine itself to an academic discussion of life—it must become part of life itself. I believe education is making a great contribution to the solution of our difficulties. It is creating increased interest and stimulating discussion. Letting every man have his say is the constitutional method of solving our problems. Why should we make teaching into a suspect profession by making our teachers take a special oath?

"The self-sacrifice and devotion of our teachers is one of the finest examples of public service.

"I believe that a teacher has a right to the same freedom of speech in expressing his political, social, or religious convictions as any other citizen.

"And I believe that a teacher has the same right to work for the accomplishment of his political and social ideals as any other citizen.

"This does not mean that a teacher should use a classroom to put forward his own pet views and theories at the expense of other views and theories. If he does, he is no longer a teacher; he is a propagandist.

"Our schools must always be institutions where views are expressed free of the personal prejudices of the teachers. Upon this I am, I believe, in complete agreement with the opinions expressed in resolutions by the teachers themselves through their own associations.

PROPAGANDA DANGER

"Another danger from propaganda is now present. It is more serious than the danger of our teachers becoming propagandists. It concerns widespread use of the machinery of the federal government to maintain the present administration in power, and to bring into question the faith of the people in their way of life and in their form of government. When money is forcibly taken by government from citizens and used to tear down those things most precious to our people, we see propaganda in its most shabby form.

"I believe I am also in agreement with the majority opinion of teachers in thinking that they have a responsibility which is peculiar to them by reason of their calling. They should always see that it is clear, when making their views public, that they are expressing their personal opinions. This is not a question of freedom of speech. It is a matter of decency and respect for the views of others interested in their institutions.

Must Follow Truth.

"However, we must not be afraid to follow the truth, wherever it may lead. Our attitude, in its broad application, must remain that expressed by Thomas Jefferson. In explaining the aims of the University of Virginia, he said: 'This institution will be based on the illimitable freedom of the human mind. For here we are not afraid to follow truth wherever it may lead, nor to tolerate error as long as reason is left free to combat it.'

"The right of free inquiry is one of the essentials of free government. It is the very bedrock of democracy.

"We must ever remember that academic freedom, political freedom, religious freedom, and freedom of opportunity are all bound together. Infringement upon one will soon lead to infringement upon the others. In fighting to maintain our freedom, we will make greatest progress by fighting for the freedom of all.

"We should not overlook the fact, however, that today, both at home and abroad, men are striving for power through leadership of the mob. Because of this, I believe that our educators should make a more than normal effort to see that our youth is given a background of our heritage and tradition—a fundamental understanding of the form and philosophy of our government. If this is done, we need have no fear of allowing our youth to study any and all systems of government to which their curiosity leads them.

"Only through ignorance or bigotry can we be destroyed. With understanding and intelligence, our future citizens will be able to separate truth from the ever-increasing amount of propaganda.

"We Americans are still in control of our destiny. We can remain so only through the processes of sound education."

LANDON TO WIN WESTERN N. Y., SAY LEADERS

Ripley, N. Y., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Western New York Republican leaders told Gov. Alf M. Landon at a conference this afternoon that this end of the state, including Buffalo, would give him "substantial majorities" in the presidential election this fall.

The Republican nominee for the presidency had a conference with State Chairman Melvin C. Eaton, Edwin F. Jaeckle, Erie county leader; Clarence King, Onondaga county chairman; Joseph A. McGinnies, former speaker of the assembly, and a number of county leaders from western New York.

"There was no discussion of state politics except that we told Gov. Landon all western New York would give him a substantial majority," said Jaeckle.

MORGENTHAU INSISTS NEW TAX IS NOT PLANNED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—[Special.] — The administration's recent promise that no new taxes would be sought at the next session of congress was intended as assurance that no sweeping changes of any kind are contemplated in the revenue laws, whether for new levies or shifting the burden of taxation, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said today. His letter to President Roosevelt, relating the upward trend in business and consequent increased tax collections, formed the basis for the newest promise of no new taxes. Morgenthau said he intended to leave no loopholes whatsoever in his letter so far as the intention against major tax revision is concerned.

6,000 Ohio Democrats Sign Lemke Party Petitions

Toledo, O., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Lucas county Democratic leaders were worried today when it was discovered in a check of 12,000 of the 24,000 signatures in Lucas county [Toledo] of the union party William Lemke petitions, asking that the party and Mr. Lemke's name be placed on the November ballot, that 6,000 of the 12,000 were Democrats. Three thousands Republicans signed the petitions and the party affiliation of 3,000 others could not be determined.

When someone cautions you about gambling on tires—when you're urged to replace tread-worn tires with a set of Goodrich Safety Silvertowns—heed the advice. Because you can't laugh off this fact—thousands are killed or injured every year when blow-outs throw cars out of control.
Today's speeds of 40—50—60 miles an hour generate terrific heat inside all tires. Unless this heat is resisted, rubber and fabric begin to separate. A blister forms and grows bigger and BIGGER. No one can tell when it will burst. That's the worst part of it—you get no warning until BANG! A blow-out.
In order to give motorists real blow-out protection, Goodrich engineers developed the Life-Saver Golden Ply, a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist heat. By resisting internal tire heat, this Golden Ply keeps rubber and fabric from separating. It keeps blisters from forming. And when you prevent the blister, you prevent the high-speed blow-out.
Play safe. That blister—that blow-out in the making may be in one of your tires right now. Put Goodrich Golden Ply Silvertowns on your car. They actually cost much less than other super-quality tires.

LANDON VISITS OLD WOODSHED; 'WHALING' SCENE

Picks Out His Desk at Red Schoolhouse.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Conneautville, Pa., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, here on his way into New York state in his campaign for the presidency, today visited the old Landon homestead and the woodshed where his father one day gave him a "whaling" for throwing a baseball through a schoolhouse window.

Arriving here shortly before noon after a morning trip from New Castle, Gov. Landon first visited the old red brick schoolhouse, where he picked out the desk where he had sat as a boy of 6 and had watched the teacher making marks on the blackboard.

At the old homestead, now occupied by the Harry North family, Gov. Landon saw an old coal heater that he remembered.

Coal Heater "Good as Ever."

"My mother always bragged about that," he said.

"It's as good as it ever was," he was told.

Across the street from the house in which his grandfather, Manuel Landon, had lived, was the church where his maternal grandfather, the circuit riding Methodist preacher, had preached for a time. The governor went into the cool and quiet church for a few minutes and then went alone to the graves of the Landons.

He saw the weathered old graves and the limestone slabs marked with the names of "Thomas Landon, soldier of 1776, October, 1847," and "Thomas Landon Jr., soldier of 1812, March 1, 1789-Jan. 25, 1873."

A note on the record of the elder Landon's service that he was a brother of James, Nathaniel, and Laban Landon indicates that four young Landon brothers served their country in the war that established the United States of America.

As Gov. Landon left the familiar scenes of the homestead he saw some elderberry bushes in the garden and decided that he wanted an elderberry pie. So he helped pick a basket and carried it back to the train.

He met an old man, S. G. Flynn, proprietor of the town's notion store.

"I remember you, Grant," he said. "I used to spend every penny I got in your store."

"Ain't that what I been telling you?" asked the old man, turning to his neighbors.

Visits Old Store.

The governor visited the store, which has been in business forty-five years, and bought a copy of the Conneautville Courier, for which Flynn would take no money.

"Come back when you are President," he said.

"I will," replied Landon.

A tornado had torn down many trees here last night, but the citizens had cleared the roads and decorated the town for the governor's visit. It is one of the small towns of the district, much like West Middlesex, and remains unchanged in any marked degree through the years since Landon's boyhood.

To him these towns spell stability and the true home of America. They mean comfort, independence, courage, and resourcefulness. There is no great wealth and no great poverty. This is the middle class, from which Landon came and which he expresses in this campaign.

As Gov. Landon was leaving, the town was thrown into excitement by four revolver shots. It turned out that a pickpocket had been seized and that Sheriff H. A. Nichols had fired the shots into the air to halt his escape. Two pocketbooks, containing $50.50, were found on him. He gave the name of Thomas Delmonico of Pittsburgh.

After leaving here, Gov. Landon's train went to Erie, Pa., and Westfield, N. Y. At Westfield the train stopped for the night while the governor went to Ripley, N. Y., where he spent the night with Charles H. Hamilton, former congressman and owner of a Kansas farm.

15,000 ARE EXPECTED TO HEAR LANDON'S BLOOMINGTON SPEECH

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 24—[Special.]—More than 15,000 farmers from central Illinois are expected here Thursday to hear Gov. Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential nominee, present his views on agricultural problems.

Before Mr. Landon's arrival the audience will be addressed by Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for governor of Illinois. Mr. Brooks, who is the owner and operator of an Illinois farm, also will speak on agriculture.

Earlier in the day's activities there will be an old time political parade. Former Gov. Joseph W. Fifer, who was inaugurated in 1899 and is the oldest living former chief executive, will be introduced at the gathering. He will celebrate his 96th birthday in October.

Gov. Landon has indicated that in his address here he will explain his plans for solving agricultural problems and his ideas for protecting the interests and welfare of farmers.

The Landon special is expected to arrive in Bloomington at 10:30 a. m. Thursday. Previous stops will be made at Joliet, Dwight, and Pontiac. A brief halt will be made at Lincoln after the Bloomington meeting.

Gov. Landon also will speak at Springfield.

CALIFORNIA SET FOR TEST TODAY ON TOWNSENDISM

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Quiet campaigning drew to a close on the eve of tomorrow's state primary election which will test strength of the Townsend organization. It has approved twenty contenders for congressional seats.

There are 3,096,829 voters—1,783,028 Democrats and 1,198,550 Republicans—registered for the primary in which party preference also will be expressed upon candidates seeking nomination for twenty state senatorial seats and eighty in the assembly.

In the Twelfth Congressional district of southern California fourteen candidates sought nomination to the congressional office held by Representative John H. Hoeppel [Dem.], who recently was convicted of conspiring to sell a West Point appointment.

Harrison Faces Struggle.

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Pat Harrison, chairman of the senate finance committee, faced the sternest opposition of his political career tonight as Mississippi Democrats prepared to nominate a senator and six congressmen tomorrow.

Though Senator Harrison has raised the issue of New Deal loyalty, contending his defeat would be interpreted as a Mississippi repudiation of the Democratic administration, both factions professed loyalty to President Roosevelt. His opponent is former Gov. Sennett Conner.

Byrnes in Triple Tangle.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 24.—(AP)—A clear cut fight between Senator James F. Byrnes, staunch administration defender, and two bitter critics of the New Deal held the interest of South Carolina Democrats tonight as they prepared for their biennial primary tomorrow. His two opponents are Thomas P. Stoney, former Charleston mayor, and Col. William C. Harllee, retired marine of Dillon.

SAYS NEW DEAL TRYING TO BUY NATION'S YOUTH

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The New Deal is engaged in "a definite and well-planned attempt to buy up American youth," Walter J. Mahoney, president of the Association of New York State Young Republican clubs, declared in an address tonight.

"Paid emissaries of the New Deal, full of the blatant fervor which flows from a subsidized tongue, are cruisings the country, appearing at every opportunity before various youth organizations and prating of the millions that have been spent and will be spent for youth projects if President Roosevelt is returned to office in November," Mr. Mahoney said. "It is apparent that the New Deal has captured the theme behind all dictatorships—'enslave the youth and the country is yours.'"

ROOSEVELT MAY MAKE RADIO TALK ON DROUTH TOUR

Change of Mind by the President Reported.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Reports that President Roosevelt planned to deliver a public address of major importance on his forthcoming 3,500 mile tour of drouth areas caused his secretary, Stephen Early, tonight to issue an emphatic denial that such was his intention.

The reports, issuing from a source credited as close to the President, had indicated that the President might make a big speech, presumably on an agricultural subject, at Indianapolis, the last main stop on the lengthy excursion.

Secretary Early also denied that Mr. Roosevelt would attend the Iowa state fair at Des Moines on Sept. 1, the same day that he meets Gov. Alfred Landon, his Republican opponent for the presidency.

May Make Radio "Report."

Mr. Early hedged, however, when asked if the President would talk over the radio from his private car, discussing what he had seen during his excursion over the burned prairies of the middle west and discussing the farmer's problems.

"No place has been selected for such a radio address at this time," he replied

The President's advisers were said to have told him that he would be accused of injecting politics into the drouth situation if he made a formal speech before a big crowd. Gov. Landon on his trip east last week warned against mixing politics with adjustment of the drouth problem.

But one of the President's "fireside chats," broadcast over a national hookup, would reach just as large an audience and not seem so clearly a campaign talk, advisers told him.

All Invited to Dinner.

When he reaches Des Moines Sept. 1, President Roosevelt will leave his train at 10 a. m. and drive in the city's vicinity for two and one-half hours, it was announced. He will then attend a luncheon with Gov. Herring of Iowa as his host. At 2:30 p. m. he will confer with Gov. Landon and four other governors on the drouth situation. All five governors will be invited to dine with the President on the train.

Because of the death of Gov. Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota, the President will visit St. Paul instead of Rochester, it was announced. The President designated Brig. Gen. David L. Stone, commanding Fort Snelling, Minn., to serve as his personal representative at Olson's funeral.

An invitation was extended today to Senator Carter Glass, New Deal critic, to call at the White House, stirring considerable speculation as to what part, if any, the veteran Virginian might take in the campaign.

Will Speak, Says Herring.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Although he has insisted that there shall be no politics connected with the drouth relief conference here, President Roosevelt nevertheless will make one speech at the Iowa State fair and deliver another over a national radio hookup when he comes to Des Moines Sept. 1, Gov. Clyde L. Herring announced today.

The first meeting between the President and his Republican opponent, Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, will occur at a luncheon on board the executive's special train, according to the schedule worked out by Gov. Herring and Marvin McIntyre, presidential secretary.

Gov. Landon has informed Republican leaders that he will attend the conference solely in the capacity as governor of Kansas and will not permit himself to be singled out as the Republican candidate.

UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE PHILLIPS IS MADE AN AMBASSADOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—William Phillips today gave up the post of undersecretary of state to take the oath of office of ambassador to Italy. He sails for Italy from New York Sept. 9 to take up his new duties.

WILLIAM PHILLIPS.

Phillips was sworn in to his new office by Percy F. Allen, acting chief clerk of the state department, before Secretary of State Hull. His successor as undersecretary has not been appointed.

Norman H. Davis, who was undersecretary of state in the Wilson administration and has been the administration's "ambassador at large," has been mentioned prominently for the post. Other candidates are Assistant Secretaries Walton Moore and Sumner Welles and William C. Bullitt, ambassador to Russia.

With the selection of Mr. Phillips for the Rome post, Italy and the United States will exchange ambassadors of equivalent rank. Italy has named as its new ambassador to the United States Fulvio Suvich, former Italian undersecretary for foreign affairs, to succeed Augusto Rosso, who is being transferred to Moscow.

Phillips is the most experienced diplomat in the American service. He entered the service in 1903 as private secretary to Joseph H. Choate, ambassador to Great Britain.

MILLION SPENT FORMING CLUBS, TOWNSEND SAYS

Cleveland, O., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, advocate of $200 a month pensions for the aged, testified in a deposition hearing in connection with the receivership suit against his organization that more than a million dollars has been spent in organizing Townsend clubs in the United States.

Ben F. Sacharow, counsel for the Rev. Alfred J. Wright, ousted director and plaintif in the suit, stated that his investigation of the Townsend organization books in Chicago showed a balance of $25,915. Sacharow claimed that $1,250,000 had been collected since the inception of the movement in 1934.

"Would you tell us what has pended to that money?" Sacharow asked the pension leader.

"That's a sensible question," Dr. Townsend said. "I'll be glad to answer. We organized 9,000 separate clubs throughout the United States with that money and have accomplished more than has ever been done with a like amount. We're proud of that record."

FORM 'ALL PARTY' COMMITTEE TO AID ROOSEVELT

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 24.—(AP)—The "Roosevelt all-party agricultural committee" developed here today from the "Iowa farmer committee for Roosevelt," organized last week to work for reëlection of the President.

The delegates, invited here by State Senator Homer Hush of Red Oak, Ia., a Republican who repudiated his party and formed the Iowa committee for Roosevelt, voted to establish the all-party committee with W. H. Settle of Petroleum, Ind., as chairman. Settle is a former president of the Indiana Farm Bureau federation.

Hush said the majority present at the organization meeting were former Republican Progressives like himself. A resolution declaring that farm prosperity is dependent upon Roosevelt's reëlection was voted.

LANDON LEADS 2 POLLS IN IOWA CORN-HOG BELT

Swing Is Pronounced in "Bounty" Districts.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Two polls of sentiment taken in Iowa were given attention at Republican national headquarters yesterday as denoting a swing to Gov. Alf M. Landon in regions where the precipitation of corn-hog checks was high. One of the straw votes was taken by the Source Research council, which gave the result of a canvass of some 8,000 farmers with rural free delivery boxes.

The results of this poll, as reported to headquarters, was Landon, 57.5 per cent of the vote; Roosevelt, 37.3 per cent; Lemke, 4.8 per cent; others, .4 per cent. Among the men canvassed, Landon was given 54.6 per cent of the vote while among the women he got 66.3 per cent. Of the voters cast by men, Roosevelt got 41.2 per cent, and of those by women 26.5 per cent.

Henry Field Conducts Poll.

Another poll which was brought in by a delegation of Iowans was taken by Henry Field, the Shenandoah nursery man, who beat Smith Wildman Brookhart for the Republican nomination for senator in 1932. This poll, it was explained, was taken in Field's general store at Shenandoah, where there is a steady stream of visitors, largely farmers, from near and far in Iowa.

The Field poll, as reported, included 1,624 votes, distributed as follows: Landon, 1,136, or 70 per cent; Roosevelt, 417, or 26 per cent; Lemke, 37, or 2 per cent; others, 34. In this poll, too, Landon was stronger among the women than the men. Of the straws cast by men, 67 per cent were reported for Landon, of the women's straws, 73 per cent were for the Kansan.

For weeks Harrison Spangler, Iowa national committeeman, has been declaring that the Landon swing will put Iowa back into the Republican column in November, as indicated by cross-section canvasses.

Ryerson Gets County Post.

Edward L. Ryerson Jr., president of the Chicago community fund and president of Joseph T. Ryerson & Sons, was appointed yesterday as Illinois chairman of the naturalized citizens' division of the Republican party.

Mr. Ryerson, a member of the Yale University corporation and a trustee of the University of Chicago, was first chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission. Leaders of several national origins groups will be called together by Mr. Ryerson, Perry B. McCullough, Republican state chairman, and Edward F. Moore, Cook county chairman. Accepting the appointment Mr. Ryerson said:

"Make America once more a land of equal opportunity for all citizens. The people naturally look to Gov. Alf M. Landon and Frank Knox to lead our nation back to the American ways which meant opportunity for those who left the old world.

Warns of Currency Inflation.

"These newer Americans have helped to make America great. Many of our naturalized citizens already realize this country is drifting toward ruinous currency inflation, regimentation, and destruction of liberty by propaganda. There is no thought on the part of the Republican party to consider these foreign born citizens as a group apart from the rest of the electors.

"They are Americans and they are going to vote as Americans. However, the Republican platform and Gov. Landon's program carry a special appeal to these voters, since they grasp the full significance of the New Deal's threats to their constitutional rights of liberty and happiness. We shall discuss these problems with them through the foreign language press, over the radio, in specially prepared literature, and at massmeetings."

NEW DEAL IN JITTERS OVER RISING COSTS OF MEATS, SAYS G. O. P.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The blackboard displayed in butchershops by the Republican party showing housewives how much taxes they pay when buying meat cuts has given the administration "a bad case of jitters," Arthur M. Curtis, assistant chairman of the Republican national committee said today. "The appearance of this board in butcher shops threw New Deal ranks into a state of confusion," he said.

Mr. Curtis added that a hastily arranged White House conference followed. Senator Pat Harrison was summoned to it from Mississippi. Later he announced again that there would be no new taxes.

Then James A. Farley was called into the conference and at its conclusion he said:

"The only federal tax that could apply to the price the housewife pays for lamb chops are the income taxes."

Mr. Curtis, in his statement added: "Perhaps, Mr. Farley has forgotten what Mr. Roosevelt said as a candidate in 1932 in his Pittsburgh speech. Mr. Roosevelt then said: 'Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors—if excessive, they are reflected in idle factories, tax sold farms, and hence, in hordes of the hungry tramping the street seeking jobs in vain. Our workers may never see a tax bill but they pay in deductions from wages, in increased cost of what they buy, and in broad cessation of employment.'"

COUZENS WON'T BE MISSED, SAY G. O. P. LEADERS

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Caustic opinions were being aired today by Republican leaders on Senator James Couzens' declaration that he favors President Roosevelt's reelection. Couzens is a candidate for renomination as a Republican, but his statement, it was conceded by chieftains of that party, automatically alienates the support of "regulars" and forces the Detroit senator to rely on independent backing in the primary race. Most Democrats are likely to vote in their own primary, it was held, because of the hot contest for the gubernatorial nomination.

Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald, who, before the entrance of Wilber M. Brucker, former governor, into the race for the senatorial nomination, had voiced the hope that Couzens would be unopposed, showed a sharp change in attitude.

"We can get along without Senator Couzens," he said, "but I am not so sure he can get along without us. The Republican party as a whole has as its task the election of Landon and defeat of Roosevelt."

ASSAILS LA GUARDIA FOR 'LOADING' 3,000 ONTO N. Y. PAY ROLLS

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Mayor F. H. La Guardia not only failed to reduce pay roll waste in the city departments, as he pledged himself to do when he ran for office, but increased the number of city employés, the citizens' budget commission charged today in a statement by its chairman, William Church Osborn.

While Mr. Osborn commended the mayor's survey into pay roll waste in the five sheriffs' offices, he held that this was "one of the minor and least expensive pay roll divisions in the city." He urged the mayor to survey "the city's tax levy pay roll structure, which presses so heavily on the people of the city."

"Mayor La Guardia," the statement read, "when a candidate publicly pledged himself to reduce the city's budget by $50,000,000.

"Two years ago the city had 139,227 employés. Today it has 142,145. How much of this present total is due to overmanning and waste?"

FEBRUARY

By CALEB

CAN you remember February? On these sticky days how clearly can you recall the succession of surprises last February brought us? Can you remember stepping out in the early mornings—into a strange new world? People were intent on where they were going. There was no loitering—no camaraderie in the open—no byplay. The goal was the thing.

There was a stricken silence on the streets—as though the populace was numbed and awed by a minor catastrophe. Just hurrying figures, wrapped and bundled against the penetrating, unrelenting cold.

Crowds huddled together in L's and buses like sheep—shivering and shuddering when doors were opened. And here and there a puffed and swollen ear indicated our lack of accustom to protecting ourselves against such frigid treatment from Dame Nature.

Stores, theaters, homes—even at subnormal temperatures — seemed more cozy than usual. Where there was heat, there was a haven and a refuge. Only indoors could spirits become normal and the public disposition thaw out. Panhandlers even were driven to cover and in their greater need seemed less articulate than ever.

One's impressions were of affairs held in suspense. Workmen driven to shelter. Construction at a standstill. Excavations unmanned. Helpless steam shovels just waiting—too exhausted to bite further at the frigid earth. That was February.

Thousands of water pipes frozen. Gas lines frozen. Radiators frozen. Cars stuck—motors frozen, as inert and unresponsive as only a glaciated motor can be. Arctic ice and frost on windows and windshields. A piercing, penetrating marblish cold coming in through windows. Ice in milk bottles. Deep drifts to be shoveled. Slippery, skiddy streets of deep-packed snow. Cold! Cold everywhere, Siberian, Hyperborean, cutting cold. That was February.

Fortunately we soon forget external extremes. That winter bitterness left but few scars. The world and the city now wag on very largely in their same old ways. And now in hot summer it is agreeable to recall the cool breath of far-come mid-winter Canadian winds.

In our business we are never permitted to forget one season—in some other season. While frigid February gripped us this year, we were busily working on our coming mid-summer events and our next Christmas program. Buyers were planning. The display department was busy fashioning decorations, statues, backgrounds, and other things to attract and please you during the 1936 holidays. Here, plans are always under way a long time in advance. And we enjoy it. It serves to keep the current season tempered with the moderating influences of its opposite on the calendar.

HANDS OFF, BAR WARNS IN NEW DEAL COURT WAR

National Body in Boston for Annual Parley.

lette's first Wisconsin insurance commissioner and is now a Chicago attorney, replied with an equally spirited defense of the act in a minority report.

The oppression of human rights by the NRA and other New Deal "recovery agencies was bitterly arraigned in a majority report of the special committee to study legislation affecting the rights of citizens, appointed two years ago at the Milwaukee meeting of the association. Here again there was a minority report, but its signers contented themselves with the statement that the discussion was fruitless since the Supreme court has already outlawed most of the objectionable measures.

Support Administrative Court.

The special committee on administrative law, in its recommendation that congress create a system of administrative courts to take over the judical functions now exercised by more than two score commissions, departments and bureaus, attacked burocratic exercise of judical functions as a violation of the fundamenta American governmental theory of separation of powers.

There was no substantial dissent within the committee on jurisprudence and law reform which, anlyzing numerous measures proposed in congress to limit the power of the courts to declare legislation unconstitutional, proposed a resolution arraying the organized legal profession of the country against all such measures.

The Proposals Classified.

The report classified the proposals into several classes:

1. Those that would deprive all courts of the power to pass on the constitutionality of an act of congress.
2. Those that permit the Supreme court to retain this power but which in some fashion provide for recall of a decision holding a statute unconstitutional;
3. Those requiring the concurrence of a specific number of members of the court to declare an act unconstitutional;
4. Those increasing the membership of the Supreme court;
5. Those depriving the lower federal courts of all power to declare an act of congress unconstitutional and vesting that power, with limitations in the Supreme court;
6. Those providing for advisory opinions of the Supreme court;
7. Those providing for popular election of federal judges.

"It is not deemed necessary to discuss the constitutionality of any of the bills," the report states. "Opposition to them is based on the fundamental ground that they are alien to our system of government. It may, however, be said in passing that the unconstitutionality of some of these bills is so glaring as to be fantastic."

The report dismisses the first two class of proposals with the remark that they would operate "completely to jettison our constitutional system of government."

"If the courts are to be deprived of their constitutional position," the report continues, "it will be by attrition rather than by a single major offense. For this reason measures of the third and fourth class are the more dangerous. They preserve the shadow but destroy the substance. They adopt the familiar device of retaining old forms and adapting them to new and alien purposes."

Report on "Circus" Progress.

The "special committee on cooperation between the press, radio, and bar against publicity interfering with fair trial of judical and quasi-judical proceedings" organized as a result of "hippodroming," at the Hauptmann and other trials, presented merely a report of progress.

"It already has become clear," the committee stated, "that the problem involves not only strictly legal considerations, but also the expectations of American public opinion of those upon whom reliance is had for the dissemination of news and the assurance of that publicity which constitutes public trial as America has come to understand that phrase. For these reasons analogies from the practice in Great Britain and other countries are merely illustrative but not persuasive, either as to what is desirable or what is possible in the United States."

Adopt New Constitution.

The assembly of the association today adopted what is in effect a completely new constitution for the organization, designed, according to his sponsors, to make the association a more representative body.

The new constitution creates a house of delegates, replacing the present general council of the association, which is made up of one member from each state. The house of delegates will consist of members elected by state bar association and larger city bar associations, with an increase in representation to states having a large number of lawyers.

The house of delegates will possess the bulk of power in determining the policies of the association.

"Yardstick" to Appointees.

United States District Judge Merrill E. Otis of Kansas City applied that favorite New Deal device, a yardstick, to the judicial appointments of President Roosevelt and found the New Deal appointees appreciably inferior to the appointees of Mr. Roosevelt's six predecessors in formal education. He spoke at the dinner of Bar association delegates.

Judge Otis gave his statistics at the conclusion of a plea for greater intelligence in lawyers, jurors, and judges. His figures on the education of appointees of the last seven presidents to federal district and circuit benches follow:

President—	Per cent with college training.	Per cent college grad's.
Theodore Roosevelt	77	55.8
Taft	77	55.8
Wilson	69	54
Harding	69	54.8
Coolidge	73.7	52.4
Hoover	68.6	57.8
Franklin D. Roosevelt	49	25.5

"Every good man in America desires that every courthouse shall be the constant dwelling place of justice," concluded Judge Otis. "But justice, so the ancients said, is blind. She will never find her way to any courthouse unless she is thither led by the twin sisters, Integrity and Intelligence."

DEMANDS STATE GIVE 10 MILLION MORE TO RELIEF

Ward Prepares Bills for Legislature Tonight.

BY STANLEY ARMSTRONG.

Bills to appropriate 10 million dollars from the state treasury to meet relief needs in Chicago and other sections of Illinois were prepared yesterday by State Senator Harold G. Ward [Dem., Chicago] for introduction tonight when the general assembly reconvenes in Springfield.

The state's relief needs are estimated at 5 millions monthly, according to Ward. From sales tax revenue there is available 3 millions each month, with the difference to be raised by the imposition of a special tax by the city of Chicago and the townships in the state outside the city. This tax is 30 cents on each $100 of assessed property valuation.

Chicago, however, has been unable to sell anticipation warants issued against the tax levy because of doubts as to its constitutionality.

Urges State Appropriation.

"In this situation, with a deficit of nearly 2 millions monthly, there is no other course to take but to appropriate the money from the state treasury," said Senator Ward. "An appropriation of 10 millions will help tc meet relief needs until Feb. 1."

The 10 million dollar appropriation, the senator explained, would be in addition to the 5½ millions which the legislature recently voted for relief from sales tax revenue. That appropriation increased from 2 million a month to 3 million the amount of sales tax funds to be spent for relief.

"Persons on relief in Chicago who used to get food orders of $20 to $28 a month have been cut to $17.50," Senator Ward continued. "There is no money to pay rent for those faced with eviction nor to provide medical care and fuel for cooking. Food prices, too, are advancing.

Fifth Session Call in Doubt.

On Aug. 13 the legislature was adjourned until tonight with the expectation that Gov. Horner would call another special session—the fifth—to convene at the same time. So far no call has been issued. One of the governor's statehouse aids said yesterday that if the fifth session was not called by tonight Horner probably would not call it at all.

A fifth special session has been urged on the governor by his educational commission to create a statewide board of education.

WALLACE FLOUTS BORAH PLAN FOR HIGH SUGAR DUTY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace and his sugar aid took issue today with a speech in which Senator Borah [Rep., Idaho] urged a higher tarif to "give the American farmer the American market up to the limit of his production."

The secretary of agriculture asserted that when the import duty on sugar was raised it "stimulated supplies from insular possessions" and forced the price of domestic sugar beets down. Joshua Bernhardt, chief of the AAA sugar section, said, "The American sugar beet farmer has had the American market up to the limit of his production."

Bernhardt asserted Borah's "suggestion that an embargo be placed on offshore sugar is fantastic in view of the fact that only one-fourth of the sugar consumption in the United States is supplied by the continental producers."

AFTER THE NEW DEAL? FASCISM IS THOMAS' FEAR

Too Late to Turn, Says Socialist Chief.

New York, Aug. 24.—(AP)—In a 244 page book drafted during his recent 10,000 mile campaign tour, Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President, urges that only the establishment of a Socialist coöperative commonwealth would head off Fascism as the successor to the New Deal.

The book, titled "After the New Deal, What?" will be published tomorrow by the Macmillan company. A definite farmer-labor party after 1936 would be the political weapon Thomas proposes.

"Too Late to Turn Back."

"The issue is revolutionary," he says in the final chapter. "It is too late to turn back to an older order even were that desirable. Capitalism cannot be rejuvenated. Its sanctions have been destroyed. Our fathers gave us a heritage of power-driven machinery and with it was laid upon us the necessity to use it to conquer poverty or to be destroyed by it. Here, there is no middle way."

Mrs. Thomas transcribed much of the book with a typewriter on her knees as Thomas drove from place to place in his campaign, dictating as he drove.

Defends Both Big Parties.

In the book both major parties are defended against Fascism charges. When certain Republican critics of President Roosevelt in an excess of emotion denounce him as a Fascist they talk nonsense," Thomas writes. "When, on the other hand, certain Democratic—or communist—orators and labor leaders, more or less enthusiastic for Mr. Roosevelt, denounce Mr. Landon and the Liberty league as Fascist they are talking equal nonsense with possibly more dangerous consequences."

"The New Deal has not won a secure or solid 'recovery,' and in no basic sense has it got reform," Thomas elaborates.

He says a new constitution is required by the times, but that a constitutional convention now would be premature; that only workers' sanctions, not nations' sanctions, could be counted on to halt war and Fascism, and that a continuance of an unbalanced budget would head the United States toward large scale credit inflation or possibly currency inflation.

Sees Drastic Tax or Riots.

"The budget can be balanced only by a degree and kind of taxation, probably a virtual capital levy, for which the dominant classes in America will not stand, or else by such drastic cuts in relief as to invite starvation and riots," he writes.

"These are the alternatives which both the old parties are equally unwilling to face frankly."

With equal vigor he speaks out against united front action with the communists, because he said that party insisted on taking soviet Russia for its pattern here.

Files Appeal Brief Against Teachers' Retirement Law

John E. Groves, former teacher at the Crane Technical High school, filed a brief in the Illinois Supreme court at Springfield yesterday attacking the validity of the state law reducing the compulsory retirement age for Chicago school teachers from 70 to 65 years. Judge John Prystalski of the Circuit court upheld the constitutionality of the law last May. In his suit Groves seeks the reinstatement of himself and 241 other teachers, who were retired on July 24, 1935.

Jail Heat Melts Iron Will and He Pays $3 Dog License

Belleville, Ill., Aug. 24.—(AP)—John Bauer's rugged determination to stay in jail 21 days rather than buy a $3 license for his dog wilted today under excessive heat. He paid the $3 and $19.40 for fines and court costs and walked from the jail where he had been since Thursday.

Tries to Fix Refrigerator in Store; Killed by Fumes

Freeport, Ill., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Attempting to repair refrigeration equipment in the basement of his store, John Wagner, 67, a confectioner here for 40 years was overcome by fumes today. Firemen in gas masks chopped a hole in the floor and lifted Wagner out with ropes. He was dead.

NOISY WELCOME FOR NEW QUEEN OF SEAS AT N. Y.

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The whistles of scores of harbor craft roared a greeting to the Cunard-White Star liner Queen Mary today as she came up from quarantine to dock at her pier in the Hudson after setting a new trans-Atlantic record for ocean liners by crossing from Cherbourg breakwater to Ambrose lightship at an average speed of 30.01 knots.

The ship's performance won the blue ribbon of speed supremacy from the French liner Normandie, which set the record with an average of 29.64 knots more than a year ago. In spite of bad weather, fog, and heavy seas, the Queen Mary lowered the record for time of crossing by 1 hour and 25 minutes.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

ATHENS, Aug. 24.—King Edward VIII., of Great Britain today visited the ruins of ancient Delphi and drank of the prophetic waters of the fountain of Castalia. Sacred to Apollo and the Muses, the fountain of Castalia, rising in a chasm of Mount Parnassus near Delphi, was supposed by the ancient Greeks to be a source of inspiration.

Saved Woman

Edward J. Esbrook, a radioman on the coast guard cutter Rush was awarded the congressional life saving medal yesterday by Capt. Le Roy Reinburg, commander of the Chicago division of the coast guard. Early in the morning of March 8, Esbrook leaped into the ice filled Chicago river near the Michigan avenue bridge and rescued Miss Frances Pettyjohn, 38 years old, 536 Rush street, a radio actress. In making the presentation Capt. Reinburg praised Esbrook for his courage and resourcefulness. On March 17 Esbrook rescued a man who had leaped into the river.

Armed Sailors Will Guard German Ships in U. S. Ports

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—German shipping companies today agreed to organize special armed squads of sailors on ships entering American ports "to prevent a repetition of incidents similar to those which marred the Bremen's last departure from New York." The sailors will be given weapons only when nearing American ports.

[One hundred and fifty communists rioted on the Bremen late last Friday night. The rioters passed out anti-Nazi handbills and shouted "Hitler must be kept out of Spain." Police ejected them.]

THE VOLUNTEERS began a campaign yesterday to urge voters to register for the Nov. 3 election.

Through the distribution of pamphlets in Chicago and other Illinois cities affected by the permanent registration law TH VOLUNTEERS will explain the new ballot statute which will be used this fall for the first time. The pleas in these pamphlets will be supplemented by personal calls on the voters.

THE OLUNTEERS will urge voters in Chicago and the suburbs under the Chicago election board to register at the election board office in the city hall before Oct. 6 to avoid jams in the precinct registration places on the two precinct registration days—Sept. 19 and Oct. 6.

Work in Wards Progresses.

Organization of ward units of THE VOLUNTEERS is progressing rapidly, Julius H. Miner reported yesterday at the headquarters of the movement on the 17th floor of Tribune Tower. An example of the spread of the organization was a large delegation of women from the south side who conferred with Miss Ruth De Young, head of the women's division.

The women, who were from the 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, and 11th wards said that VOLUNTEER substations are being set up in each ward and arrangements are being made for meetings.

Mrs. Elizabeth Newport, chairman for the women's division in the 9th ward, said a VOLUNTEERS booth would be set up Sunday for the 9th ward Republican picnic to be held in the Glenwood forest preserve at 183d street and Indiana avenue.

La Grange Meeting Tonight.

Increased VOLUNTEER activity in homes was shown by the announcement of Mrs. Frank Ryan, 404 South La Grange road, La Grange, of a meeting to be held in her home tonight for the purpose of informing friends and neighbors of the movement.

Mrs. Charles Krutekoff, chairman of the women's regular Republican organization of the 4th ward, announced that 300 pledge cards for THE VOLUNTEERS were signed last evening at an overflow Brooks for Governor meeting in the organization's headquarters at 4905 Cottage Grove avenue.

VOLUNTEER work is being done in the 3d ward by the women members of the United Republican club. Led by Mrs. R. R. Jackson, wife of the alderman, 22 women of the ward enlisted in THE VOLUNTEERS and received enrollment supplies.

Mail Brings Enlistments.

In the mail yesterday THE VOLUNTEERS received enlistments and offers of support from many quarters. Prof. H. Golden of St. Joseph, Mich., wrote: "The writer, who speaks to thousands of persons in a year's time, was once a Democrat but now is 100 per cent for Landon and Knox."

A contribution to the movement was sent in by Fred J. Turner of Iron Mountain, Mo., with a request for enrollment cards. Circuit Judge George W. Sample of Ann Arbor, Mich., enlisted from the Peoria, Ill., hospital where he is a patient.

Edward E. Allright of Indiana Harbor, a steward on great lakes ships for 25 years, offered to organize a "Stewards' Volunteer club." The Whiteside Sentinel of Morrison, Ill., asked to act as headquarters for THE VOLUNTEERS in that territory.

Among the new VOLUNTEERS enlisted during the day was Margery Maxwell, opera star, who offered her services as a singer. She is to make several appearances at VOLUNTEER meetings later in the campaign, according to Philip Maxwell, head of the music division.

MOTHER ADMITS SHE KILLED DAUGHTER, 16, AS 'FAVOR' TO HER

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ester Hilda Clark, 33, a widow, confessed that she killed her 16 year old daughter, Rose, "as a favor" to the girl, Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff O. K. Bodia announced today.

"She complained and nagged that she didn't have nice things other girls have, such as good clothes, food, and home. I thought I was doing her a favor by killing her," Bodia quoted the mother.

The body of the girl, her head beaten and her throat cut, was found buried in the brush near her home, the deputy said. The mother was placed in jail.

POLICE CAPTAIN NABS SPEEDERS ON OUTER DRIVE

Capt. Patrick Collins of the Desplaines street police was driving to his home at 7751 Luella avenue last night when at 45th street and the outer drive four young men in an automobile roared past his car. Because the speeders were swinging from one side of the road to the other Capt. Collins chased them south in the drive.

At 51st street he stopped and picked up Park Policeman James Coyle. The two policemen forced the other automobile to the curb a few blocks further on, then took the four speeders to the detective bureau where they were booked. Capt. Collins will appear against them this morning in the Automobile court.

The four are Sam Livingston, 20 years old, 656 West 35th street, driver of the car, charged with reckless driving; and Nick Bertucci, 20, of 3233 South Wells street; Anthony Basile, 20, of 3127 South Wells street, and Vito Cangemi, 19, of 3033 Princeton avenue, all charged with disorderly conduct.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 24.—(AP)—A rescue man for the S. P. C. A. crawled a total of 40 city blocks through a 30 inch pipe today to save a black tomcat lost in the mazes of the drain. He was decorated for his deed—with scratches.

INDICT 5 MORE IN BLACK LEGION TERROR PLOT

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Five men were indicted by the state grand jury today on charges of participating in Black Legion plots to kill Martin H. Zink, city commissioner of suburban Highland Park, and Arthur L. Kingsley, publisher of the community newspaper.

N. Ray Markland, former Highland Park mayor; Charles C. Baker, Highland Park policeman; Frank Howard, suspended Highland Park fire captain; Arthur F. Lupp, reputed state commander of the Black Legion, and Isaac [Peg Leg] White, former Detroit policeman, were those named.

The grand jury returned two other indictments charging two men with perjury in connection with the black cloaked night riding society and accusing five others of assaulting a recalcitrant member of the organization.

The new indictments were returned immediately after the arraignment of 15 of the 22 men the grand jury indicted last week on charges of criminal syndicalism in an alleged Black Legion plot to seize control of the federal government.

Pleas of innocent were entered for the men. Next Monday was set for a preliminary hearing.

PROOFS... not claims distinguish PHILIP MORRIS

Philip Morris offer such proof, proof by a group of doctors, who sought to find out for themselves whether the differences in cigarette manufacture have any relation to irritation of the nose and throat due to smoking.

These tests* proved that on changing to Philip Morris the majority of cases of irritation cleared completely. All the others definitely improved.

On such conclusive evidence, you can smoke Philip Morris freely and find complete enjoyment in its robust, full-flavored tobaccos.

SENATE GROUP USES 'BIG STICK' IN LABOR QUIZ

Move to Indict Six for Ignoring Subpena.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Using for the first time a law enacted at the last session of congress, the senate labor investigating committee moved today for quick indictment of six witnesses who failed to appear in response to subpenas.

Robert Wohlforth, committee secretary, said steps have been taken to obtain indictment, possibly this week, of six officials of the Railway Audit and Inspection company on charges of contumacy.

Contumacy is held to be a criminal offense consisting of failure of a witness to appear in response to a subpena. The penalty for conviction is a jail sentence of from one month to one year or a fine of $1,000 or both.

Officers of Company.

The officials who failed to appear before the committee Friday with their company records are W. W. Groves, president; W. B. Groves, vice president; L. D. Rice, vice president and general manager; G. E. Blair, secretary treasurer; J. C. Boyer, under cover operative, and Robert J. Judge, general counsel and former director.

Committee agents, investigating charges of violations of civil liberties of employés in labor disputes, testified that Railway Audit officials had destroyed records after subpenas were served.

More than half an hour after the witnesses were slated to appear, their attorney informed Chairman Robt. La Follette [Prog., Wis.] that suit had been filed for a restraining order to prevent them from testifying. A hearing in this suit has been set for tomorrow in federal court here.

Committee to Ignore Suit.

La Follette said the committee would ignore the suit and he directed the witnesses to appear Thursday. Immediately afterward, he ordered that a transcript of the first hearing be sent to Vice President Garner, who is expected to certify it to the district attorney here "within a day or so."

In the closing days of the last session, congress passed a law permitting the Vice President to certify charges of contumacy to a district attorney when the senate is not in session. Previously it was necessary for the senate to be in session.

ARREST 3 BOYS, 2 GIRLS AS STOLEN CAR IS WRECKED

Three boys and two girls were arrested last night after the stolen automobile in which they were riding struck a parked car in front of 104 South Loomis street, ran through a red light and sidewiped a taxicab at the intersection of Paulina and Adams street and Ogden avenue and then struck a Paulina street car.

After the last collision the automobile overturned and five occupants picked themselves up and scampered away. Policemen William Sexton and Charles Belzer of the accident prevention bureau saw the crash and ordered the fleeing youths to halt. The command was ignored, but the policemen fired several shots in the air and overtook one of the fugitives, who gave his name as Chris Bittas, 14 years old, 2644 Adams street.

He named his companions as his sister Elizabeth, 16 years old; Melvin McClendon, 18, of 2326 Jackson boulevard; Robert Eaker, 19, of 2703 Jackson boulevard, and Estella Polas, 13, of 2751 Adams street. All were arrested at their homes.

Finance Firm Official and Wife Holdup Victims

Samuel J. Rosenfeld, 31 years old, assistant treasurer of an automobile finance concern, reported to the Rogers Park police that he and his wife, Rose, 29 years old, were robbed of jewelry they valued at $2,735 by two men, one armed with a revolver, last night as they entered the vestibule of their home at 1519 Farwell avenue. The jewelry included one diamond ring valued at $2,500, according to the report. Rosenfeld said the robbers did not take his wallet, which contained $45.

Injured as He Leaps from Window to Escape Flames

Adam Kaiser, 65 years old, 724 East 89th place, was critically injured last night when he jumped from a second floor window of a building at 9172 Baltimore avenue during a fire which started from an alley rubbish pile. Kaiser was staying over night with a friend, John Gregory, who lives in the building. Gregory was carried down a ladder by Capt. Cornelius O'Keefe of engine company 46. The flames were extinguished with damage estimated at $200.

COUNTY HOSPITAL NURSES RAISED TO $65 PER MONTH

The Cook county board yesterday voted an emergency appropriation of $55,802 to cover an increase in the salaries of 500 registered nurses at the County hospital to $65 a month. The nurses now draw $50. The members of the board were told that $65 a month is the minimum paid by other hospitals in Chicago, and that because of this, the County hospital has been steadily losing its most competent nurses to the other institutions.

The board also passed an additional appropriation of $30,000, to supplement the $70,000 previously budgeted for providing medical attention for needy persons not on relief. Physicians providing this service are paid $1.50 a call.

Building Engineer Trapped in Elevator at 20th Floor

C. W. Hendrickson, 34 years old, 1466 East 69th street, an engineer in the Carbide and Carbon building, 230 North Michigan avenue, was trapped for fifteen minutes yesterday in an elevator of the building which stuck just below the twentieth floor. Fire attributed to a short circuit burned the insulation off the elevator power cable and automatically cut off the power. Hendrickson was almost overcome by smoke before he succeeded in opening the doors and climbing out. Firemen quickly put out the blaze.

TWO BOYS LOSE THEIR LIVES IN WATER MISHAPS

Two boys were drowned in the Chicago area yesterday.

Edward Langford, 15 years old, 4043 North Hermitage avenue, an inexperienced swimmer, lost his life when he ventured into deep water in Lake Michigan off the Diversey beach. Park Policeman Harry Metz dived into the water fully clothed after he was summoned by the youth's companions, but he was unable to recover the body.

Robert Rovich, 7 years old, 1902 West 5th avenue, Gary, drowned yesterday when he jumped into the deep end of the swimming pool at the Central Y. M. C. A. in Gary. The boy was unable to swim.

Glider Crashes when Youth Tries Hop Off Pike's Peak

FIND HOUSEBOAT DWELLER'S BODY.

The body of Charles Polkow, 71 years old, a fisherman, was taken yesterday from Ogden slip, near Illinois street, where he lived in a houseboat. He is believed to have suffered a heart attack and fallen off the boat.

SAFARI OF 139 BAGS A LITTLE BLACK BEAR IN WILDS OF N. Y. ZOO

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—A little black bear named "Knock-Knock," weary of prison walls and a shrewish mate, was trapped and executed today by a safari of 139 hunters a few hours after he escaped his den for a few hours of precious freedom in the walled wilderness of Bronx park.

The bear weighed 125 pounds.

The safari numbered 121 policemen and 18 keepers equipped with tear gas bombs, riot guns, revolvers, rifles, an ambulance, two patrol wagons and five bags of peanuts.

The little Himalayan bear was cuffed about by his mate last night. He climbed the spoked fence, parted two prongs and escaped.

About noon a policeman spied "Knock-Knock" sitting in a tree. The little bear's troubles with his mate were over. He was shot to death.

TWO AMERICANS HURT AS PLANE DIVES INTO BAY

MIRABELLA, Crete, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Two Americans, it was learned today, were injured in the crash of an airliner in Mirabella bay Saturday.

Imperial Airways gave their names as the Rev. J. M. Draught and W. G. Miller, a Californian connected with one of the Standard Oil companies. Their addresses were not given. Father Draught was reported seriously hurt. Miller was slightly injured.

One European passenger was killed, another was apparently drowned, and five passengers and the crew of four rescued when the Imperial Airways flying boat en route from Alexandria, Egypt, to Brindisi, Italy, plunged into the bay on landing.

BURIED IN SEWER; LIVE.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Rescuers carried two men alive today from a 20 foot sewer in which a cave-in buried them for more than a half hour. Workers reached the two with pick and shovel after a steam shovel dug out tons of gravel and clay. They were bruised.

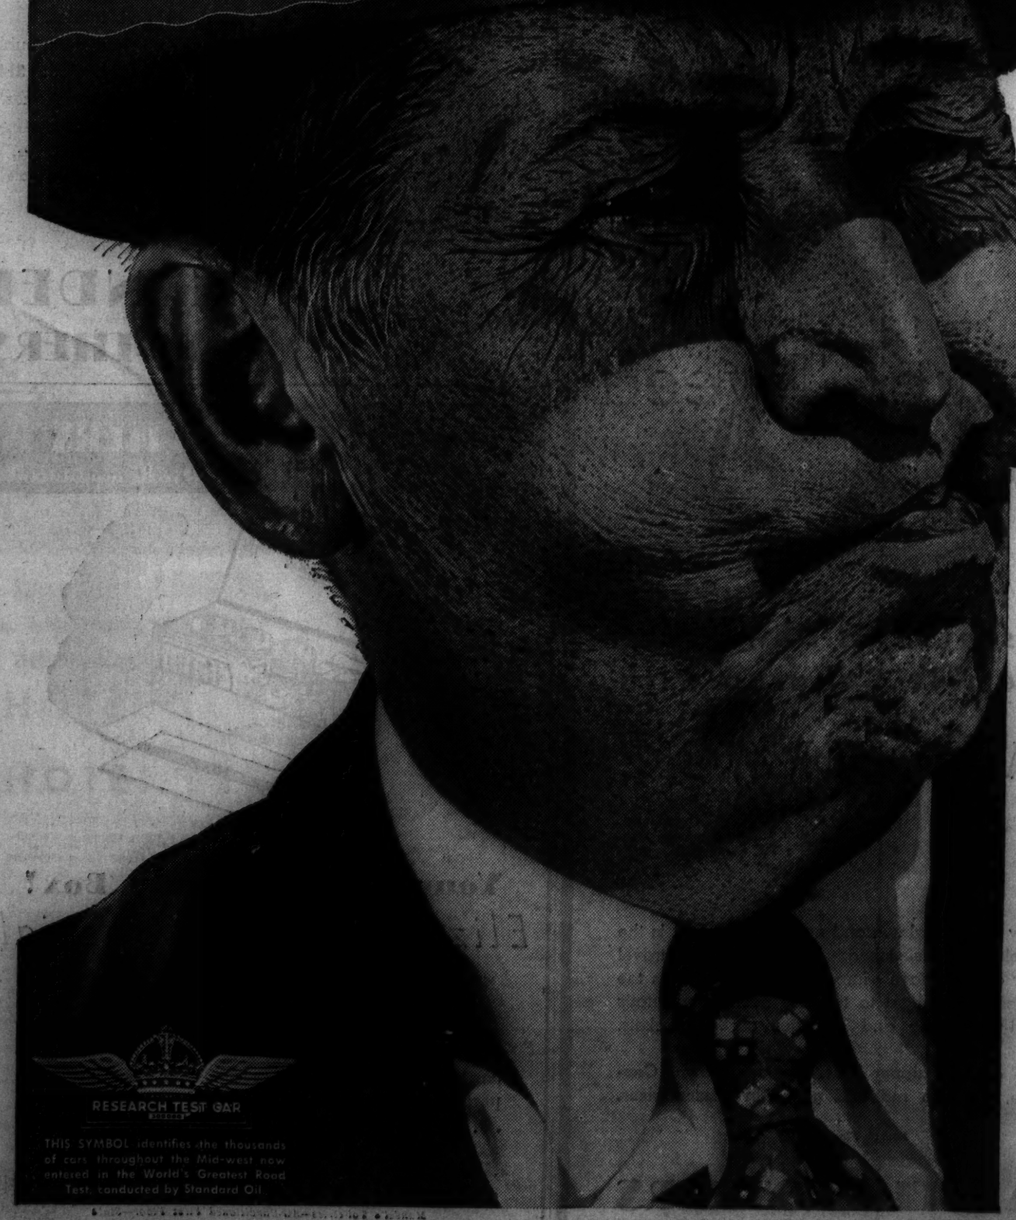
"Whad'ya mean long mileage! I didn't even get a hunert miles a gallon with RED CROWN"
...murmurs Axel Adverse



RESEARCH TEST CAR
THIS SYMBOL identifies the thousands of cars throughout the Mid-west now entered in the World's Greatest Road Test conducted by Standard Oil

JUST looking at Axel Adverse, you know that he constantly crusades for truth. No one is going to pull the wool over his eyes when it comes to claiming gasoline mileage.

Anxious to be fair about the whole thing, we'll go a big step beyond Axel's contention and concede that no one gets "a hunert miles a gallon" with Standard Red Crown. But we do have every reason to believe that this excellent motor fuel gives as many miles per gallon as any gasoline you can buy — quite possibly more.

In any event, thousands of midwest motorists are getting the truth, first hand, in the World's Greatest Road Test, instituted by Standard Oil. Even though you may not be driving one of the Research Test Cars, it will pay you to . . .

ORDER AUTOIST HELD TO JURY ON DEATH CHARGE

Confesses Drinking Before Fatal Accident.

A coroner's jury yesterday ordered Ray Jackson, 26 years old, 11017 South Whipple street, held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter as the result of the death of Edward Smith, 30 years old, 20 South Des Plaines street, a WPA watchman.

Smith was fatally injured Sunday when he was run down by a hit and run automobile at 111th street and Central Park avenue. Later the car was found parked five blocks from the scene.

Charles Varkalis, 24 years old, 261 West 65th street, owner of the car, was arrested when he returned to the machine from a nearby restaurant. He named Jackson as the driver. Both men admitted they had been drinking. The coroner's jury also directed that Varkalis be held on a charge of accessory.

Child Fatally Injured.

Eleanor Mathis, 3 years old, 2433 Winnemac avenue, was fatally injured when she ran from behind a parked auto near her home and was run down by a car driven by Bernard Battarello, 44 years old, 4812 North Harding avenue. She died at the Swedish Covenant hospital a few hours after the accident.

Charles Armbrust, 24 years old, 149 South Harlem avenue, Forest Park, died yesterday in the Woodstock hospital at Woodstock of injuries suffered Sunday when he was struck by a hit and run motorist in state route 20 near McHenry.

Thomas Lynch, 26 years old, 1235 Loyola avenue, a filling station attendant, died yesterday in St. Francis hospital in Evanston of injuries received last Thursday when he was struck while walking across Sheridan road near Devon avenue by the automobile of Warner Thompson, 17 years old, 550 Michigan avenue, Evanston, a senior in the Evanston High school.

Baby Is Injured.

William Clinkunbroomer, 8 months old, 1523 Davis street, Evanston, was thrown from his carriage and hurt yesterday when an automobile driven by Miss Blanche Carter, 15 years old, of Pennsylvania ran up over the curb at Davis street and Florence avenue in the suburb.

The girl told police she was trying to avoid colliding with a bus in Florence street. Patricia Powers, 12 years old, 1525 Davis street, who was wheeling the carriage, jumped aside to safety.

The baby was taken to the Evanston hospital, where it was found he had not suffered any serious injuries. Miss Carter told police she is visiting at the home of Thomas G. Sollitt, 2324 Lincolnwood drive, Evanston.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday the coroner's office reported 619 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these deaths 470 were in Chicago. In the same period 11,637 were injured in trafic accidents within the city.

FEARS OF ANTI-NAZI PUTSCH GRIP VIENNA; SOLDIERS ON GUARD

Police and Catholic Storm Troops, the semi-military organization of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg, were reported ordered to maintain a state of alarm.

Police held to a "state of readiness" for an hour and then relaxed in their barracks. Storm Troopers kept up the state of alarm all afternoon.

Troops Move Through City.

In the midst of the excitement, some 200 federal soldiers were sent through the inner city of Vienna to the community containing the government buildings.

Police and Storm Troop officers declared their action merely constituted "exercises," and the war department said the soldiers merely changed stations because of maneuvers.

Leaders of the Fascist Heimwehr denied any sudden steps were contemplated by that private army of about 35,000 to 40,000 men headed by Prince Ernst Rudiger von Starhemberg, deposed vice chancellor.

Dollfuss Death Recalled.

Much of the population remained nervous, however, remembering the assassination of Chancellor Dollfuss two years ago and the earlier open warfare against socialists.

Fears of an anti-Nazi demonstration arose from activities of the group which last week petitioned Prince Von Starhemberg to make Maj. Emil Fey, former vice chancellor, head of the Heimwehr again. He held that position until last fall when he was ousted because of his opposition to Von Starhemberg. The prince later was thrown out of the cabinet by Schuschnigg.

Planes Hunt Two Canadian Airmen Missing in Arctic

FORT RELIANCE, Northwest Territories, Canada, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Six airplanes tonight sought Flight Lieutenant Sheldon W. Coleman of the Royal Canadian Air force and Aircraftsman J. JAPAN EXECUTES 9 RUSSIANS AND JAILS 28 OTHERS

Agents of Soviet Army in Manchukuo, Is Charge.

TOKIO, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Japanese military forces announced tonight the execution of nine members of a "secret soviet shock battalion" near Hailar, Manchukuo, close to the Siberian border. Disclosure of the deaths came from the Japanese general army headquarters in Hsinking, Manchukuo.

The executions were carried out Friday, and at the same time twenty-eight others, said also to have been citizens of soviet Russia, were sentenced to prison for terms ranging from five to twenty years.

Remnants of Secret Group.

The condemned Russians, it was said in a Domei [Japanese] news agency dispatch, were "remnants of a secret delegation which the soviets sent to Manchukuo in 1924 and 1925, charged with sovietizing the Three rivers district."

The district was described as a colony some seventy-five miles north of Hailar near the Argun river, which roughly marks the boundary between soviet Siberia and Manchukuo.

Posing as White Russians, the Domei dispatch said, the members of the group began organization of a "shock battalion" in 1924 and enrolled 300 members. The Three Rivers colony, however, was considered by observers as a White Russian community and hostile to the communist government in Moscow.

Sought to Aid Red Army.

"The shock battalion daringly planned to attack Japanese-Manchukuan public offices, to commit plunder, incendiarism, and other violence, and to facilitate the operations of the soviet army," the dispatch said.

[For several years there have been more or less frequent reports of fighting along the borders of Siberia, outer Mongolia, and Manchukuo between supporters of the three governments over the loosely established boundary lines. Hailar is near the point where all three boundaries converge. Recently Russia and Japan agreed to the formation of a commission to determine the boundaries of Outer Mongolia, an independent republic closely allied with soviet Russia, and Manchukuo, supported by Japan.]

Arrest Koreans, Japan Demands.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 25 [Tuesday].—Yakichiro Suma, Japanese consul general, presented an ultimatum to the Nanking government today demanding that more than 200 alleged members of the Corean revolutionary party residing in the vicinity of Nanking be arrested and handed over to Japanese officials. Some of those whose arrest was sought were reported to be students in the Chinese national military academy.

The ultimatum is a result of the recent premature explosion of a bomb in the French concession here. The blast caused the death of one Corean. It follows also the discovery by Japanese of an alleged plot to blow up the Japanese consulate general and the local Kabukiza theater.

While Chinese authorities possess no police authority in the French concession, the Japanese claimed the terrorist plot is evidence of the protection extended by the Chinese to Corean revolutionists. Consul General Suma pointed out that Chinese protection of the Corean terrorists is incompatible with Nanking's protestations of friendship with Japan.

Claims Chinese Kidnaped Him.

The long list of recent incidents involving attacks on Japanese individuals at Peiping, Tientsin, Changsha, Tsingtao, and Shanghai was increased when a Japanese named Nagain at Tientsin claimed he was kidnaped by Chinese and held for several hours, while a Japanese architect in Shanghai was badly beaten.

Shigeru Kawagoe, Japanese ambassador to China, announced the conclusion of conferences among Japanese consular, military and naval officials at Tientsin.

"Chinese-Japanese economic cooperation is assured," he said, "but it is necessary to enlarge the powers of the Hopei-Chahar political council."

[The Hopei-Chahar political council is an autonomous régime set up with Japanese approval in Hopei and Chahar provinces.]

MOVE TO EXHUME WOMAN'S BODY IN ESTATE MYSTERY

$100,000 at Stake; Quiz Witnesses to Will.

Because of mysterious circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Anna Top and the signing of her will, which disposed of an estate estimated at $100,000, Public Administrator Martin J. O'Brien said last night that he would appear this morning before Judge John F. O'Connell in Probate court and ask an order for the exhumation of Mrs. Top's body. She died last March 24.

O'Brien said it was known that Mrs. Top died from natural causes. It was decided, however, to exhume the body and hold an autopsy to determine, if possible, whether she could have been in condition to execute a will a day before she died.

Asks Coroner's Coöperation.

Attorney Otto Ullrich, representing O'Brien, prepared the exhumation petition yesterday after Jack Rubens, investigator for the public administrator, conferred with Chief Deputy Coroner Victor Schlaeger. Rubens asked the coöperation of the coroner's office in making an investigation. He said that the state's attorney's office has already questioned witnesses in the case.

Mrs. Top died in her home at 1621 North Central avenue. She was 33 years old. Her will left all her holdings to two friends, George H. Studyman, a coal merchant living next door to her home, and Fred G. Krumsien, 4013 Milwaukee avenue. Studyman and Krumsien had handled her real estate investments for several years.

Deposit Box Swells Estate.

Mrs. Top's estate was at first estimated at $10,000 until Rubens discovered $20,000 in old currency and a number of bonds in a safe deposit box. Her estate was further increased by $50,000 left by her son, Hippolite, 52 years old, who died of pneumonia two weeks before his mother. Mrs. Top and her son had made wills in favor of each other, but his death voided her earlier will.

Rubens said he had learned from friends and neighbors that Mrs. Top was in a coma for three days before her death. The will, however, was executed 24 hours before she died, Rubens declared. It bore an "X" in place of her signature.

Mrs. Top was a native of Germany. The German consulate here is endeavoring to learn if there are any heirs in Germany.

2 SENT TO JAIL ON CHARGES OF TIPSY DRIVING

Judge Joseph A. Graber in Safety court yesterday sentenced two motorists to jail on charges of driving while intoxicated. Sam P. Miller, 44 years old, 1540 Newport avenue, a salesman, who was arrested Sunday after his automobile had crashed into two cars at Racine avenue and Addison street, got a 30 day jail term. Michael Lukwinski, 52 years old, 2920 Grenshaw street, was jailed for five days. He said he had drunk a "couple of glasses of beer" before his car collided with the machine of Policeman Herbert A. Towne at Cicero and Milwaukee avenues.

● Is your ice-box or mechanical refrigerator cold enough? The one sure way to find out is to "Take Its Temperature." Frigidaire Dealers, local sponsors for National Food-Safety Check-Up, offer the valuable COLD-GAUGE absolutely FREE to adults. End doubt. Check up at once

It is a mistake to take for granted the safety of your refrigerator. THE ATTACK ON THE PRESS RENEWED.

Another evidence is at hand showing that it is the purpose of the Roosevelt administration to impair the freedom of the press in this country.

Robert Ickes, foster son of Harold Ickes, secretary of the interior, has been holding down a government job in connection with a sewer project in Massachusetts, financed by the Public Works administration, of which his father is head. The son was arrested near Woburn, Mass., on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Following the arrest, the father was quoted in the Washington Star as accusing the local authorities of making use of the incident to persecute him.

"If he had been drunk," said Secretary Ickes in the interview, "why wasn't he arrested and his car seized? According to the law he should have been held and his machine taken if there was any evidence of intoxication. Instead, the warant was not sworn out until the next day and only then by an officer who was acting on hearsay. . . . Apparently there are people who would rather ruin a young fellow's life than miss the chance to try and beat in his father's brains. I only hope they don't hurt him in their effort to hit me."

Following the publication of this interview the Boston Post printed an editorial entitled "A Fond Father." It did not go into the question of the young man's guilt or innocence. It asserted that the father had misstated a number of facts, including the nature of the charge against his son and the circumstances of the arrest. The police had examined young Ickes' driver's license and therefore knew he was an Ickes all the time. Instead of arresting him on the spot, as is a frequent practice under similar circumstances, they had taken the keys to his car and permitted him to be driven home by a friend.

"Instead of being persecuted because his name was Ickes," said the Post, "the name seems to have earned him some consideration.

"Like many fond fathers, Secretary Ickes thinks his son must be right and that what he says must, of course, be true. But at least he should make some investigation of his own before indulging in a tirade against the police."

After the publication of this editorial the Ickes lawyer moved that the Post be cited for contempt of court. The editorial was described as a "prejudicial publication affecting the rights of the defendant." The Ickeses thus take the position that they may comment freely and publicly on a pending case but no newspaper may dare to correct their errors of fact. An Ickes may accuse arresting officers of betraying their trust and may seek to prejudice the court by cries of persecution, but no newspaper may give the bald facts in the matter without being punished for it in a summary proceeding.

Mr. Ickes must know where that doctrin leads. It would forbid newspapers to describe any breach of the peace when an arrest has been made. A newspaper could not describe a riot, a communist outbreak, a Fascist attempt to storm a state capital, or an attack by the army or the police upon a peaceable assembly. Under the guise of protecting a defendant's rights, the people would be deprived of their principal defense against a seditious uprising or a coup d'état.

The right of a newspaper to discuss a pending criminal case is, of course, restricted, and as a matter of fact newspaper editors in this country customarily take pains to avoid prejudicing a trial. The editorial in the Post was no exception to the rule. It did not contain anything which could reasonably reflect upon the guilt or innocence of young Ickes. It merely stated the facts of the arrest and it did so only after the boy's father, himself a lawyer, had engaged in a savage attack upon the processes of justice in Massachusetts and himself had risked prejudicing the court by alleging that he was being persecuted through the arrest of his son. If the Post's factual summary of the circumstances was contemptuous, it is difficult to see how any newspaper can ever inform its readers of any breach of the peace, however important it may be for public safety that the people know the facts. In any event, the offense, if there was one, should be tried before a jury.

The Ickes doctrine was invoked recently in England when two London newspapers were fined $2,500 and costs each for describing the recent attack upon King Edward in the ordinary language which any one would use in describing such an event. The verdict has alarmed many thoughtful persons there. There is no more desire there than here to deprive a defendant of a fair trial, but there is a growing conviction that a summary proceeding for contempt of court is not the proper method of safeguarding a prisoner's rights. Charged with contempt, a newspaper is denied a jury trial, the proceeding is subject to judicial whim rather than rule, the violence of the penalties is scarcely restrained and the verdict is subject to a minimum of judicial review.

A writer signing himself "Barrister" discusses the question in the London New Statesman and Nation for Aug. 8. Summary action against newspapers for contempt, such as the Ickes complaint calls for, he says, is "similar to, and indeed, historically descended from, the procedure used by the Court of Star Chamber. . . . There are no jury and no appeal, and the power of the judges to fine and imprison is unlimited." This procedure is relatively new. As late as the seventeenth century even a glaring offense committed in the courtroom, such as hurling a brick at the judge, led to formal indictment and trial in the usual way.

The present practice in England has an amazing history. It originated in a decision which never was rendered. A printer named Almon was charged with contempt for having published an attack upon the lord chancellor. Just as Mr. Justice Wilmot was about to give judgment it was discovered that by a clerical error the proceedings had been started as Rex vs. Wilkes instead of Rex vs. Almon. The defense refused to waive the technical point and the case was dismissed, but the unread opinion was found among the Wilmot papers after the judge's death and was published. Upon this undelivered decision, for which Sir William Holdsworth in his History of English Law says there was little if any authority, has been founded "almost the whole of the modern practice with regard to criminal contempts committed outside the precincts of the courts."

It is this English procedure, of illegitimate birth, which Secretary Ickes has now asked the American courts to adopt. He says his political opponents are striking at him through his son. It would be far nearer the truth to say that young Ickes is the tool which his father and Mr. Roosevelt are employing in another effort to break down the constitutional guarantees of a free press in this country.

INSTALL MODERN STREET CARS.

A million patrons of the Surface Lines will read with interest the recent announcement that the assembly of new cars is rapidly nearing completion and that they will appear on Chicago streets in the near future. The details of the running gear, showing the meticulous research that has been employed to promote speed, comfort, noiseless operation and safety, will also be observed with satisfaction. At last new vehicles will be provided to alleviate the humdrum of riding to and from places of employment—but only on Madison street. An almost city-wide chorus will inquire, "When will we get new equipment on our line?"

In retrospect, the securing of an allotment from the Surface Line depreciation fund to build eighty-three new Madison street cars appears to have been spread over several years. The next appropriation may require the same amount of effort and court procedure. As delivery of the first batch is assured, why not start the mill working on recovery of funds for a second instalment? The public will be far better pleased with the prospect of the eventual appearance of "street cars of the future" on each line than a relatively few samples which cannot be inspected except by a visit to Madison street.

THE TRIBUNE'S platform for Chicago, "Install modern street cars," comprehends the rehabilitation of the entire system and the public would welcome an announcement that the Surface Lines' management is not resting on its oars, but is working on a definite city-wide replacement plan for the future.

SUGGESTED BY THE STATE FAIR.

Farmers' ears are small. Some are worse off and haven't any. In fact, the corn crop is the poorest since the year President Garfield was shot, and cash corn is the highest since 1920. At a time when chemists are trying to find new uses for the corn excess the government and the elements have combined to reduce the supply below the bare necessities of mangers, sties, and the few remaining nose bags. Argentine farm supplies are certain to be drawn upon.

For some emergency purposes substitutes for corn will be readily found. One of these was suggested by the Illinois state fair, which was held last week at Springfield under the auspices of the state department of agriculture. The most popular concession at the fair was the gambling game, called there bunko or bingo, but more commonly known as keno around Chicago family hotels. For a nickel a player was given a card containing rows of numbers and a handful of a fair grade of shelled corn. A barker called a number and each player placed a grain of corn on the number if it appeared on his card. The first player with a row of numbers completed won the prize. Several hundred played at once, and quite a number of unsuccessful players were seen walking away with hands full of corn. Here is a case where the golden grain is not indispensable. Bunko concessionaires should take cognizance of the corn shortage. Acorns, metal slugs, and wooden checks are suggested offhand. Or perhaps a suitable substitute could be made of cottonseed or soy beans.

VOTED FOR ROOSEVELT.

[Illinois State Journal.]

"Yes, I voted for Roosevelt in 1932," the business man said in response to a question. "Why not? When he was a candidate he said, 'Stop deficits.' He criticized Hoover's deficits and promised to reduce federal spending. He said he was against a 'national burocracy.' He pledged himself to reduce taxes.

"Well, I don't need to tell you what's happened since then. We've gone through the NRA with all of Gen. Johnson's wisecracks and the chiseling. We've gone off the gold standard. We now have the biggest debt in our national history and the end's not in sight yet.

"Last spring it was this tax on corporation reserves. Next, I guess, it will be the coöps. And in January my firm and my employés will have to begin paying a salary tax under the social security act, which I've been told is impractical and unsound.

"The worst of it is that all this comes on top of our biggest problem—from nine to twelve million men still without jobs. We business men are hiring more employés now, and we hope to continue to do so. Every one looks to us for jobs. We've always been able to come out of depressions before, but this time—well, look what we're up against!"

SUPPLICATION.

Come, take my hand, and walk along with me
For just this little way . . . And let me see
Life's beauty through your eyes; and let me hear
Life's music through your ears. Stifle my fear
To walk alone, when one relentless thrust
Divides our paths, as surely part they must.
Let me pick up our footsteps, yours and mine;
Thread them upon a golden chain, and bind
Them 'round my heart . . . And let the seal be this:

ONCE UPON A TIME.

Henry Kay, one of Hometown's principal merchants, used to go into Ford's saloon almost daily in ante-prohibition times and drink with his friends. His beverage, however, was always milk or ginger ale. It was well known to oldsters that he had been a heavy imbiber in his youth, and equally known that he hadn't tasted as much as a glass of beer for forty years before his death, at the age of 70, in 1922. After he had been buried old Jim Flood, the only one to whom he had confided it, told us the story of his reformation.

About 1880 Henry Kay became so worthless that his father told him to get out and try to make a man of himself. Henry became a tramp, working occasionally, eating irregularly, and drinking as much as he could pay for. At the end of two years he was a thorough bum.

One autumn day he and another tramp sawed some wood for a farmer near Cincinnati and were paid a dime apiece. "That's fine," said Henry; "we can buy a loaf of bread apiece and a nickel drink of whisky apiece." The other tramp demurred. "We can buy two drinks of whisky apiece," he said, "and beg some bread." This was too much for Henry. He bought two loaves of bread, went back to Hometown, ate a little of the meat of a fatted calf, and then made good. But we wonder still how he dared to drink his ginger ale in Ford's barroom.

DIABETES A CONQUERABLE DISEASE.

SOME ONE has said that "Bread is the staf of life." This is only a half truth, for sugar is really the substance that the body utilizes for energy and heat. To be sure, digestion converts bread—or most of it—into sugar, but unless starchy foods reach this "sweet state" they cannot be used by the body.

Diabetes is a disease that is easily understood. We know that in order to keep going the body requires fuel [food] and there is a striking similarity between the human engine and the locomotive. Both burn carbon, and oxygen supplies the necessary element for combustion. Carbon is contained in all starches and sugars and whenever oxygen combines with this material heat is produced.

The only difference between a diabetic and a normal person is that the former cannot use sugar as readily as the latter. Strangely enough, the lack of this power constitutes illness. When such a person consumes sugar it is not transformed as it should be and as a result it accumulates in the blood. When it reaches a certain amount it overflows, is wasted in the urine, and the patient becomes weak, appears poorly nourished and, in a sense, is poisoned.

Of course other types of food can produce sugar, such as meat, fish, eggs, and fat. There is one drawback, however. If starches are not eaten these substances are not digested completely and poisonous acids are formed—with damage to health. It must be made perfectly clear that if starches alone were responsible for diabetes we could omit them and exist on fats and proteins. Unfortunately the diabetic who tried this plan would find himself in a state known as acidosis, which—sooner or later—would bring on unconsciousness and perhaps death.

Prior to the discovery of insulin by Banting and Best in 1922 the only means available for the treatment of diabetes was this food adjustment program which limited starches to the lowest possible level.

In the normal individual the pancreas secretes just as much insulin as the body seems to need—a definite proportion in relation to the amount of starch that is eaten—but in diabetes this function of the gland is reduced or lost and, therefore, the secretion must be supplied artificially. The remedy is, therefore, simple. It means restricting carbohydrates to the point where the patient's own insulin is adequate or, if there is a sizable failure of this hormone, supplying it from an outside source and administering it under the skin.

Many people take starches in far too large quantities and the presence of sugar in the urine may mean merely that the individual is overeating. Reducing the starch in the diet and hence the strain on the internal secretion of the pancreas may restore the patient to health. The keystone of treatment then is a carefully regulated diet, but if this will not accomplish the object insulin must be added.

We are a sugar eating, self-indulgent people, and the fact is that diabetes is increasing more rapidly in the United States than in any other country. There are now several hundred thousand victims and we can understand why when we realize that we consume five times as much sugar per capita as some other nations. Furthermore one in each five is overweight—not because of disease but as a result of too much food. It has long been contended that a nation-wide program of weight reduction would cut the number of diabetics in half within a very few years. The dangerous age is 40, as two-thirds of all those who develop the disease do so after this milestone has been passed.

Study and investigation have changed diabetes from a deadly disease to one that may be lived with happily and efficiently. Intelligent coöperation on the part of the patient and good medical management are essential. The diabetic must learn to weigh his food and determine its character. He must possess also the courage to stick to the dietary formula. To become sugar free on a prescribed diet does not mean that the disease has been mastered. It is a sign, however, that the condition is conquerable—provided the patient does his part.

COATED TEETH.

D. P. writes: For the past several years I have tried practically every brand of toothpaste and powder on the market, salt, and baking soda, yet my teeth must be cleaned by the dentist every two or three months. Why do teeth become so dirty in spite of conscientious brushing? What would you suggest that I use?

REPLY.

Tartar consists chiefly of phosphate of lime deposited from the saliva. Mixed with this are food particles and bacteria. When it first forms it is soft in some cases and can be removed by brushing. If allowed to remain for a few hours its removal is more difficult. Regular brushing of the teeth is essential, and if this is done after each meal and at bedtime you should have no difficulty. In some the saliva is high in minerals. You can dilute this by drinking more water and by more chewing. Use coarser foods—those that require prolonged mastication. Chewing gum will increase the flow from the salivary glands.

SOAP, AIR, SUNSHINE.

F. A. C. writes: I have recently become the owner of a large house in the country. Two persons have died there within a year—one of pernicious anemia and the other of pneumonia. The house has been closed since the first of the year. I think it should be fumigated. Can you tell me how to do this?

REPLY.

Clean and air the house thoroughly. Scrub all floors and woodwork with soap and water. Wash the walls and repaint and repaper as far as your pocketbook will permit. Sunlight and fresh air are our best germ killers.

WHOOPING COUGH.

Mrs. J. L. writes: Is whooping cough vaccine a positive means of protecting the child against the disease?

REPLY.

Much depends upon the type of vaccine used as well as the care that is taken in its preparation. In 1935, L. W. Sauer reported that of 3,800 vaccinated children, 342 were afterward exposed to whooping cough. Of these, 10 contracted the disease. This may be explained on the grounds that the vaccine varies in power. The figures indicate, also that it is highly protective against the disease.

DAY BY DAY IN THE MAKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

BY JAMES MADISON.

[Father of the Constitution and Fourth President of the United States.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 25, 1787.—In convention. The report of the committee of eleven being taken up, Gen. Pinckney of South Carolina moved to strike out the words "the year eighteen hundred" as limiting the importation of slaves and to insert the words "eighteen hundred and eight." Mr. Gorham of Massachusetts seconded the motion. Mr. Madison: twenty years will produce all the mischief that can be apprehended from the liberty to import slaves. So long a term will be more dishonorable to the national character than to say nothing about it in the constitution. On the motion it passed in the affirmative. Mr. Gouverneur Morris of Pennsylvania was for making the clause read at once "the importation of slaves into North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia shall not be prohibited, etc." This he said, would be most fair and avoid the ambiguity by which, under the power with regard to naturalization, the liberty reserved to the states might be defeated. He wished it also to be known that this part of the constitution was a compliance with those states. If the change of language however should be objected to by the members from those states he should not urge it.

The Continued Importation of Slaves

Col. Mason of Virginia was not against using the term "slaves," but against naming North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia lest it should give offense to the people of those states. Mr. Sherman of Connecticut liked a description better than the terms proposed, which had been declined by the old congress and were not pleasing to some people. Mr. Clymer of Pennsylvania concurred with Mr. Sherman. Mr. Williamson of North Carolina said that both in opinion and in practice he was against slavery, but thought it more in favor of humanity, from a view of all circumstances, to let in South Carolina and Georgia on those terms than to exclude them from the Union. Mr. Morris withdrew his motion. The first part of the report was then agreed to, amended as follows: "The migration or importation of such persons as the several states now existing shall think proper to admit shall not be prohibited by the legislature prior to the year 1808." New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, ay; New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia, no.

[But a tax or duty may be imposed on such migration or importation at a rate not exceeding the average of the duties laid on imports—from the report of the committee of eleven.]

Mr. Sherman was against this second part as acknowledging men to be property, by taxing them as such under the character of slaves. Mr. King and Mr. Langdon considered this as the price of the first part. [Allowing the entry of slaves.] Gen. Pinckney of South Carolina admitted that it was so. Col. Mason: Not to tax will be equivalent to a bounty on the importation of slaves. Mr. Gorham of Massachusetts thought that Mr. Sherman should consider the duty as not implying that slaves are property, but as a discouragement to the importation of them. Mr. Madison thought it wrong to admit in the constitution the idea that there could be property in men. It finally was agreed to make the clause read "but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation not exceeding ten dollars for each person" and then the second part as amended was agreed to.

THOUGHTS FOR HOUSEWIVES.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., Aug. 20.—In your yesterday's TRIBUNE column, "Thoughts for Housewives," I read with interest about the immense bonuses thrown to the Philippine sugar kings by the New Deal.

May I give you another piece of legislation of equal interest to housewives, but dwarfing the sugar bonus? On May 10, 1934, the President signed the general revenue bill, which included the imposing of a tax on the use of Philippine coconut oil of 3 cents a pound, the proceeds of this tax to be paid directly into the treasury of the Philippine islands. Faure Blattman & Co. of London, England, in their trade bulletin of May 15, 1934, had the following to say about the above coconut oil tax:

"It seems very difficult to see where it will help the farmers for whose benefit this marvelous bill has been composed. It is certainly the most extraordinary piece of legislation which has ever been placed on the statute book of an important country. The effect is that provided the quantities of Philippine copra coconut oil imported are the same as last year, the United States will pay the Philippine government 25 million dollars annually, equivalent to about three-quarters of the total Philippine national expenditures—a truly generous gesture just at the time when the Philippines have been granted their independence and, we should say, altogether without precedent in the history of international finance."

Time has shown since this bill became operative the moneys paid to the Philippine government and that now held in escrow, awaiting the Supreme court's decision of its legality, is far in excess of the London broker's estimate. This tax should be of interest to every housewife, because coconut oil is used in soaps, cooking compounds, and oleomargarine. The act was ostensibly to protect the farmer against oleomargarine competition. This purpose completely failed. What it did accomplish, and only this, was to automatically raise the cost of this raw material over 100 per cent and remove tens of millions of American housewives' dollars and pour them into the Philippine exchequer.

DON'T BE TOO SURE.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—I believe I know how to keep the United States out of any European wars.

Put through a law to the effect that the President of the United States, the secretary of war, the governors of all states, and all high government officials are to be the first ones to be put in the front lines.

Such a law would keep this country from ever fighting with any European country. L. M. LEE.

FAIR FARE.

River Forest, Ill., Aug. 15.—I have nonchalantly been reading the various complaints in regard to the discontinuance of the weekly "L" pass. The time has now come to listen to the other side of the story.

Do these complainants take into consideration the fact that there are hundreds of people who use the "L" only twice a day for five days a week, thus being unable to take advantage of the "L" pass? F. M. S. JR.

ROOSEVELT DEFENDED.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—In the Voice of the People of Aug. 19 there appeared a letter from Erwin Baumruck in which it was intimated that President Roosevelt's pledged word could not be relied on, as he had broken his presidential oath as regards the constitution and had also broken his pledge regarding the Democratic platform.

Neither Mr. Baumruck nor any one else can cite a single act or statement of the President which even remotely can be construed as reflecting upon the constitution. He has criticized the manner in which judges construed it. When he does that he is in illustrious company, and this will be borne out if the President's critics will hark back to the controversy over the Dred Scott decision prior to the civil war.

In a recent Supreme court decision the dissenting opinion stated that the majority decision was based upon the "economic predilections" of the judges. No stricture by President Roosevelt upon the Supreme court decisions has been as severe as that.

As for the President's platform pledge, that was made in June, 1932, and he took office almost nine months later, when conditions had changed for the worse. Desperate diseases call for heroic remedies, and President Roosevelt had both the ability and the courage to apply them. FRANK H. JOHNSON.

DIVORCE PROCEEDINGS.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My husband received a divorce from his first wife in Indiana in 1930. He has now received a notice that she has filed a suit for divorce in Massachusetts.

1. Is his divorce legal if he received it without her knowledge? She did not appear. The usual notice was published but he does not know if she was personally notified.

2. Will he be responsible in any way if she can prove she was not notified?

3. Should he inform her attorney or the judge scheduled to hear her case of his previous divorce?

4. Can she receive alimony if her case is heard or in any other way?

5. Have you any other information he should have? S. L. M.

1. If her failure to receive notice was due to his filing a false affidavit, this would invalidate the decree. Various other facts might render the decree void.

2. See 1.

3. Yes, if she has not previously received such notice.

4. Presumably the Massachusetts suit would be based on notice by publication and in such case no alimony order would be entered.

5. The attorney who secured the divorce for him is in a better position to advise him than we are.

CAMP ALGONQUIN GOES INTO FINAL TWO WEEKS OF ITS 1936 SEASON

The sixth and final 1936 summer encampment at Camp Algonquin will begin today when 140 Chicago tenement mothers and children arrive there. Another 140, arriving tomorrow, will complete the summer quota of 2,000 mothers and children who have spent two weeks at the camp.

Operated jointly by the United Charities and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the camp now is in its twenty-sixth season of activity. During the twenty-six years more than 60,000 Chicago mothers and children have had outings at the beautiful 43 acre camp on the Fox river.

Gertrude P. Coleman yesterday contributed $5 to the camp fund, bringing the total to $1,909.74. Contributions totaling $31.80 were received for THE TRIBUNE Free Ice fund, through which ice is supplied to needy Chicago families during the summer months. Ice fund contributors were:

FALLS DEAD IN BOILER ROOM.

WINS EVICTION CASE AGAINST HIS SON'S WIFE

A jury in an eviction case before Judge Eugene Holland in Municipal court yesterday returned a verdict ordering Mrs. Harry K. Farrell, 46 years old, to move out of the home of her father-in-law, William Farrell, 1348 Rosedale avenue, head of the mailing division of the Crane company.

Mrs. Farrell is estranged from her husband. The elder Farrell, who is 80 years old, testified he has been supporting her and her son for the last 17 years. He declared he had offered her $100 if she would move out voluntarily. "I don't want either my son or his wife in the house," Farrell told the court.

Mrs. Farrell asserted her father-in-law agreed five years ago to support her if she would cook and drive his car for him. This was denied by the father, whose wife, Mrs. Viola Farrell, is a well known clubwoman. Execution of the eviction order was stayed until Sept. 10.

PUFFER MAKES OFFER IN ROW OVER PRINCIPAL

If the school board of the Union Ridge district in Norwood Park township agrees to rehire three women teachers, Charles O'Hearn, 38 years old, the bachelor principal accused of hugging them, will be given a new teaching certificate and allowed to return as head of the school.

Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, made this offer yesterday to a group of twelve mothers whose children attend the school. The delegation called on Supt. Puffer to plead for the reinstatement of O'Hearn, who resigned before the hugging charges were made public.

FACES SENTENCE FOR SLAYING.

The will of H. Teller Archibald, president of the Fannie May Candy company, who died at Swampscott, Mass., on July 24, was filed yesterday with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court. Although the will, drawn in 1931, provided annual bequests totaling $70,000 to ten persons, the full value of the estate is now less than $100,000, it was disclosed.

According to Attorney George Townley, who filed the will, the income from the estate will go toward the payment of the first of these annual bequests, $20,000 to the widow, Dorothy Louise of Miami Beach, Fla. On the widow's death the principal is to go to Johns Hopkins university at Baltimore.

Mr. Archibald died of a heart ailment. He was 57 years old. For ten years prior to his death he lived in Miami Beach. He was a noted turfman. A former wife, Mildred King Archibald, from whom he was divorced, was formerly associated with him in the Fannie May candy stores.

Other wills admitted to probate yesterday were:

EMMA KIRK McEWEN, died Aug. 11. Estate, $350,000, to two daughters and two sons, William McEwen, son, executor.

ALBERT WITT, died July 3. Estate, $10,000, to brother and sister. Mary Witt, sister, executrix.

LOUISA LAYSTROM, died June 4. Estate, $7,500, to daughter and four sons. Mercantile Trust and Savings bank, executor.

KILLER PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN HOTEL SLAYING

Rufo Swain, 27 years old, the colored ex-college athlete who confessed the rape-murder of Mrs. Mary Louise Trammell in the State hotel, 553 South State street, on Aug. 16 and told authorities he would plead guilty and throw himself on the mercy of the court, changed his mind yesterday and pleaded not guilty before Judge Michael Feinberg in the Criminal court. His trial was set for Sept. 3.

Swain had been sleeping in Grant park for several weeks prior to the murder of Mrs. Trammell. He was connected with that crime through a notebook dropped at the hotel three nights before Mrs. Trammell was slain.

In court yesterday Judge Feinberg asked him if he wished the public defender to represent him. He said he didn't, and Attorneys George W. Lawrence and Jerry Broomfield, both colored, said they would represent him.

Optometrists Shown New Lens to Prevent Cataracts

A new heat absorbing lens designed to prevent cataracts of the eye was introduced yesterday at the 15th annual meeting of the American Academy of Optometry in the Blackstone hotel. Dr. E. Le Roy Ryer and Dr. Elmer E. Hotaling of New York, the inventors, said the discovery was based on the theory that invisible infra-red light rays are so hot they cook the albumin of the eyeball.

NEW COURT FRAUDS DISCOVERED, WIDENING FIELD OF THE INQUIRY

The scope of the escrow fund fraud investigation in the clerks' offices of the Circuit, Superior, and Probate courts widened yesterday when it was disclosed that ten frauds were executed by means of forged assignments of escrow claims. Hitherto the investigators for the state's attorney have been working on the assumption that members of the swindle ring posed as litigants and in this fashion gained court approval of the withdrawal of funds in escrow.

In the new frauds uncovered yesterday it was found that Clarence A. Bales, one of the leaders of the ring, made claims to the courts in his own name, presenting forged affidavits that the claims had been assigned to him. With this practice discovered investigators no longer may limit their inquiry to the names of litigants, but must also examine withdrawal of funds through assignments in order to cover the whole field of the ring's operations.

Bales admitted yesterday that he destroyed the official records of the cases in which he obtained funds. Eugene J. O'Connor, the chief investigator, said this destruction would drag out the tedious inquiry. Another source of confusion results from the fact that Bales did a legitimate business in recovering escrow funds for litigants.

Virginia Corbin's Husband Wins Round in Court Battle

A writ of ne exeat against Theodore Krol, 35 years old, 4865 Magnolia avenue, obtained last week by his wife, the former Virginia Lee Corbin, 20 years old, 420 Surf street, former juvenile screen star, was quashed by Judge Harry M. Fisher in the Circuit court yesterday. The judge upheld the technical objections of Krol's attorney that the petition for the writ, to compel Krol to post $3,000 bonds as a guarantee that he will not leave the state, was not properly indorsed. Krol sued his wife for divorce early last week and she at once filed a cross bill for separate maintenance.

COURT RETAINS CONSERVATOR OF PACIFIC MUTUAL

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Superior Judge Henry M. Willis denied today a series of motions to set aside appointment of Samuel L. Carpenter, state insurance commissioner, as conservator of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California.

Judge Willis' ruling opened the way for arguments on an order to show cause why the proposed plan of rehabilitation of Pacific Mutual assets should not be approved, expected to last for several days.

The motions attacking Carpenter's appointment at the time the $215,000,000 concern was declared insolvent were based on a contention the California insurance code is unconstitutional because it does not provide that notice must be given and hearings held on the appointment of a conservator.

Among other motions denied by Judge Willis was one filed by Percy A. Eisen asking permission to file a suit as a policy holder against Carpenter for declaratory relief. Judge Willis said he believed when the present hearing on the reorganization is concluded there would be no controversy between policy holders and Carpenter.

BRUNO SHOWS TEASERS A NEW KNOCK! KNOCK!

He Rents a Bathing Suit —and Trouble.

Two Chicagoans were in the Will county jail yesterday, three were undergoing bodily repairs in a Joliet hospital, and others were nursing bruises all because Bruno Boechenczak, 4842 South Laflin street, felt self-conscious in a rented bathing suit.

Bruno's sensitiveness is blamed for a free-for-all fight late Sunday on the Romeo beach north of Joliet that threatened to involve every one within running distance. Will county deputy sheriffs who gathered up the casualties admitted yesterday that the story as they pieced it together didn't just make sense.

There was a burst of laughter from a group of men on the beach. Bruno hurried furiously back to the dressing room, dressed, and returned to find the men who laughed.

"Does anybody still feel funny?" Bruno asked, his chin jutting.

The Action Starts.

Bruno and John fell to punching each other. Spectators took sides and joined the fray. The late evening air resounded with the shouts of the battlers, who numbered thirty or more, according to witnesses.

The deputy sherifs who took Bruno and John to jail and charged them with disorderly conduct also took three lesser participants to St. Joseph hospital. The injured were Bruno's brother, Walter Boechenczak; William Rudnick, 2152 Fowler street, and Ben Phillips, 4821 South Laflin street. Rudnick had been stabbed and Phillips declared that he had been hit with a hammer.

The Lights Go Out.

"I don't know what happened," Walter Boechenczak said. "I was walking to the beach when I saw the crowd. I went over to see what was happening. Then the lights went out and next thing I know I was here in the hospital."

"I never even noticed your suit," Tallion said. "We were laughing over a new 'knock-knock' we had just heard."

Bruno and John were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Joseph Hartney in Joliet, who continued the case ten days to give the injured witnesses time to recover. Neither had furnished his $500 bond by yesterday afternoon.

DODD ANSWERS WIFE'S PETITION FOR MORE CASH

Attorney Walter F. Dodd of Winnetka filed in the Superior court yesterday his answer to the petition of his wife, Sue Hutchison Dodd, for additional money from him to press her suit for separate maintenance and her fight for the custody of their two children.

Dodd in his answer says his total income from 1931 to 1935 was about $80,000, but that he spent half that sum for the family home at 527 Cherry street, Winnetka, to which Mrs. Dodd now claims full title. He has been paying his wife $200 a month since last May, he says.

Dodd said yesterday that he did not propose to bring his two children to the custody hearing before Judge Joseph B. David in the Superior court today. Mrs. Dodd's attorney, Robert N. Golding, declared if he failed to do so, contempt proceedings will be filed.

FIVE MINERS KILLED AS GAS EXPLOSION SHATTERS TUNNEL

Wilkes Barre, Pa., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Five mine workers perished today in a gas explosion 200 feet below the surface in the Sullivan Trail Coal company's anthracite mine. About 100 men were in the vein when the explosion occurred.

The fate of the five was not known for nearly five hours after the blast. Finally rescue workers reached the tunnel where the men had been trapped by tons of rock and coal.

John Smith, 35, of Old Forge, who was blown clear by the explosion before an avalanche of loosened coal hurtled into the tunnel, told through seared lips of how the others were trapped.

"The ceiling fell in front of them and cut them off from the rest of us, but it didn't fall on them," he said.

Boondoggling, a New Game of Give Away, Latest Amusement

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—"Boondoggling, the game of brain-trusters," made its appearance today. To be more exact, perhaps, it should be said that it made its appearance in copyrighted form, since there is evidence that it has been played with some enthusiasm throughout the country for three years—without benefit of copyright.

Full credit for the invention of boondoggling, of course, must go to the Roosevelt administration, but the men who had the idea of turning it into a game, played with markers, dice and a spaced board, are not New Dealers. The layout for the pastime is very similar to that for the game of monopoly. Boondoggling is a kind of reverse monopoly, however, in which the object of the players is to get rid of money instead of to accumulate it.

Shake for 40 Projects.

The board is marked into forty "projects," and the players shake dice in turn, moving their markers from project to project as the numbers of the dice direct. Each player receives or loses money, according to the project on which his marker lands. The player who get rid of all his money first wins.

The markers—there as six—are named Genial Jim, Rex, Harry, Henry, Felix, and Harold. Paper money, in boondoggling denominations of 1, 5, 10, 20, 50, 100, and 500 millions of dollars, is supplied to each player at the start.

"There is skill attached to the spending of the funds, experience teaching us that the less one knows about how to make or spend money, the greater advantage one has in boondoggling," says the rules slip inclosed with each set.

Must Inflate to Stay In.

Even the boondoggling treasury is soon exhausted as the game proceeds, and it is necessary to resort to inflation, which enables the treasury to borrow. The rules add: "In keeping with the spirit of the game, at no time does the treasury attempt to repay any funds borrowed."

"From an educational standpoint," the rules sheet concludes, "it is interesting to know that money was actually allotted [by the real life boondogglers] for every project shown on the board."

Some of these are tap-dancing for lobstermen, teaching girls to sweep under beds, privy construction, constructing bird houses, mapping ancient Greek dialects, beauty treatments for the insane, murals for prison walls, building lily ponds, checker lessons, fan dancers for CCC camps, teaching mountaineers to write poetry, and tracing the origin of the diaper pin.

GIRL, CENTER OF PUBLIC SCHOOL BATTLE, ELOPES

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Test Plots Checked

August 24, 1936.

Caretakers of the test plots at the Tribune's Wheaton experimental farm were busy last week with rulers, tape lines and charts, measuring and recording the growth made by the various test crops during the first week following the rain which fell on Aug. 13 and 14. Several heavy showers have fallen since, and there still is plenty of moisture in the ground to keep the plants growing.

The men found that most of the test crops had made a ready response to the much needed moisture. Some of the plots took on an entirely new appearance within a week after the rains started.

Atlas Sorgo Benefits.

For example, the small plot of Atlas sorgo growing in test field B had practically stopped its growth when the first rain came. The plants still were green, but the leaves were twisted tightly and the stalks beginning to head out at an average height of four feet. When measured last Friday these plants were six feet tall and the blades were overlapping between the rows.

Atlas sorgo is a grain sorghum grown extensively in eastern Kansas, where it was developed. Kansas farmers who have grown the crop since the seed was first made available to them in 1928 have found that the heads make a good yield of grain that is equal to kaffir in feeding value, and that the sweet, juicy stalks and leaves are a palatable forage. A few short rows of Atlas sorgo were grown at the Wheaton farm last year. When the plants were cut and fed to horses the animals ate them, stalks and all.

Hemp Grows Rapidly.

The plot of hemp in test field C is making rapid growth. The plants were ten feet high when measured Friday, a foot taller than a week before. Seeds are forming on the female plants. The men now are wondering how they are going to harvest the hemp. The plants are too tall to cut with a grain binder. Since the seed was sown broadcast, they are not sure what sort of job a corn binder would do. They have no hemp harvesting machine.

Fiber Flax Reviving.

The three acres of fiber flax in test field C is reviving. The plants appeared to be practically dead when the rains began, but they now are greening up and new blossoms are coming out. The flax was sown broadcast and could not be cultivated. Part of the plot became badly infested with foxtail grass.

Watch Safflower Plants.

Development of the safflower plants in test field B is being closely watched by the farm workers and visitors. Apparently these plants are going to mature a heavy crop of seed this year. The plants are about 25 inches high and have stopped growing. The blooms have dropped and the seed appears to be maturing in good shape.

There is a question as to whether or not safflower seeds will develop successfully in this climate. Men familiar with the crop say they will not. Two year's experience with safflower at the Wheaton and Yorkville farms seemed to bear out this theory, as only a few seeds matured. There is no apparent reason now, however, why the crop this year should not be a complete success.

Last year the safflower plants grew about three inches apart in four foot rows. This year they were thinned out to about six inches apart with the same distance between the rows.

FLAMES WRECK JELKE STABLES; LOSS IS $60,000

John F. Jelke Jr. estimated yesterday that his loss was more than $60,000 in the destruction by fire Sunday of the stables on his estate two miles west of Wadsworth in Lake county. The spectacular blaze drew a crowd of spectators from the Mill Creek Hunt club nearby.

No horses were lost in the fire. Attendants on the estate saved 20 thoroughbreds from the blaze before the arrival of the Gurnee fire department. Included in the loss were 25 tons of hay and 500 bushels of grain.

Woman Sews Up Child's Wound; Sought by Police

Joliet police began a search yesterday for a woman with kind intentions who used an ordinary needle and thread to sew up a wound incurred by Alvin Pemberton, 5 years old, 500 North Joliet street, Joliet, as he was sliding down a tree Sunday. The crude surgical job was reported by Dr. J. W. Muncy, who was called by the boy's father, Hugh, to replace the woman's stitches. If found, she faces a charge of practicing surgery without a license, the police said.

BURNS KILL LAUNDRY WORKER.

Joseph Vazak, 49 years old, 6611 South Bishop street, died yesterday in the Edward Hines Memorial hospital of caustic soda burns incurred last Friday while he was working in a laundry at 6633 South State street.

2 Chicagoans Home After Touring Europe by Bicycle

Philip Burton, 25 years old, 5653 Kenmore avenue, and Irving Nilsen, 27, of 3029 North Lotus avenue, former University of Illinois students, returned to Chicago yesterday after a two month European tour on bicycles. They said that their expenses in Europe were $75 each. They visited France, Italy, Austria, Germany, and Belgium.

Mrs. Bevans Is An Authority On the Training of Children

Many Return from Europe as Vacations End

Every Liner Brings Quota of Chicagoans.

BY JUDITH CASS.

EVERY ship that docks in eastern ports these days brings back Chicagoans who are returning from European vacations. Some of the returned travelers are postponing coming to Chicago until after the hay fever season, but others are hastening home to get their sons and daughters ready for preparatory school or college. When the Vulcania docked in New York last Tuesday, Robert Hall McCormick, one of the passengers, was met by his niece, Miss Janet Ayer, who is going to be married on Sept. 19 to Ross J. Beatty Jr. Mr. McCormick was abroad when the engagement was announced, sailing in his small yacht along the Dalmatian coast which he visits every summer. He will arrive in Chicago on Sept. 7.

Miss Ayer is returning on Friday after a shopping expedition to New York upon which she was accompanied by her future sister-in-law, Miss Veronese Beatty. While in New York Miss Ayer also discussed her wedding plans with her brother, Robert McCormick Ayer, who is engaged in business there, and with an aunt, Miss Mildred McCormick, who makes her home in the east now. Young Mr. McCormick will come west to attend the wedding, which is to be a very small one, probably in the chapel of the Fourth Presbyterian church. Miss McCormick may come west for the wedding.

Cecil Barnes Family to Return Next Month.

Miss Elsie McCormick surely will be at the wedding, for she has been in town all summer and is not making any traveling plans until later in the season. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Barnes, uncle and aunt of the bride-to-be, are vacationing in Europe now, but they will arrive at home by mid-September for the double reason of attending their niece's wedding and so that Edward and Benjamin Barnes may have a few days here before they leave for Harvard. Cecil Jr., who was graduated last June from Harvard, accompanied his parents and brothers abroad and will sail home with them on the Normandie early next month.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Richardson arrived in Lake Forest on Sunday after a cruise to the North Cape. Mrs. Richardson's daughter, Mrs. Rodman Lent Hooker, has moved to their home from that of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Morse, where she has been visiting. Mrs. Hooker will not return to California for two more weeks.

Chauncey McCormick to Meet Wife, Son.

Chauncey McCormick, who will be among the trustees of the Art institute on hand today for the preview of the Van Gogh exhibit to which the public is invited although it is intended primarily for members, is leaving Saturday for the east. He is going to New York to meet his wife and one of their sons when they land from the Normandie Monday after a brief trip to Europe.

Most of the trustees are out of the city so Mr. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan and the Charles H. Worcesters will be about the only ones at the preview.

Mrs. T. Philip Swift went east Saturday to meet her mother, Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt, who arrived Sunday after a record breaking crossing on the Queen Mary. They are returning to Lake Forest tomorrow. Mrs. Hoyt has been abroad since June.

The Junior Howell B. Ermingers and their daughter, Miss Bertha Erminger, also landed in the Queen Mary, but they will not come to Chicago until next month for they are going to Maine.

Frederick A. Stocks Return from Europe.

Dr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Stock arrived last Thursday on the Bremen, but they are not planning to be at home until next month. Mrs. Karl A. Meyer and her schoolgirl daughters, Nancy and Mary, will be at home next week after one of the Normandie's speedy crossings.

Mrs. Edmund J. Doering and her son and daughters, Edmund III., Mrs. George P. Earling [Edna Doering] and Miss Nancy Doering, arrived at home last week-end after a summer in northern Italy. Young Mr. Doer-

Janet Healy to Wed in November

Miss Janet Healy and her fiance, Edward Sanderson Hill, are making plans to be married in November but the date has not been fixed. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Francis Healy of Kenilworth and Mr. Hill is the son of the Frank Farwell Ferrys of Winnetka.

Bits of Veiling Give Glamor to New Hats

BY RHEA SEEGER.

With the town a-bustle with college shops, milling crowds of students and their mothers, the annual August doldrums seem to have vanished. For besides all the school and college loot to be found, and all the irresistible special prices on furs and fur coats to lure the shoppers into town, the first fall hats are also "out."

Neat little numbers of dull black in velvet or felt, rakish little dabs of things for the younger set, flippant affairs to be planted in any manner that best suits the wearer are here to charm and make you spend money.

Good wearable hats to see you through the next sixty days and even longer are priced mercifully low, but the flatterers with brims expertly hung with telling bits of veiling are the winners this week. What a find they are for eyelines that are weary of off-the-face ideas and weeks of summer sunshine.

Next to these veiled beauties are new arrivals with ostrich feather trim. There are clever creations with either a single small feather just over the brim at the side and high hats with bunches of multicolored ostrich tufts sort of erupting from that high altitude crown.

Feathers trim others—long, slanting, rakish, thin feathers in vivid colors. Wings, equally decorative and also in bright high colors, make some pretty exciting hats. And tiny realistic birds are still perched precariously around brims and crowns, birds in wild high colors, such as tangerine, lacker red, tropic green, magenta, and henna.

Unusual hats, the first of the showings that really make and change any costume, are hanging about in profusion.

"No, we don't carry them," the girl replied.

The use of the plural pronoun puzzled the customer, and she inquired the reason. The saleswoman explained that she thought the woman meant she wanted a braid of horsehair for her head.

VAN GOGH note. The correct pronunciation of the name of the great Dutch painter whose paintings are now being exhibited at the Art institute is Van Goch, with a guttural, German, grunting sort of accent, and not the "Van Go" that most persons say when they inquire about the exhibition. John Vennema, consul general of the Netherlands in Chicago, says it is difficult, if not impossible, to say Van Gogh correctly in English, and offers the above instructions as to its pronunciation.

A NUMBER of window shoppers were gathered about the display of one of the State street department stores about 8:30 of a recent evening, obviously fascinated by what they saw. A girl named Anne C. Wilkerson managed to edge her way up to the glass to see what was creating such interest. It was a tiny mouse in one corner of the display space trying to find a way out. One of the women rapped on the glass to see what the mouse would do. He scampered up the leg of a model.

A LITTLE girl in Rogers Park was trying vainly to comfort her 4 year old brother, Spencer, while their mother was away for an hour or two. Finally, after a sudden inspiration she said, "Wouldn't you like to hear your grandmother's voice?" Spencer nodded and beamed in the midst of his tears, and his sister went to the telephone and put in a long distance call for her grandmother in Texas. Both children talked to her, and when their mother, Mrs. Harold Taylor, came home, told her about it with bubbling excitement. Mrs. Taylor found that the call had cost $6.30. When she complained bitterly to the telephone company for having put through a call from a child, the soft voiced official told her that she had, indeed, a bright little girl.

"Well, suppose we split the charges," said Mrs. Taylor after some discussion. "Suppose I pay $3 for my little girl's brightness and the telephone company pays $3 for its stupidity." It was thus arranged.

By Anna Nangle.

The current feature on the Oriental screen is a modest little piece, featuring no sin, as far as I could see, but plenty of suffering.

The story opens in 1900 in the Austrian Tyrol. Christopher Freyman is a church sexton and bell ringer in a small settlement. Deeply religious, he bravely accepts his wife's death at the birth of their second son. He hopes this child will follow his profession and fill the place which some member of the Freyman family has held for over a hundred years.

These hopes are soon blasted when he learns the child has been born deaf. This tragedy only intensifies the bitterness of the battle between the father and his first born, Charles, who refuses to follow in the path set for him, and incurs the ridicule of the staid old village by his belief in aviation.

The clash of the new and old finally separates father and son. Their eventual reunion is achieved but their happiness is brief. A bombardment at the outbreak of the war devours the little home in the mountains, sending into oblivion the good friends who cared for the afflicted child, Gabriel, while father and brother made preparations for an operation for him in America. Christopher's troubles increase with the years.

It's a rather simple, gently sentimental story, accompanied by an attractive musical score and pleasant homely settings. There are times when the sentiment reaches the point of stickiness, but if you'd like, for a change, to see something decidedly different from the usual boy-meets-girl fare, it may entertain you. Older people particularly, who tire of tap-dancing and swing music and gangsters and such—and like a bit of old-fashioned sentimental drama now and then—should enjoy it thoroughly.

Mr. Hersholt gives his rôle a warm and sincere treatment, and Don Ameche, the lad known to Chicago radio fans who has had steady work in Hollywood lately, is pleasing and boyish as the boy who spread his wings in the earliest days of aviation. Other members of the cast are ample to their work, particularly Allen Jenkins as Crusty, who gives a patient, helping hand to a shabby old man in a flophouse.

'Perfect Cavalier' Leaves Actress Bride at Door; She'll Sue

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Violet Carlson, the musical comedy actress, doesn't want a "perfect cavalier" for a husband. She has announced that she was married in Armonk, N. Y., on June 30 to Edmond C. De Courville of Montreal and that she will file an annulment suit this week.

After a four day honeymoon in Atlantic City, she said, De Courville left her. Since then he has sent her flowers and candy and taken her to theaters and night clubs, but always left her at her door, explaining that he is the "perfect cavalier."

If an inexpensive but thoroughly satisfactory face powder is one of the things you've been wishing your fairy godmother would lead you to, you can let her off duty after today. Such a powder has come to light.

Not that it's new; it's been about for rather a long time, but there hasn't been a great deal of fanfare about it. It deserves to be better known. The powder is an ideal texture—and it has special charms for the woman whose makeup wilts, because it's moisture proof. You stay smoothly powdered for a remarkably long time.

This is not a heavy powder, though. It's just feathery enough to film the skin unobtrusively and flatteringly. The shades have a lot to do with its flattering qualities. There are three variations of rachel and one lovely, creamy flesh tone that we like immensely. It's a dandy for the clear skinned woman, be she blonde or brunette.

The fragrance, we're glad to say, is delightful—and that's much more than can be said of most definitly inexpensive powders. All too often the makers of cheaper powders think it's fair to be frugal on the perfume.

With each box of this powder you'll get a clever little dispenser—a cartridge you can fill that releases just enough powder for a good nose powdering job with a little pressure. You can tote this instead of a compact. It holds plenty, is spill proof, and takes a lot of the messiness out of the business of loading up your puff.

Van Gogh Show Renews Ancient Battle of Art

BY MARCIA WINN.

The ancient battle of modernism versus conservatism is due for another round tomorrow when the long awaited exhibition of the works of Vincent Van Gogh, the celebrated Dutch "mad man," opens at the Art institute of Chicago.

This became apparent yesterday when a protagonist of each cause met at a preview. One is white haired Mrs. Frank G. Logan, whose husband is honorary president of the institute. The other is slightly bald Carter H. Harrison, former mayor of Chicago.

Mrs. Logan—of "back to sanity in art" fame—at one time said she would do all in her power to keep the Van Gogh exhibition out of Chicago. The famous modernist was, she said, both mad and immoral.

She lost no time, however, in visiting the exhibit. Seated in a wheel chair, she was taken swiftly around the galleries, pausing now and then to scan some brilliantly hued paintings through her lorgnette.

"What do you think of Van Gogh now?" she was asked as she finished her cursory perusal of the thirty-eight paintings and forty-two drawings.

"Agghhh!" sighed Mrs. Logan, looking delicately away from "Restaurant Interior," "isn't it just too bad?"

Pressed for an explanation of her sighs, she said: "No, I must reserve my comments. I'm putting them all in a book," she said. "My book on sanity in art."

Scores crowded around Van Gogh's crayon drawing, "Dead Woman," an example of foreshortening which has been compared to Mantegna's "The Dead Christ," but Mrs. Logan passed it swiftly by.

"Ohhhhh," she said. "Ohhhhh."

Carter H. Harrison, on the other hand, strode jubilantly from one painting to another. A genial admirer of all that is modern in art, he long has been a contributor to the institute's collection of modernists.

"It's wonderful," he said, pausing before "Haystack in Provence," a painting so filled with "Van Gogh yellow" that it seemed to radiate heat. "I'm crazy about the show ——"

"You like modern art?" he was asked.

"Well, I'm just catholic in my tastes," he responded. "I like everything that's good, everything that isn't bunk—and is this bunk? It is not!"

WEDDING

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Clare E. Merrick to John M. O'Connor Jr., son of Judge and Mrs. John M. O'Connor, which is taking place this afternoon at the church of the Immaculate Conception. A reception will follow at the Ambassador West. Mr. O'Connor and his bride will live in Evanston.

SYNOPSIS.

Shortly after the world war, Roger Mallard, handsome young Englishman, is embittered by the loss of hearing in one ear from a war injury. Mal has been raised by his godfather, William Grimwold, an actor. At a New Year's eve party Mal meets lovely young Pamella Wyeth, though he forgets her on meeting Zelda Maunders, whom he marries a month later. The marriage ends disastrously. In a rage at his failure to make a living on the stage Zelda flings a mirror at Mal and unknowingly destroys the hearing in his other ear. Fourteen years later Mal, under Grimmy's tutelage, has become a great success in pictures, hiding his affliction from his public. Zelda has refused him a divorce. Pamella Wyeth has a home in Pasadena. David Barkley, son of an old friend, boards with her. David invites Ellen Greet, young law stenographer, to a New Year's eve party at the hotel where Mallard lives and asks Pamella along as chaperon. Mal is mourning the sudden death of Grimmy. David, as a joke, has a boy page Ellen with a message that Roger Mallard wants to meet her. Mal, skilful at lip reading, is sitting at the next table. Attracted by Pamella, Mal introduces himself and asks to join their party. David and Ellen desert Pamella. Mal takes her home. There Mal drops on her couch unconscious. Pamella calls Dr. Ware. He says Mal has collapsed from shock and worry, that he mustn't be moved from her house. David is jealous of Ellen's interest in Mal, though Mal is only interested in Pamella.

INSTALMENT XXVI.

NOT A CAREFREE BACHELOR.

Two or three days later Ellen found an envelope addressed to her among the pile of legal mail for Geddes, Hilton and Geddes. She pounced upon it. A black, small and flowing hand thanked dear Miss Greet for her kind note and the book of poems. The writer was also extremely partial to the poems of Francis Thompson. He understood that he was to have the pleasure of seeing her again at Villa Far Niente, at which time he would take the opportunity to thank her in person for her kind thought. In the meanwhile, he remained hers faithfully.

To Ellen the words, "Yours faithfully," took on a depth of meaning.

It was a rainy Sunday. A February rain, falling in its usual thorough and vigorous way.

From the start, Pam had found the day upsetting. It began with the arrival of a special delivery letter for Mr. Mallard, which sent him pacing up and down the rain swept terrace, just when she'd taken pride in his perpetual happy moods.

She beckoned him in.

"What's troubling you?"

"A letter from my friend and boss, Mr. Goldberg," Mal replied as he followed Pam over to the fire. "He's raising hell because I've broken my contract."

She beckoned him in "What's troubling you?"

"Why, Mr. Mallard, I would have thought you the last person to break a contract!"

"I'm through with pictures."

"O, I hope not! What about your public who have been so loyal to you? You've given them nothing but fineness—idealism—all these years. We need that sort of thing more than ever now. We will miss you."

"It is kind of you to say so. That's what Sol is trying to tell me. I can't let you do it, too. It is Grimwold the public are really going to miss. . . . The fact is, I'm a sociable fellow. I love people. I want to be one with them. And I've been pretty damned lonely."

Pam took his arm and led him over to the couch and sat down beside him, facing him squarely.

"Nothing of the kind! I've constantly too many proofs. Take that doctor friend of yours. He's exactly the sort of man I like. Has he asked me to join him at golf, as he would other patients? No. He has come here, and after fulfilling his professional duties, he acts embarrassed as if he didn't know what to say next to a fellow who earns his living painting up his face. . . . And even you, my dear Pamella. After all the blessed hours you've given me of your companionship—why do you go on mistering me? Every time you do it I feel as if you were deliberately pushing me back into my cocoon ——"

"No, Mal, no! I don't mean to ——"

"Then why do you keep holding me off?"

"I don't ——"

"Only very rarely do you let me come close to you! And of all the people I've ever known, you're the one I could draw closest to."

"Part of what you say may be true, Mal. But the biggest part is your own fault. You hold yourself off. For instance, why do you wait to be invited down to dinner—to spend your evenings in the living room with me? Why don't you just come?"

"I—don't want to bore you."

"There! That kind of raw-edged sensitiveness is in reality just too much ego. It's probably helped you with your work. But it has made you suffer and hasn't been good for you, personally. How am I not to know that you stay to yourself because I am boring you? I certainly have shown you plainly enough how happy it makes me to have you coming and going freely in my home like one of the family ——"

"O, Pam, please don't make yourself quite so dear to me!"

"But I want to!" Pam laughed.

"My dear, you are looking at a coward."

"Anything but!"

"Yes. A coward—with a well guarded heart, now nakedly defenseless. . . . Of course, you know, you understand that I'm not—unfortunately—a—a carefree bachelor?"

Pam knew nothing of the kind and, what is more, she didn't want to know it. But she managed a frightened "Yes."

"You're in no danger," Mal went on with humble blindness, "but I am. I've a lot to confess to you about myself, Pam—some day. Not now. I can't spoil this peaceful haven with my scrambled problems—yet a little. When I go—eventually—will be time enough to tell you."

"No!" Pam cried. "No!"

But Mal's eyes were lowered as he stroked the purring cat, which cuddled in his arms with slit-eyed delight.

"Here's one," he said lightly, and buried his hand in Shadow's fur, "who accepts me quite simply as he finds me—just for myself."

"Why don't you have a dog, Mal?" Pam said impulsively. "They're wonderful companions ——"

"I lost my dog not long ago, after twelve years of abject devotion. He was with me constantly. Even slept by my bed. Along with his devotion he had a strange intelligence about me. We were off for a tramp one day in the high Sierras. Suddenly—I'd been mooning along in a way I have—I missed him. It took me a long time to find him. He was caught with a broken back in a trap set for mountain wild cats, and his jaws were stretched in a ghastly way from screaming. But even though I was so long in coming to help him, he died licking my hands. . . . Sometimes, even yet, I hear him screaming in my dreams. . . . No more dogs for me, Pamella. Nor—other important relationships ——"

"O, Mal—don't say that!"

But Mal didn't see her secret. He had looked away from her and Shadow to Bert Glenford who was coming through the doorway from the hall.

"What's this I hear about your quitting on us?"

"Stay with me!" he whispered.

But Pamella had great need of being alone. Before she could accomplish this, however, she learned that Mr. Glenford had been ordered on location out to Honolulu. He, too, had a few things to say about Mal letting them all down.

"Why, Levinsky is crazy to have a go at you, Mal. He says he can do things with you nobody's dreamed of ——"

Spice Is Nice; Keep Plentiful Supply on Hand

BY MARY MEADE.

"Sugar 'n' spice 'n' everything nice—that's what little girls are made of." We'll omit mention of what little boys are said to be made of, since we are primarily interested in spice, and the fact that even in our childhood spice was considered something "nice."

The well stocked cupboard will contain a variety of spices to prevent any last minute rushing to the grocer's to complete a recipe. Especially now, during the pickling season, is it important to have a number of spices on hand.

Glance through this list and see if any spice named is missing from your spice shelf. The list includes all the most used spices, whether for pickles, cakes, or other foods.

Allspice, bay leaf, celery seed, caraway seed [whole and powdered], cloves, cinnamon, black pepper, white pepper, cayenne pepper, paprika, chili powder, curry powder, ginger, nutmeg, mace, sage, turmeric, mustard, and thyme.

To this list we might also add two spice mixtures—pumpkin pie spice and the new assortment of mixed pickling spices which is sold in a spice bag. The pie spice is a mixture of all those spices generally used in pumpkin pie or spice cake—cloves, nutmeg, cinnamon, allspice. And the pickling spices include allspice, anise, black pepper, cardamom seed, celery seed, chili peppers, cinnamon, cloves, coriander, dill seed, laurel leaf, mace, and red and yellow mustard. Quite a collection for one small spice bag! But a collection which you'll be delighted to use not only for pickles but for other spiced foods as well.

A delicious spice cake may be made by using either the prepared pumpkin pie spice assortment or the spices given in this recipe. In case you use the spice mixture, substitute as much as the total amount of spice in the recipe. In this case you would use three teaspoons of the spice mixture.

SPICE CAKE.

1½ cups brown sugar
4 egg yolks
3 cups cake flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup milk

Cream the shortening well and add the sugar. Mix until light and fluffy. Add the egg yolks which have been beaten until thick. Sift the flour once before measuring, add the spices, baking powder, and salt, and sift all together three times. Add the flour mixture alternately with the milk, beating well after each addition. Bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees]. Frost with a butter frosting, mocha or chocolate wonder frosting. [Recipes for these frostings were printed recently, but if you haven't them, write to this department and they will be sent to you upon receipt of a stamped, addressed envelope.]

The use of margarine or a vegetable shortening is recommended for cakes since the price of butter is so high now.

It is better in baking any butter cake to grease only the bottom of your pan. Thus the sides of the pan will not be too slippery to prevent the rising batter from "climbing up." You'll find that your cake will rise higher if you leave the sides of the pan ungreased.

Aunt Patsy's Pet.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Aunt Patsy's Pet" has an interesting background which dates back to civil war days, when it was known variously as the "Federal Chain" or "Love Chain," the change in the pattern from the original civil war quilts is in the size of the squares and the number in the quarter section of each block. Typical of all old patterns, it has acquired three names, and the reason for each of the names is obscure. Red and white has been the favorite color scheme since the block was first designed.

League for Peace.

The Chicago branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom will hold its annual dinner in observance of the signing of the Kellogg-Briand pact next Thursday at International house, 1414 East 59th street. Harry D. Gidesonse of the University of Chicago faculty, will speak on "Reflections on Returning from Europe."

YES, THIS FOOD ENDS YOUR CONSTIPATION

Look out for those half-sick days, when you feel listless, headachy, out-of-sorts. Your trouble may be constipation. The real cause of common constipation is too little "bulk" in meals. Your system misses its regular exercise.

Get this needed "bulk" in a delicious cereal: Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Within the body, its "bulk" absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, gently sponges out the system.

Why keep on feeling bad when you can feel good? Millions of people use ALL-BRAN. Tests prove it's safe and effective. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Try it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Serve as a cereal, with milk or cream, or cook into recipes. Remember, ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

Certainly you'd rather eat a food than take pills and drugs. Buy ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Mrs. Frederick A. Poole Jr. went east Saturday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks, at the Wianno club. Mr. Poole will join them next week-end for a fortnight before returning home with Mrs. Poole.

The Clarence Randalls and the Rollin D. Woods have made plans to introduce their daughters—both of whom are named Mary—at a tea during the Christmas holidays, probably at the Woods' handsome Winnetka home. Mrs. Randall and Miss Mary Randall recently returned from Europe, where they spent the summer, and Mrs. Wood and her Mary have returned to the north shore from a ranch out west.

Cradle Scene of Party for Two Physicians.

A dinner party at The Cradle in Evanston is a rare event. Although luncheon is served there every day for the benefit of the nursery, only the babies and their nurses have an evening meal in the several houses that constitute The Cradle. Last night, however, there was a dinner party there with about forty guests, for the directors were entertaining for Dr. Trevor Stamp of London, England, and Dr. Charles G. Kerley of New York, one of the outstanding pediatricians of this country.

Preceding dinner Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bosworth, whose daughter, Frances, is Dr. Stamp's wife and whom the Stamps are visiting, gave a cocktail party for the dinner guests. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Dawes, Dr. and Mrs. Horace J. Bridges, Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Fenton, the Lucius A. Crowells, the Michael F. Gallaghers, and the Carleton Wilsons.

The bridge players of the Lake Geneva summer colony will assemble at the Country club this afternoon at 2 o'clock standard time to play cards for the benefit of Holiday home. The board of managers of the Lake Geneva Fresh Air association is sponsoring the party with Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr. as chairman of the committee.

Mrs. Augustus K. Maxwell is opening her home at Lake Geneva tomorrow afternoon for a meeting of the Garden club at which G. William Longenecker will give an illustrated talk on the University of Wisconsin arboretum. Members of the Williams Bay Garden club and the Town and Country Garden club have been invited.

Violent Temper Often Phase of Child's Growth

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Yesterday we were talking about violent expressions of emotion in children and how, to a certain extent, they are to be expected. It is natural for a child to show his feelings. In time he learns to meet situations without such an intense emotional response.

Yet we must recognize the fact that he changes and his world changes, and not expect too much. The small child may cry and stamp with anger, but outgrow this phase by the time he is 4 or 5. We then think emotional stability has been achieved.

But when he's 10 or so, radical environmental or physical changes may come into his life, misunderstandings may spring up against which he cannot adjust himself, and we again see flares of temper and outbursts of rebellion.

Don't regard these things as serious, permanent character defects that will mar the young man or woman to be.

In these older children such expression of emotion usually has a more subtle origin. It is well, if you can't see a simple explanation for it, to look beneath the surface.

This subject will be continued tomorrow.

In the meantime you may be interested in a full discussion of this age. If so, write for our booklet, "Living with our In-Betweens—the Children from 6 to 12," and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

The Stage

An adaptation of Shakespeare's "Macbeth with an all-Negro cast will begin performances in the Great Northern theater next Monday night. This is a WPA production from New York which is being sent on tour under Federal theater auspices. It has been acted in Harlem and on Broadway. The story of Shakespeare's drama has been adapted into a tale of voodooism among the Negroes of Haiti, under the direction of Orson Welles.

The run of George White's "Scandals" at the Grand Opera house has been extended until Sept. 12. The earlier intention was to bring this prosperous summer engagement to a halt next Saturday night.

Theater Arts, Inc., an organization for the fostering of stage talent in Chicago, will make its début with a program in Kimball hall next Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. Mary Francis and Michael Kazdan will appear on a bill which contains fourteen brief character studies in various dramatic moods. The program has been arranged by Peter J. Koessler, author of the sketches, who will function in the performance as "the spirit of the playwright."

Sunday ove, who has been acting one of the central roles in "The Old Maid" at the Chicago theater—better know as the Woman's club theater—for the last ten weeks, will be succeeded next week by Francelia Waterbury. The latter has made professional appearances here in "The Connecticut Yankee" and "Samson and Delilah" with Jacob Ben-Ami.

GIRL'S PRINCESS FROCK.

The sub-sub-deb wardrobe problem is an important one at the present time, since the return of school days is not far away. Smart, yet practical, clothes are the major consideration for girls up to 14 years of age. Youngsters are style conscious and wish always to appear smartly dressed, but garments must be designed for comfort and wearability, too. The princess frock illustrated today should please the taste of both mother and daughter. It has a pert collar, adorable Gibson Girl sleeves, which may be either long or short. There are two saucy little pockets in the bodice at either side of the front princess panel and a row of buttons is set primly down the front, all the way to the plaits, which are attractively clustered.

The original of this dress is fashioned of navy blue poplin. The trimming is white braid and matches the buttons. This is a lovely choice for the first days of autumn.

Style No. 2903 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2⅝ yards of 39 inch material with 2⅝ yards of binding.

Movie Revives Calamity Jane and Old West

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—None will gainsay C. B. De Mille's knack of wrapping up highlights from some chapter of history and presenting them around some feminine characterization. Never was De Mille's choice of heroine a mute or inglorious female. He presented Cleopatra, Carmen, Poppæa Sabina, Salome, Queen Berengaria, Pharaoh's daughter, all as central film characters, plucked from pages of the past and each personifying a type or a time. Now comes "the old master" to present Martha Jane Canary as his latest such lively heroine.

By dint of a robust personality, a strong voice, a brace of six shooters, and an unwillingness to be second in anything Miss Canary achieved a high rank among immortals of the American west.

The lady who bore the name became a legend at once. As far as De Mille is concerned the drama [meaning the screen] has need of poetic license and makes judicious use of it. Calamity Jane made her bow in history when she rode with Wild Bill Hickok into Deadwood in 1876 driving the stage, her beauty and swagger dazzling beholders like a stroke of lightning.

If her autobiography is to be believed, she swam the Platte river in an effort to reach Custer with dispatches, but was stricken with pneumonia, and that saved her from being the only woman victim in the massacre of the Little Big Horn.

De Mille, with Courtney Ryley Cooper and Harold Lamb, the historians, as his eyes and advisers, read everything on Calamity Jane. They conferred with all the old-timers available and tried to believe it true that she it was who killed Crazy Horse, helped Hickok clean up Abilene, had a belt at home with forty Sioux scalps to it, shot the road agents who held up the Cheyenne stage after killing the driver and picked up the reins and drove into town clean as a whistle.

They eliminated most of the leg ends, found enough that was true and thinking it a pity for such a celebrity to go to waste, wrote her into "The Plainsman" with Jean Arthur yellowing her hair to play the rôle.

Bob Burns, the bazooka playing Arkansas comedian, is to be turned into a film star with new contracts written in his favor at Paramount studio, and a new story, "Mountain Music," bought by his employers from MacKinlay Kantor as a special vehicle. Burns will draw something like $4,000 a week for his contract, a neat raise for a fellow who was doing entertaining at banquets for $25 a night little more than a year ago.

Daughter Chief Bidder at John Gilbert Sale

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 24.—(AP)—The treasured possessions and useless doodads of the late John Gilbert went on the auction block today and the most spirited bidder was the actor's daughter, Leatrice Joy Gilbert, 11.

Leatrice did pretty well, too, with the aid of impromptu advisers who coached her to exercise restraint and time her bids.

The daughter of the one-time screen lover's second wife obtained Gilbert's makeup box for $14.50. She also got a cameo bracelet for $16, a couple of books, two miniatures and a small etching for $6.50.

"I wanted it because mother gave it to daddy," she said. "I'm so happy."

She engaged in a battle with an old friend of her father's for a chess set. The customers who jammed the place did not know the old friend used to play chess with Gilbert. They hissed him as a villain and applauded Leatrice when the set went to her for $47.

The auction, expected to last four days, was opened in a vacant store. Gilbert, his friends said, rarely threw anything away and an amazing collection of miscellany was offered. There were about 2,000 items.

The crowd was composed mainly of women. Few cinema notables were there. Ben Bali, director of the sale, said most of the prospective buyers were tourists. He was pleased about that, for it meant amazing prices for useless articles.

The real treasures of the conglomeration, valuable intrinsically for their insignificance, will bring out Hollywood buyers, he said.

As customary with sales of notables' effects, there was little reason to the prices put on the articles.

The leaf of a rare old Bible, with a market price of about $300, went for $150 to Clarence Brown, director of some of Gilbert's outstanding silent screen pictures.

Brown also obtained an $850 set of light fixtures for $120. Two marine oil paintings went for $120 and $210, respectively.

A tan polo coat, little worn, for which Gilbert paid $250, was sold for $51. A suit, which the auctioneer explained cost $100, went for $22. A woman bought it.

For no apparent reason, a three-way contest developed over an antiquated, almost valueless dictionary. The successful bid was $18.

Being Methodical in Beauty Care Is Key to Loveliness

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It would be grand to be one of those methodical people whose every day sees achieved the things that should be done; the salon appointment kept regularly; the morning and night rites attended without fail; the daily menu regulated to dispose of a problem of overweight. Some folks are like that and thereby reduce their beauty problems to nil. Their appearance presents a pleasing, even tenor. But we fear that a much larger proportion of women is the periodic attackers. Fits-and-starters! They spring surprises every now and then on their friends with a bright, new appearance.

Maybe there's fun, too, in being that kind of person. Anyway, that's how they are and probably always will be. One day looking merely so-so, or maybe less than that. Another day blossoming out like some new flower with all the care, taste, and effects of a stunner. A new outfit, manicure, well dressed hair, smart chapeau, etc., and the air of assurance of being all "in the picture" to support them.

Well, anyway, for these spasmodic beauty builders we have a little story about a woman who wrote on her calendar, June 5: "By September 5 I'll be different!" She was. Weight down. Skin clear. Eyes bright. Hair polished, and a new, smart carriage achieved by means of good posture exercises.

The hint is to jot down on calendar or pad a day ahead from this. Say six weeks from now to get in on the early fall shopping days with a new self appraisal. We have referred before to that sickening drop in one's self esteem on a clothes buying day when one hasn't been taking care of skin, figure, hair, etc. You can lick it this year if you swear by your calendar that six weeks from today you'll be a new woman.

In six weeks of consistent daily devotion to the beauty cause a woman really can do wonders with herself. Get pounds off. Get the skin clearer, the eyes brighter, the hair given the groomed, brushed appearance. With six weeks of stretching exercises, you can pull yourself up into a much, much younger looking girl. But you must swear to a solemn oath that you're not just jotting a number down on your pad for fun! You're out to conquer, so-help-me-Sadie, and conquer you will!

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

SCORING AND THE OBJECTS OF SCIENTIFIC BIDDING.

In bridge the bids are measured with tricks, but paid for in points. Points are, therefore, the stakes for which we play in bridge and the final criterion of bidding strategy and methods.

The bid that will achieve the greatest number of points is the best final bid. It does not matter whether those points are obtained by scoring game or rubber at one's own bid, or by scoring an equivalent penalty against the opponents. In fact, it is preferable, as a rule, to take the penalty rather than a game or rubber, even when the expected penalty is slightly below the value of the game.

When the opponents have entered the bidding the question of what bid in the partnership hands is the best depends entirely upon what the opponents could score at their own declaration. Your best contract, for instance, easily may be a sacrifice of 500 points if by so doing you can compel the opponents to give up their vulnerable game. The yardstick, therefore, by which the partnership's expected gain or loss is measured is the point value of the contract which you can make, or the contract which the opponents can make against you. If you can score 120 points for making four spades, and the game which you can win is worth 300 points, your total gain at your own bid will be 420 points. If, instead of bidding, you double the opponents and defeat them 300 points, you have lost 120 points. If you defeat them 500 points you have gained 80 points, for at your own bid you could have made only 420 points.

TODAY'S HAND.

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 club	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
4 clubs	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	6 clubs	Pass
Pass	Pass

North's two no trump response to the club bid was slightly shaded, but probably the best bid considering he first had passed.

West opened his fourth highest diamond; South won and laid down the king of clubs. When the bad news was revealed that West had all four of the missing clubs, including a sure trick in the suit, the hand, which had appeared at first glance to be a lay-down, took on a different complexion. It was obvious that a club and a spade had to be lost unless the enemy would rush to the rescue.

In order to hide from West the fact that he could not expect a trick in either diamonds or hearts declarer laid down the spade king and then followed with a low spade up to dummy. West promptly made a horrible play. He ruffed in. After that there was nothing to it. Declarer ruffed the diamond return, drew trumps, and spread his cards.

West knew that he had a sure trump trick. Whether or not declarer had a losing spade he could not know, but certainly there was nothing to be gained by ruffing second hand and allowing dummy to follow with a low spade which might well be taken by East. Thus West's play was a clear cut example of "everything to lose and nothing to gain."

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Answer: Yes, it is a shutout bid.

MAN! YOU CAN'T BEAT HUSKIES FOR FLAVOR!

SAYS Francis Schmidt
noted football coach at Ohio State University

What makes HUSKIES so rich in food-energy?

HERE'S the answer. They are made of whole wheat with whole wheat's goodness toasted into every flake! HUSKIES give you: Iron for blood. Phosphorus and other valuable mineral salts for strong bones and teeth. Carbohydrates for food-energy. Protein to help build muscle. And Vitamins A, B, E and G—important to good nutrition.

At breakfast, lunch, or for that mid-afternoon "snack," HUSKIES sure "go" great! Ask your grocer for HUSKIES.

HELEN HICKS, famous woman golfer, writes: "I sure like HUSKIES... they're so different and so good...and, HUSKIES being made of whole wheat, they have a lot of food value!"

FIND $500,000 HOARD OF CLARK STREET HERMIT

Money Hidden in Rooms and Bank Boxes.

story about him was that he had become more or less of a hermit after the death of his wife and infant daughter many years ago. Why he refused to allow the store on the first floor, or the two floors above his living quarters to be rented, they didn't know. This became apparent when the money was found among his newspaper files.

Husband of Britten Heiress.

Information about his wife and family was meager until it was learned his wife's maiden name had been Elizabeth Britten, that she was the daughter of the late Peter Britten, a prominent and wealthy commission merchant, and that she was a cousin to former Congressman Fred A. Britten.

Mrs. Peter F. Reynolds, 1500 Lake Shore drive, a sister of Mrs. Welge, said Mrs. Welge had inherited $500,000 from their father. The money went to Welge upon her death, said Mrs. Reynolds, who is the wife of the head of a real estate company.

It had been reported that Welge and four brothers had been in the milk delivery business on the near north side forty or fifty years ago, and those who knew him assumed that he had made money in that way and invested it wisely. In later years it was recalled that he was supposedly in the insurance business. But Mrs. Reynolds said that as far as she knew her brother-in-law never engaged in any business after his marriage.

Wife Ends Own Life.

Mrs. Welge took her own life in 1930, while despondent over ill health. She had separated from her husband many years before and was living with a cousin, Mrs. Charles F. Hartmann, at 4219 North Leavitt street.

Mrs. Reynolds said she believes the Welges were married when Elizabeth was about 20 and Welge about 21. According to her reckoning the couple had been married forty-one years at the time of Mrs. Welge's death. Mrs. Reynolds was much younger than her sister.

A preliminary search for Welge's heirs to be listed in the probate court records, revealed that all his brothers are dead, none of them leaving any children. The last to die was Rudolph, named in the will.

Rudolph Welge was to have been the chief beneficiary of the estate. He was to get what money he needed from it during his life. In the event of his death prior to that of the hermit, Albert, the will specified the estate should be divided equally among eleven first cousins, whom he named and the janitor, Pohl. The other heirs were named as follows:

Three of Heirs are Dead.

The will was in Welge's own handwriting. It was explained yesterday that according to the will as drawn, it was intended that each of the heirs, Pohl included, should receive one-twelfth of the estate. As at least three of those named are dead, however, it was said that those remaining will receive at least one-ninth.

H. J. Heide, 4031 North Paulina street, retired, said he was one of the heirs. He said his brother, Willie, is dead but that his sister, Elizabeth Heide Press, 6346 Glenwood avenue, is living.

A daughter of Edward Heinze, who lives at 733 West Waveland avenue, said her father died in 1932, about the time the will was made, and it was her understanding then that his children would not inherit the share of the estate allotted to him. She said Fred Heinze also is dead but that George Heinze and Louise Heinze Mathews are alive.

SHAKESPEARE, CRAYNE SHOW PUNTING SKILL

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Larry Lutz, University of California tackle, and Frank [Butch] Loebs, Purdue end, featured the All-American tackling drill yesterday afternoon at Dyche stadium as the All-Stars continued preparations for the battle with the Detroit Lions at Soldiers' field one week from tonight. It was no ordinary tackling session in which Lutz and Loebs won their honors. The coaches put the squad to work on the grass carpeted gridiron of the stadium and had the boys tackle their ball carrying teammates.

BUTCH LOEBS.

Lutz Stops Berwanger.

Equally efficient were Keith Topping, the slender, dark haired end from Stanford, and Wayne Millner of Notre Dame, who will pair with the Stanford star at the start of the game against the Lions. Lutz's defensive work, however, was brilliant. The California tackle demonstrated Saturday in the intra-squad game, that he can get down field as fast as any end. Several times he reached the ball carrier before either end since the wingmen were bothered by blockers. Lutz's first tackle on Jay Berwanger, which halted the Chicago ace in his tracks, was as scientific as any slow motion demonstration of the art.

The runners yesterday were handicapped by the long grass and had difficulty changing direction as rapidly as they will on the closely cut stadium sod, but all gave a fine account. Tuffy Leemans, as usual, was a thorn to the linemen and Bobby Wilson skipped around the heavier linemen who couldn't grab the fleet Southern Methodist back when he cut to the side lines.

Hold Scrimmage Tonight.

"I've seen Clark play," Tangora told his mates. "Clark can run and he can dodge, but he isn't a Leemans. Tuffy has more stuff and any way we Washington boys must stick together."

The tackling drill yesterday rounded out a double session, the last of the campaign to prepare the college boys for the veteran professionals. From now on the All-Americans will work in uniform only once a day. The squad will not report again until tonight when a scrimmage is scheduled under the arc lights of the enclosed field. No one will be admitted.

Wagner Jorgensen, giant St. Mary's center, may be lost to the All-Star squad, it was learned yesterday. Jorgensen received a kick in the groin in scrimmage last week but failed to report the injury. Increased pain yesterday prevented him from drilling and he was to report to Evanston hospital today for treatment. He will be absent from practice for at least four days.

The players went back to work yes-

CLEVELAND GIVES JESSE OWENS BIG WELCOME TODAY

Cleveland, O., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Cleveland was all set tonight for the return of Jesse Owens, Olympic sprint champion, with a welcome fifteen miles long.

Owens, who took three first places and was a member of a winning relay team in the games at Berlin, will be in the hands of welcomers for at least four hours tomorrow—from the time he steps off a New York train until he is given the city's official greeting at the city hall.

He will be met by the official welcoming committee at the train in East Cleveland with his father, mother, wife, and other members of a reception committee which went to New York to meet him on his return. A band will be on hand there for a brief salutation.

He'll Visit Exposition.

Owens and his party will then drive down Euclid avenue so that Clevelanders may get a look at the returning champion. The parade is scheduled to last two hours.

Shortly before noon he will be escorted to the grounds of the Great Lakes exposition, where there will be more bands and crowds to greet him.

After his appearance at the exposition Owens will go to the city hall where a civic reception will be held. The city will present him a gold watch as a permanent reminder of his achievements.

NEW YORK GREETS OWENS.

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Jesse Owens, hero of the Berlin Olympic games, came back from his foreign triumphs today aboard the Queen Mary to receive a tumultuous reception.

Owens announced he had no definite plans, except a desire to return to Ohio State and win his diploma.

But he admitted he was beset by many problems. He has received a dozen offers, the best of them a $40,000 bid from Eddie Cantor, and unless he cashes in on his fame immediately it may be too late.

Would Like Orchestra Work.

It is doubtful whether Owens could go on the stage and otherwise capitalize his triumphs in Berlin without losing his amateur status. He declared he had no plans at the moment other than playing in an orchestra. He said he would be guided by the counsel of Bill Robinson, tap dancer and his friend of long standing.

The colored athlete, who captured four gold medals in the Olympics, said he didn't think Reichsfuehrer Hitler snubbed him. He also said he thought Avery Brundage of the American Olympics committee was a fine man.

SOX WIN THIRD IN A ROW FROM TIGERS, 8 TO 4

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 24.—The White Sox were bubbling over with vigor again today and before hustling out of town ripped another piece from the hides of the champion Tigers. The Chicagoans knocked Tommy Bridges, the local curving ace, out of service and then subjected Vic Sorrell to some rough treatment which culminated in the third straight triumph for Jim Dykes' nonchalant mischief makers. The score was 8 to 4, lifting the Hose to a half game from third place.

While the Sox were engaged in mauling the enemy pitchers and the Tigers were performing some fielding stunts thoroughly displeasing to 9,500 partisans, Ted Lyons was engaged in turning out an exhibition of more or less class. He was uncertain as to how to progress during the first four innings, once losing a three run lead and once going in arrears by one run. But the old boy got his second wind after the fourth and permitted only one single, an infield affair, in the five concluding innings.

Sewell Big Help.

Lyons' chief assistant in the matter of his No. 8 victory of the season was his battery mate, Luke Sewell. Sewell started a busy day at bat with a homer which gave the Sox one of three runs scored in the first two innings. In the third Sewell singled, but without profit. He singled in the fifth and this time drove in a run needed to tie the score at 4 apiece. And in the seventh when the Sox went ahead to stay Sewell singled for the third time, accounting for half of the two run rally. Two more runs were registered against Sorrell in the eighth, mainly because the Tigers fell apart.

Radcliff and Rosenthal were retired in the first inning before the Sox went to work on a rally which netted one run. Kreevich launched the move with a single to center. Bonura singled to left, Kreevich going to third and Bonura taking second on the throw in. Bridges didn't hesitate about giving an intentional pass to Appling, loading the bases. Bridges then curved over two strikes on Piet, but suddenly lost his bearings. He then threw four wide of the plate, Piet walking and Kreevich scoring. Dykes' fly to Simmons retired the side.

Appling Spoils Rally.

One-half of the two runs scored by the Chicagoans in the second was Sewell's home run over the left field fence at the start of the inning. After

St. Louis Is Swamped, 17 to 5, as Pirates Collect 25 Hits

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 24.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, battering four pitchers for twenty-five hits, today whipped the St. Louis Cardinals, 17 to 5, and enabled the idle New York Giants to tie for first place in the National league.

After being held scoreless in the first two innings, the Pirates tallied in each of their subsequent times at bat, driving Paul Dean from the mound in the fourth and continuing their assault against Ed Heusser, George Earnshaw, and Flint Rhem. Dean, making his first start since July 4, seemed rid of his shoulder ailment in the early innings. The Pirates scored twice against him in the third, largely because of his own wild throw, but the Cards drove Ralph Birkhofer off the mound in their half to give Paul a 5 to 2 margin.

Brown Holds Cards.

Mace Brown then came in to hold the Red Birds to two hits and no runs during the remainder of the game, while his teammates ran wild at bat. Dean wilted in the third and then, in turn, Heusser, Earnshaw, and Rhem felt the vigor of the Pirate bats. Three Cardinal double plays kept the Pirates from running their score higher.

Besides dropping the Cards into a tie with the Giants, the loss reduced their lead over the Cubs to 3½ games. The Giants have gained ten games since mid July when they were in fifth place.

Martin Replaces Frisch.

Manager Frank Frisch left second base in the fourth inning when he pulled a ligament in his right leg. Rookie Stuart Martin, who played sensationally until he became ill early in July, broke into the lineup again and may be at second tomorrow.

The 25 hit lambasting looked especially ominous to the Cardinal cause with Dizzy Dean suffering stomach trouble and Leroy Parmelee complaining, like Paul Dean, of a sore arm.

Three of the Cardinals' eight hits were made by Joe Medwick who celebrated his last day as a bachelor by taking over the National league lead from his teammate, Johnny Mize, who had one for four. Score:

U. S. ATHLETES WIN SIX EVENTS AGAINST FINNS

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Aug. 24.—(AP)—American track and field stars won six of eight events in a meet with Finnish Olympic stars today.

The feature was the victory of Archie San Romani of Kansas over Volmar Iso-Hollo, Olympic steeplechase champion, in the 1,500 meters. San Romani ran the metric mile in 3:51.3, pulling away in the stretch.

Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette's colored speedster, won both of the sprints. He captured the 100 meter dash in 10.3. He stepped the 200 meters in 21.2 to beat Archie Williams of the University of California, who was clocked in 21.6.

Williams won the 400 meter race in 47.9. Gordon Dunn, the Olympic discus champion from the San Francisco Olympic club, won the discus throw with 152 feet 27-32 inches. Bill Graber of the University of Southern California, won the pole vault at 13 feet 5-32 inches.

The shot put went to Olavi Soumela of Finland with a throw of 48 feet 5 58-64 inches. Dunn placed second with 48 feet.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cincinnati Reds, who have been honing for another fist fight ever since the one they had here in April, were accommodated yesterday and the excitement so perturbed them that they blew up immediately thereafter, thus enabling the Cubs to take the final of the series, 2 to 1, in the tenth inning.

AUGIE GALAN.

The fisticuffs, between Bill Jurges and Gilly Campbell, were of the very best and roughest slugging type. The mêlée was completely untainted by wrestling and other wasteful energy of the kind that frequently mars bouts on baseball fields.

Reds Run Out of Catchers.

Jurges and Campbell, of course, were bounced forthwith and that left the Reds without a regular catcher. But the fact that Hub Walker, an outfielder, had to don bosom protector and mask had nothing to do with the collapse in which the Reds made two glaring infield errors in the tenth to set the stage for a single by Augie Galan which ended the afternoon's entertainment.

The game up to the exciting windup was a peach of a duel between two fine pitchers, Lon Warneke and Gene Schott, both of whom had been courageous in severe jams.

The Reds broke a scoreless tie in the seventh when Galan misjudged a fly and let it go for a triple. But don't think harshly of Augie until you know how he made amends.

Herman, Walker Confused.

With two out in the eighth Stan Hack singled, then Galan, pitifully docile in his first three trips to the plate, sent a terrific smash toward left center. The force of the shot panicked Babe Herman and Walker and they let the ball get away as they struggled to avoid a collision.

The 1 to 1 tie prevailed through the ninth. Then came the fisticuffs in the tenth. Schott had reached first at the start of the tenth when Hack, a green hand at first, wandered into the infield, leaving Warneke no one to whom he might throw Schott's bouncer. Campbell sought to sacrifice and forced Schott. Then Goodman bounced to Bill Herman, who threw to Jurges to get Campbell. Jurges didn't like the way Campbell showed his spikes in the maneuver and the fight started. When the game resumed Goodman was out stealing.

This set the stage for the blowup which gave the Cubs the game and series, the second series, incidentally, which they have won since they were in Brooklyn more than a month ago.

Scarsella Drops Throw.

Bill Herman fanned to start the home tenth. Demaree, trying to get away from one of Schott's pitches, got his bat in front of the ball and it bounced toward Kampouris. Kampouris made a great play on the ball, but after Demaree had been called out, Scarsella dropped Kampouris' throw and the decision was reversed, placing Frankie on first. Hack then bounced a double play ball to Kampouris, but Alex, obviously in a flurry of excitement and chagrin over

TWO TIE WITH 79 FOR WOMEN'S WESTERN MEDAL

Marion Miley and Miss Gustafson Lead Field.

34 Score 88 or Better.

Playing in terrific heat over the well watered, spongy country club course, 34 scored 88 or better. Marian McDougall of Portland, Ore., and Hilda Livengood of Chicago, won the last two places in a playoff with Emma Schalley of Port Point, Mich., and Mrs. E. F. Batdorf of South Bend.

With a few notable exceptions such as Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, three times the champion, Mrs. Gregg Lifur of Los Angeles, Mrs. Russell Mann of Chicago, the former Des Moines star, it was largely "kid's day."

The last four western junior champions, including the present title holder, Edith Estabrook, of Dubuque, Ia.; who had an 87, and Shirley Ann Johnson, with an 86, all qualified as did Patty Stephenson of Minneapolis, Eva Sharb, 18 year old entry from Massillon, O., and half a score more of teen age.

Mrs. Mida Eliminated.

Among the missing at the end of the first days firing were Mrs. Lee Mida of Chicago, who could do no better than 91, Edna Saenger of Shreveport, who had a 90 today and Mary K. Browne, who scratched her entry at the last minute.

U. S. Amateur Golf Finals to Be Held Today

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

One hundred and five golfers will play 36 holes today at the Skokie Country club. It will be more than the mere coursing of those 36 holes, however, for, instead of the customary passel of shaving kits and paring knives, the prize list will include sixteen places in the national amateur championship at the Garden City Golf club, Garden City, N. Y., beginning on Sept. 14 and continuing through Sept. 19.

Once upon a time the search for those places meant a rendezvous with a boy from Atlanta by the name of Robert T. Jones Jr. Mr. Jones resigned some six years ago, and there was a wild scramble thereafter for the power of succession. The first year after the emperor's abdication, one of the old school boys, Francis Ouimet, took it away seventeen years to the day after he had first won it, Sept. 5, 1914.

The following year a boy from the other side of the tracks, Johnny Goodman of Omaha—was omitted from the American Walker cup team, to the ultimate embarrassment of its members. Johnny dusted off half of the team before losing the title match to the second foreigner to win the amateur, C. Ross Somerville of London, Ont.

Two Already Eligible.

Following year, Georgie Dunlap, the taffy haired Princeton lad who had been suspected of winning the amateur for some time finally came through. In that same show that George stole was a broad shouldered boy by the name of W. Lawson Little Jr. For the succeeding two years Lawson, by the teaching grace of Tommy Armour, not only won the tournament two years in a row, but carried the British amateur of each season along with him.

Today's struggle brings together the ablest amateurs in our town. Two of them already have gained admittance to the tournament proper. One is Chick Evans of Edgewater, eligible automatically by reason of having won the title before. The other is Win Day of Elmhurst, who qualified a few days ago in one of the two earlier qualifying rounds at Los Angeles.

Chicago Stars to Play.

Neither Evans nor Day, of course, shall have to toil today, but the other 105 must go through the 36 hole travail with a purpose. With them will be twenty-six other centers battling for the thousand and more places in the big show at Garden City. Chicago ranks second only to the New York district, where 206 will be striving for 31 places.

Among those who will make their bid today at Skokie are Johnny Lehman of Olympia Fields, who is playing his best golf in six years, and demonstrated same by winning the district amateur; Dick Martin of Butterfield and George Dawson of Glen Oak, both former holders of the district crown; Wilbur Kokes of Butterfield, winner of the Illinois title; Johnny Krutilla of Calumt, runnerup in the city amateur; Bill Lain of Beverly, twice winner of the Chicago district medal in qualifying rounds for the amateur; Jack Westland, former Walker cup player who was second only to Francis Ouimet in the 1931 national amateur, and Harold Mathisen, twice city champion.

Forty Year Old Student Out for Football Team

Berkeley, Cal., Aug. 24.—(AP)—After 20 years, William Loane West, 40, returned today from Atlanta, Ga., and said he would try for a tackle position with the University of California football team.

He enrolled as a junior student and said he would sign up for football tomorrow.

"If this guy wants to come out for the team it's fine with me," said Coach Leonard [Stub] Allison. "I'll treat him just like the other kids on my team. The best man gets first string position. Forty is rather old to play, but some of the pros are about that old and still plenty tough."

Hoff's 115 Wins Caddy Tournament

Art Hoff of Butterfield won the Chicago district caddie championship with 76—39—115 for 27 holes over the Park Ridge course yesterday. The ten low caddies in the regular 18 holes played off for the individual award. Herman Scharlau of Medinah and Louis Esposito of Twin Orchards tied at 119 for the runnerup position.

In the team race Brookwood and Beverly tied with 329. Brookwood's team was composed of Edward Mauter, 75; Walter Mauter, 77; Werner Marquardt, 87; Henry Marquardt, 90—329. Beverly was represented by Frank Schnabl, 80; William Koranda, 80; Walter Koranda, 84; Joe Conrad, 85—329. The date for the playoff will be decided later by the Chicago District Golf association.

Indian Hill, 345; Midlothian, 346; Park Ridge, 348; Flossmoor, 348; Medinah, 354; Ridgemoor, 354; Twin Orchards, 355; Illinois, 355; Butterfield, 359; Edgewater, 359; Edgewood Valley, 360; Westward Ho, 360; Nordic, 361; Lincolnshire, 361; Glen Flora, 361; Hinsdale, 363; Calumet, 363; Knollwood, 363; Oak Park, 364; Glen Oak, 365; Onwentsia, 365; La Grange, 367; Ridge, 367; Kilder, 367; Elmhurst, 367; Bunker Hill, 368; Bryn Mawr, 372; Sunset Ridge, 376; Ravisloe, 378; North Shore, 378; Idlewild, 380; Riverside, 381; Lake Shore, 383; Exmoor, 386; Glen View, 393; Evanston, 402, and Westmoreland, 405.

G. W. PHILLIPS IS SUSPENDED ON DOPING CHARGES

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 24.—(AP)—George W. Phillips, trainer for DeWitt Page's Maemere farm and for other owners, was given an indefinite suspension by the New York state racing commission today on a charge of stimulating the horse Maeriel, which won the Catskill handicap here last Wednesday.

The commissioners announced that a saliva test of the horse, taken after the race, revealed the presence of a drug, and while Phillips denied all knowledge of the drugging, the commissioners, Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman, John Sloan, and John Hay Whitney, decided the evidence of the test was sufficient to warant the suspension.

BLACK BASS ARE READY FOR FIGHT IN DOOR COUNTY

Strawberry Islands Great Spot in Wisconsin.

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Door County, Wis., Aug. 24.—The black bass that live up here in the cool waters of Lake Michigan are loafing around the rocky reefs ready for some obliging fisherman to come along and start something. At least we found them ready for business the other day when we unlimbered our tackle around the Strawberry Islands, a group of small, rock-bound isles lying close to the west shore of Green bay between Fish creek and Ephraim. We enjoyed what one of the boys called a "regular old fashioned strawberry festival" among the Strawberry Islands when the beautifully marked small mouth bass started to hit.

Fishermen who have been accustomed to going after bass in small inland lakes or rivers are bound to find the small mouth fishing up here novel as far as conditions, character of the water and methods of fishing are concerned. The small mouths are living in the waters of Green bay which is, of course, a part of Lake Michigan. They like to spend their time around the rocky reefs.

Peninsula Is Attractive.

This is a limestone country, a fact that makes the whole peninsula attractive with miles of beautiful shoreline, rocky bluffs, and far-reaching vistas of water, steep, eroded cliffs, and green timber. When the bass find even a small rocky island or a reef with the water dropping off rather gradually they are contented to call it home at this season of the year. They also like rock shelves along the shore.

Here among the Strawberry Islands on the west shore of the Door county peninsula you have one of these many ideal black bass spots in the narrow water known as Green bay. There are others southwest toward Sturgeon bay and northeast along the shore to Washington Island. Start in a boat from Sturgeon bay, Egg Harbor, Fish creek, Ephraim Sister bay or any of the other natural little harbors on this rugged, rocky coast all the way to the tip of the peninsula and you can find plenty of spots where the bass are congregated.

Wants Smack Boat.

When Clyde Helgeson and Leland Thorp joined us for an afternoon assault against the bass around the Strawberry Islands a rather brisk northeast wind was whipping across the harbor. Every once in a while the nose of our comfortable boat was smacked by little waves that sent spray into our faces. Looking ahead toward the Strawberry Islands [including the heavily timbered Adventure Island] the conditions looked more ideal for lake trout than bass, for on the north shore of Lake Superior we have caught lake trout around similar rocky reefs and islets. But in less than 3 minutes after Clyde had dropped the anenor in about 12 feet of water and approximately 125 feet from the reef he had hooked a 2 pound small mouth.

NORI MAKES BID FOR POSITION IN LION BACK FIELD

Former De Kalb Player Shows Power in Drill.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomfield Hills, Mich., Aug. 24.—Reino Nori is a slight, blond, a Finn, the son of a milkman. He earned sixteen varsity letters at De Kalb Teachers, where he was graduated last June, and had his heart set on playing with the All-Star squad. But three million fans ignored him in the nation-wide poll.

Things are looking up for Reino Nori these days, however, and when the teams step out on Soldiers' field Sept. 1, he'll be there, trim and excited in the blue and silver of the world champion Detroit Lions, ready to prove 3,000,000 fans wrong.

Nori Gains Consistently.

Nori staked out a claim on a steady job in the National league today by ripping through the line and racing around the ends for first downs in a forty minute scrimmage as the Lions entered the final stages of their vigorous drill for the All-Star contest. Behind a line that three times gave the freshmen the ball on the five yard line and defied them to advance beyond the three, Nori flashed ball carrying ability worthy of All-Star rating.

Before Nori got under way under the blazing sun Glenn Pressnell, Ernie Caddel, and Ace Gutowsky, veteran members of the Lion ensemble, ripped through the freshman line for gains ranging up to eighteen yards, advancing steadily down the field each time they received the ball.

At the end of the drill, observers were unanimous in the opinion that the Lions have reached their objective here and will enter the game at Chicago in better shape than they opened the National league pennant race last year.

Two Released from Hospital.

Tackle Jim Steen and Rookie Center Charles Hanneman, were released from the hospital today and rejoined the squad. Steen had a slight leg infection and Hanneman a carbuncle. Other casualties reported favorable progress. Ed Klewicki, end, who has been nursing a sprained ankle, participated in both workouts, as did Bill McKalip, another end, who suffered a bruise yesterday.

Elmer Ward, veteran center, who is recovering from a knee operation, has switched his workouts from the practice field to the highways, where he pedals a bicycle up and down the hills of Oakland county six hours a day in an attempt to strengthen his legs.

CLARK LEAVES SUNDAY.

Pueblo, Colo., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Earl [Dutch] Clark will wind up his affairs as manager of the Colorado state fair and leave this week-end to join the Detroit Lions, who will play the College All-Stars at Chicago Sept. 1. Clark said he probably would leave Sunday. The former star quarter back at Colorado college has kept himself in top shape since the 1935 season.

TWO RANKING DOUBLES TEAMS LOSE IN U. S. PLAY

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Two of the eight ranking American teams in the men's national doubles tourney were knocked out in the opening round today. The sixth ranking, Henry Culley of Santa Barbara, Cal., and Joe Hunt, Los Angeles youngster, lost to Dave Jones, New York, and John Law of Pasadena, Cal., 4-6, 6-0, 8-6, 6-3.

The eighth seeded pair of William Seward and Bob Underwood of Los Angeles was beaten by the Forest Hills, N. H., combination of S. E. Davenport III., and Robert J. Kelleher, 5-7, 8-6, 6-0, 6-2.

The defending champions in the men's doubles, Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., and Johnny Van Ryn of Philadelphia, performed about as impressively against their first round opponents as did their outstanding rivals, Don Budge and Gene Mako, who captured their United States Davis cup doubles assignment this year.

Allison and Van Ryn gained the second round by defeating Alfred Jarvis of Tenafly, N. J., and Charles Mattman of Forest Hills, N. Y., 8-6, 6-0, 6-1. Budge and Mako bested the veteran Connecticut pair, John Gow and Holbrook Hyde of Hartford, 6-4, 8-6, 6-2.

Norbert Burgess and Norman Bickel, Chicago, defeated Peter Lauck, Montclair, N. J., and Robert Madden, Pittsburgh, 7-5, 6-2, 3-6, 7-5.

White Team Wins, 7 to 3, in Bears' Battle

Delafield, Wis., Aug. 24.—The first scrimmage of the season was held by the Chicago Bears today on the St. John Military academy gridiron, and after an hour and forty minutes of continuous play under a scorching sun the White eleven won from the Orange, 7 to 3. Jack Manders made a forty yard field goal, Bill Hewitt scored a touchdown on two long forward passes from George Corbett, and Bronko Nagurski kicked the extra point.

Every man lost from seven to twelve pounds. Bob Allman, Michigan State rookie end, shrank from 200 to 188 pounds.

Allman looked good, as did Ray Nolting, fast Cincinnati half back who did the punting for the Orange team. Eddie Michaels, Villanova guard prospect, was in the limelight defensively for the White.

Bull Doehring, who returned to the Bears after an absence of a year, alternated at half back with Johnny Sisk and tore off sizeable gains with Nagurski running interference. Mil Miller and Milt Trost were conspicuous at tackle and Ookie Miller was a standout at center.

TEXAS PLAYERS GATHER.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Sixteen stars of intercollegiate football last season will be called together tomorrow for the first practice session in preparation for a game with the Chicago Bears of the National Professional Football league here Sept. 7.

BRITISH WALKER CUP GOLF TEAM ARRIVES IN U. S.

New York, Aug. 24.—(AP)—A youthful and confident British Walker cup team arrived in New York aboard the S. S. Transylvania today, stopped over long enough to doff their waistcoats, and left at once by bus for Clementon, N. J., where they will meet the American team over the difficult Pine Valley course, Sept. 3-4.

They have been ten days on the water, during which they have practiced hitting balls into the Atlantic. Dr. William Tweddell, captain of the team, explained that they took a slow boat purposely because he wanted the boys to be well rested so that they could withstand the heat.

The other members of the team are H. G. Bentley, J. Morton Dykes, Cecil Ewing, G. Alec Hill, J. D. Langley, P. B. Lucas, Jack McLean, Hector Thomson, and Gordon Peters.

Trainer Erickson Busiest Man on All-Star Squad

One of the busiest men in the All-Star football camp at Dyche stadium is Trainer Carl Erickson, whose task is to get the collegians in readiness for their two daily workouts. Each of the 53 players must have his ankles taped before going on the field not to mention rubdowns and the application of soothing lotions for sore muscles.

Here is the standing order for each day: Four dozen rolls of tape, 10 yards to a roll; one gallon of rubbing alcohol; five dozen rolls of gauze bandages, and two pounds of cotton. In addition each player is issued clean equipment consisting of jersey, undershirt, and socks twice daily.

Fastest man on the All-Star team is Bobby Wilson, diminutive back from Southern Methodist. He was quite a track man in college, having placed in the 100 yard dash in the 1934 national intercollegiate track meet.

Mike Layden, Notre Dame half back, will report back to his job with the Bell Telephone company in Indianapolis as soon as the All-Star game is over. Mike's biggest thrill in football was scoring both touchdowns in Notre Dame's 14 to 0 victory over Southern California in 1934.

One of the best golfers on the All-Star squad is Babe Le Voir of Minnesota. He missed qualifying in the Minnesota amateur golf tournament by one stroke. Le Voir plans to go into the insurance business with a Des Moines, Ia., firm.

terday morning with renewed vigor following Sundays day of rest. The coaching staf had them in uniform and ready to work before 10 o'clock and didn't call a halt for two hours.

Study New Plays.

The squad again was on the field at 2:30 in the afternoon. Fifteen minutes was devoted to filming motion pictures. Then came limbering up exercises under the direction of head Coach Bernie Bierman. The five hour program was devoted to both offense and defense. New plays were given out at noon, all of them mimeographed, and with this addition the répertoire for the game with the Lions has been completed.

"I have been agreeably surprised," Coach Bierman said yesterday in general discussion of the chances of the All-Stars against the Lions, "with the rapidity and thoroughness the players have shown in learning their assignments. The boys know what to do. In scrimmage there have been few fumbles.

Players Are Confident.

"Our problem is to carry out blocking assignments on the offense. This has been the chief weakness, indifferent blocking. I am apprehensive also of the Lions' attack. We must guess largely how and from what formations the Lions will start their plays."

The players, however, are confident they will match the Lions in power and speed. Big Truman Spain, Southern Methodist tackle, spoke for the line when he promised that "we aren't going to be pushed around and there's no one on the Detroit team fast enough to run away from Bill Shakespeare, Jimmy Lawrence, Tuffy Leemans, Riley Smith, Jay Berwanger, and the other boys who will be watching for passes."

Until today Dick Crayne, Iowa full back, has been the best kicker on the squad. But Bill Shakespeare got a cheer from the spectators yesterday afternoon when he cut loose with his long distance punting. Shakespeare really gave the ball a thumping for the first time since he twisted his ankle. He had several 50 and 60 yard spirals to his credit.

Crayne Is Versatile.

Crayne is the most versatile back. He can play half or full back and has mastered both positions. The other backs have generally been assigned to one position. The linemen also are now definitely assigned to one side of the line or the other, which increases the efficiency of the attack.

The All-Star defense, which will be six man line, a box secondary and a safety back to protect on long passes and kicks, is the type to check the Lions. Sheldon Beise of Minnesota, and Gomer Jones, rotund Ohio State center, will protect the six man line. Beise also can cover passes remarkably well. Bierman also will depend on smashing ends with the half backs protecting for sweeping runs and passes.

Al Lind, Northwestern, and Dale Rennebohm, Minnesota, are lighter and faster than Jones. They probably will be used as defensive half backs when they are at center for the All-Stars.

This is no exhibition game. The All-American squad is the greatest ever assembled. The best players of 1935 are fighting for the right to face the Lions. The boys are confident that no professional or college eleven can do more than they have in the same length of time.

Eighty thousand are expected to watch the game between the Collegians and the Lions a week from tonight. Excellent seats, however, still are available. There are $3.30 seats at the end line left. Splendid $2.20 seats can be purchased and the game certainly is a bargain at $1.10.

Tickets may be bought at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and in the lobby of Tribune Tower. Mail orders will be accepted. Address your requests to the Football Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower.

GREENTREE AND AURORA TO MEET IN POLO OPENER

New York, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The draw for the national open polo championship, announced tonight, will be responsible for the elimination of one of the strongest teams in the tournament on the opening day of competition, Saturday.

Greentree, defending champion, and Templeton, highest handicapped team in the tournament, were seeded in opposite halves of the draw, but this failed to prevent Greentree from being matched against Aurora in the opening game Saturday afternoon. Aurora, runnerup a year ago, is considered nearly on a par with Greentree and Templeton.

With the addition of Old Westbury, made up of Ivor Balding and three spares of the Argentine squad, Jack Nelson, Enrique Alberdi, and Diego Cavanagh, the field for the open will number seven. The others are Greentree, Templeton, Aurora, the Hurricanes, Roslyn, and Texas.

Tournament officials hope to stage the final on Sept. 5, thus giving the winning team plenty of time for practice before the matches with Argentine for the "cup of the Americas."

Aug. 29—International field, Meadow Brook. Greentree vs. Aurora.
Aug. 30—Cochran field, Meadow Brook, Hurricanes vs. Old Westbury; Sands Point club, Roslyn vs. Texas.
Sept. 5—International field, final round.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Whenever you get the idea that a dozen selling platers can't furnish entertainment or excitement at a race course get into an easy chair, make yourself calm, dig up the statistics on the six furlong second race run at Washington Park on the afternoon of Monday, Aug. 24, and find out for yourself.

Screen and Crazy Jane, which had finished originally third and fourth, wound up in a dead heat for second money.

Buddy Haas Is Suspended.

Jocky Buddy Haas, who rode Trinchera to the victory which was taken away from him, was suspended for the remainder of the Washington Park season.

Quick, Watson! The needle.

Despite sweltering weather the wildest scenes of the Washington Park season took place while the complicated situation developed. Some cheered, others booed, judges tore their hair, owners squirmed and fretted.

Trinchera, showing the speed that made him one of the most famous sprinters in the country a few years back, jumped out and took the lead after the field was out a half mile. Que Gato was running second, Crazy Jane third and Ricky Roo fourth. Wheeling into the stretch Trinchera was enjoying a lead of three lengths. Bill Donoghue had moved into second place, Crazy Jane was third and Screen was fourth.

Trinchera Begins to Swerve.

Trinchera weakened after opening up a commanding lead and began to swerve to the rail. Bill Donoghue was also swerving all the way down the stretch. He finally landed on the rail and started to move up on the extreme inside. While he was doing it Trinchera staggered over against him and knocked him back.

That constituted the foul. If Jocky Haas could have kept Trinchera going in a straight line he could not have missed scoring the victory, for if Bill Donoghue had not been knocked back his task of catching and passing Trinchera appeared to be a hopeless one.

It was some time before the crowd could adjust itself to the business at hand, but nearly everybody except Tom Worden of Chicago, owner of Trinchera had settled down by the time the Midway handicap was run which also produced another thriller.

It's a good thing that Harry I. Day's Eye was high up in the sky when this finish came. Otherwise the outcome might have remained one of the great unsolved mysteries of turfdom. The human eye could not have separated the leaders.

The Eye in the Sky discovered that stylish Miss Saxon from the Jane Francis stable had finished first a nose in front of Fire Advance owned by J. Molay and that just another nose back in third place was Fast Stride from the Elmtree stable of Canada.

STAR BESS, a strong factor from the start and under mild restraint until reaching the final quarter, swerved out as she raced around MACAWLEE approaching the final eighth and, sustaining good speed to the end, came away rapidly in the last sixteenth. MACAWLEE, rushed into command and saving ground the final three-eighths, could not withstand the winner's challenge, but held on well to the final sixteenth before weakening. CHARWITCH finished resolutely in a fair effort.

Went to post at 2:51. At post 2½ minutes. Start good for all but Ima Count, from gate. Won driving; place same.

TRINCHERA forced the early pace under strong restraint, took command gradually after reaching the final five-sixteenths and, swerving over when weakening after having opened up a commanding lead, had BILL DONOGHUE in close quarters near the finish for which he was disqualified. Latter, in hand for a half mile, bore over badly when moving up in the stretch, working his way up on inside of TRINCHERA in the final sixteenth, but had to be eased back when latter bore over near the finish. SCREEN, a factor from the start, held on well. CRAZY JANE, also a sharp factor from the start, suffered light interference when entering the final eighth and weakened near the end, but lasted to deadheat SCREEN for third.

SLEEPY JOE, forced back repeatedly when racing on the inside the first half mile, was taken to outside with difficulty, then swerved over several times when moving up gradually through the final quarter and, getting up in the last fifty yards, drew clear. HARVEY G. O. improved his position gradually, wore down the leaders under strong pressure and held on well, but was not good enough. SPICATE, badly outrun for five-eighths, closed with a rush.

ERIN LAD took command under light urging, was taken under mild restraint after about three-sixteenths and, strongly shaken up when entering the stretch, continued well to the last sixteenth before faltering, but managed to stall off JULIA GRANT. Latter, under snug restraint for five-eighths and brought to outside of the winner in the stretch, held on well and was nearing ERIN LAD's saddle, away slowly and went to the middle of the track the last five-eighths, closed boldly.

MISS SAXON, forced to overcome mild interference in the opening quarter and forced to outside for room after reaching the turn, raced into contention with a rush soon after entering the stretch and, wearing down FANFERN under strong pressure, just lasted. FIRE ADVANCE, slow to respond to energetic riding and brought to extreme outside in stretch, gained steadily the final three-sixteenths and barely failed to get up. FAST STRIDE, allowed to swerve in the early stages and in hand for three-quarters, secured room between MISS SAXON and FIRE ADVANCE when closing strongly and under a better judged ride might have been the winner.

MORATORIUM [R.McClellan]	108	8	8	9	9	9	9	E.K.Murray	14.80-1

Time, :23 2-5, :47, 1:12. Two dollar mutuels paid: Grey Streak, $21.20 straight, $8.40 place, $4.20 show; Euryalus, $3.40 place, $3.00 show; Merry Caroline, $5.60 show. Winner trained by R. Goose. Went to post at 4:43. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won ridden out; place driving.

GREY STREAK, away fast and having the most speed, made the early pace under snug restraint, increased his margin when entering the stretch and, under vigorous riding the final eighth, won with little left. EURYALUS, slow to back at the start and far out of it for a half mile, came to extreme outside in the stretch and closed with a rush. MERRY CAROLINE, well rated, held on with good courage.

SEVENTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Claiming. Three year olds. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :23 3-5, :47 4-5, 1:12 4-5, 1:38 3-5, 1:42 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Black Scout, $24.80 straight, $6.20 place, $4.00 show; Anklets, $3.40 place, $2.20 show; Rudenia, $2.40 show. Winner trained by M. Thompson. Went to post at 5:12½. At post 2½ minutes. Start good. Won driving; place same.

BLACK SCOUT, never a great distance horse, was on the inside for five-eighths, was taken out after failing to get through on the stretch turn and, closing strongly under energetic handling, got up for a lucky win. ANKLETS, probably best and reserved off the early pace, easily worked his way into a short lead after reaching the final quarter and, over-confidently ridden, eased himself in the last fifty yards and lost the lead before James could rouse him to renewed effort. RUDENIA closed resolutely in a fine effort.

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-quarter miles. Claiming. Four year olds and up. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :25, :50, 1:15 1-5, 1:40 1-5, 2:06 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Sister Ikie, $17.60 straight, $8.40 place, $5.60 show; Theorem, $13.80 place, $8.40 show; Pomparagon, $5.20 show. Winner trained by F. J. Talbot. Went to post at 5:43. At post ½ minute. Start good. Won driving; place same.

SISTER IKIE, forced back slightly when approaching the far turn, began to move up when clear, came to outside in the stretch, bore over badly when slowly wearing down the leaders and but for swerving might have won by a greater margin. THEOREM forced the early pace under restraint, took command approaching the stretch and held on well, but was not good enough. POMPARAGON, a strong factor from the start, was in close quarters in the drive, but escaping interference, held on gamely.

BODY OF OLSON PLACED IN PALM BANKED CAPITOL

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The body of Gov. Floyd B. Olson was brought here today and placed in the palm banked rotunda of the state capitol a few hours after the oath of his office was administered to Lieut. Gov. Hjalmar Petersen.

State business ceased throughout the day in honor of the only Farmer-Labor governor ever elected in the United States. A thirty day mourning period was decreed and politics of the party were laid aside until after the funeral Wednesday in Minneapolis.

The funeral cortège arrived shortly after noon, concluding a slow journey from Rochester, Minn., where Olson died from cancer of the stomach Saturday night. The trip was made by automobile under escort of National Guardsmen and state highway patrolmen.

Flowers Carpet the Path.

Flags were at half staff on public buildings in villages and towns through which the solemn procession passed. Every community and field along the route had its quota of onlookers. Flowers were strewn in the path of the herse at Zumbrota. Business houses closed.

The official quiet here was broken only by the words of Chief Justice John P. Devaney, administering the oath of office to Petersen, 46 year old Danish emigrant and newspaper publisher, as the state's 23d governor.

Kin Hear Oath of Office.

Petersen's wife and two daughters, with other relatives and friends, watched the brief ceremony in the governor's reception room as he succeeded to the state's chief executive office.

The Farmer-Labor state central committee planned to meet the latter part of the week to determine who shall succeed Olson as their candidate for the United States senate.

Francis H. Shoemaker of Duluth, former congressman, has announced he would file for the post. He plans an early circulation of petitions to place his name on the ballot.

Many Gains of Point or More.

Gains of a point or more were recorded also in International Telephone debenture 5s and convertible 4½s, Lehigh Valley general 4s and 4½s, Missouri Pacific 5s of 1981, Chicago Great Western 4s, Baltimore and Ohio 5s of 1995, Boston and Maine 5s of 1955, American Ice 5s, and Southern Railway general 6s and 6½s.

The demand for prime bonds today brought fractionally higher prices for Santa Fe 4s of 1955, American Telephone debenture 5s, and Union Pacific refunding 4s.

Federal List Narrow.

United States government securities pursued a narrow course, with most of the changes favoring the upside to the extent of 1-32 to 3-32 point. There were a few minor recessions, with the treasury 3¼s of 1944-'46 off 3-32 and the 3¼s of 1949-'52 down a similar amount.

Italian bonds moved up as much as 2 points to feature modest trading activity in the foreign sections. Other groups were steady and quiet.

Atlas Tack.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me a report on Atlas Tack?—Z. S.

Answer: Atlas Tack corporation was formed in 1920, representing a merger of eighteen companies, some of which had been in business a century or more. Its main plant is located at Fairhaven, Mass. Products include tacks, brads, rivets, eyelets, and similar lines. Beer bottle caps have been manufactured since 1933.

The company has a rather inconsistent record of earnings. Net income before taxes for the six months ended June 30, 1936, was $40,863, or 43 cents a capital share, against $39,144, or 41 cents, in the corresponding 1935 period. The company finished 1935 with net profit equivalent to 84 cents a share, compared with a deficit of 19 cents a share in 1934. Deficits were experienced in 1930, 1931, 1932, and net profit in 1933 was 85 cents a share.

There is no funded debt and only one stock issue, 94,551 common shares, outstanding. A dividend of 25 cents a share was paid April 15, 1936, the first since 1920. The stock is speculative.

Control of the company changed hands late last year, following an indictment in March, 1935, of a member of the former management on charges of gaining control of the company and manipulating its stock to "unload" a large portion of it on the public by high pressure tactics.

New York Railways.

Answer: After ten consecutive years of losses, New York Railways corporation was declared insolvent and reorganized under the federal bankruptcy laws. Under the plan of readjustment and motorization, confirmed May 26, 1936, trolley operations were abandoned and the company was succeeded by New York City Omnibus corporation.

Senior bonds were assumed by the successor company. Ten shares of new stock and warants to purchase an additional twelve shares at $10 a share were issued for each old $1,000 income bond.

Preferred stock holders received ten year warants to buy 2½ new shares at $17.50 a share for each ten old preferred shares held. Common stock holders were wiped out.

PROFIT TAKING SENDS GRAIN PRICES LOWER

Action Results from Better Weather.

Grain markets showed a heavy undertone yesterday. More favorable weather and crop reports had a depressing effect on corn, which lost more than a cent. Wheat dipped 2 cents, largely in sympathy with a reaction in Winnipeg, oats eased a major fraction, and rye declined 2 cents.

Speculative interest in grains was light until near the close when selling of wheat futures by operators who were limiting losses or saving what profits still remained in their holdings made its appearance. Final prices were at or near the low marks for the day.

More than 3,000,000 bushels of cash wheat were delivered by farmers at interior stations in the three Canadian provinces Saturday. Elevator interests who bought the grain protected themselves against a loss on their purchases by selling Winnipeg futures as a hedge and the Canadian market closed 2½ cents lower as a result.

Full Shipping Difference.

October wheat in Winnipeg was 13¼ cents under the same delivery in Liverpool at the close, or about equal to shipping charges between the two points. The English market lost a cent for the day. Relative weakness there was a factor in increasing pressure in North America.

Cash wheat has weakened sharply in the last few days compared with the September future, and the lower basis for country run grain in the sample market has tended to undermine bullish confidence. Holders of September wheat contracts have been liquidating for several days, desiring to avoid being forced to pay for deliveries of cash grain.

Most leading corn producing states, with the exception of those in the southwest, received rain over the week-end. Numerous reports were received indicating that an upward revision in the estimated yield of grain this season could be expected in many territories due to the favorable weather which has prevailed for more than a week.

Closing Prices Compared.

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Week ago.	Month ago.
Wheat	$1.10¾	$1.12¾	$1.18⅝	$1.05
Corn	1.11⅞	1.12¾	1.12	.90⅝
Oats	.43⅝	.44¼	.43⅝	.36⅞
Rye	.82⅞	.84⅝	.84½	.74

Several cars of new Texas corn were reported to have been received at St. Louis yesterday. In 1934 the Brownsville, Tex., district shipped approximately 1,000,000 bushels of corn to northern markets, including several bargeloads to Chicago. Inquiries were reported for additional quantities of Argentine corn to come to Chicago. So far only one cargo purchase has been confirmed.

Soy beans went contrary to the action of the grain markets yesterday, advancing 3 cents to $1.46 per bushel for old crop No. 2 yellow, a new high for several years. The same grade sold at 78½ cents July 1.

GERMAN AND U. S. TRADE MIXUP IS STILL UNSOLVED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The treasury's action of Aug. 14 removing countervailing duties against ten articles currently imported from Germany, originally applied to offset subsidies which the American government held Germany was supplying to its exporters, has not solved the trade problems existing between the two countries.

There remain difficulties of such proportions that Dr. Emil Baer, one of the three German trade experts who came here to discuss the countervailing duties with the treasury, has indefinitly postponed his return to Berlin in the hope of working out some solution for them. Other members of the delegation returned to Berlin about three weeks ago and persuaded Chancellor Hitler to decree the end of the trade practices which led to this country's retaliation in the form of countervailing duties ranging from 22 to nearly 60 per cent.

DETROIT TRANSIT LINES BUY 500 BUSES FROM FORD

Dearborn, Mich., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The municipally owned Detroit Street railway has placed with the Ford Motor company what is believed to be the largest single order for buses. It calls for 500 Ford V8 metropolitan buses. Completion of deliveries is expected by next spring.

Strikes Cause Spring Firm to Close Plants

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Its two auto bumper and spring plants closed by strikes, the Standard Steel Spring company has advised 700 employés of its intention to go out of business. This became known today when workers received their notices inside pay envelopes distributed Saturday.

The plants have been closed since Aug. 17 by a strike over recognition of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel, and Tin Workers. On July 15 the management granted a 10 per cent wage increase. Thus common labor was paid 48 cents an hour, or 1 cent more than the rate prevailing in valley steel plants.

The notice said: "Because of the actions of a few men, some of whom have no interest in your welfare or the best interests of this community, and because of our inability to obtain protection for our property and men who desire to work, it has become necessary to close our plants. This check is the last payment you will receive."

Violence Closes Plant.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Remington-Rand, Inc., served formal notice in Common Pleas court today that it would close its suburban Norwood plant because of violence that prevented operations in the face of an unsettled three months' strike. The action brought an indication the strikers might modify their demands. William C. Ripberger, business agent of the machinists' union, called a massmeeting for Tuesday.

"We will ask the strikers if they wish to modify their demands in an effort to induce the company to reconsider its decision," he said.

In New York, James H. Rand Jr., company president, asserted the plant might be reopened if a satisfactory agreement were reached but said that if it were reopened it would operate at only 25 per cent of the former capacity due to the fact much machinery already had been removed to other cities.

Threaten to Close Doors.

Lodi, N. J., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Another large textile dyeing plant in northern New Jersey today threatened to close its doors Aug. 31, throwing between 800 and 1,000 workers out of employment. The National Dyeing and Printing company of East Paterson, it was learned, expects to follow the example set last Saturday by the United Piece and Dye works of Lodi which shut down for an indefinite period possibly to move to either New England or to some town in the south. The action was caused by strife over wages.

If the National Dyeing and Printing company carries out its threat it will be the third establishment of its kind to take this action in the last two months. The Textile Dyeing and Printing company of Fairlawn, which employed 1,000, shut down early in the summer.

RETAILERS AGAIN BOOST VOLUME OF ADVERTISING

Newspaper advertising placed by merchants of 66 major cities in the week ended Aug. 25 exceeded the corresponding period of 1935 for the twenty-fifth consecutive week, Advertising Age said yesterday.

Retail advertising volume totaled 14,542,055 lines for the week, compared with 13,225,114 during the corresponding week of last year. This is an increase of 1,316,941 lines, or 9.9 per cent.

Domestic Nitrate Price Raised $1 a Ton to $27.50

New York, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Domestic producers of nitrates took the initiative today in advancing the price $1 a ton to $27.50 a ton, effective Sept. 30. The boost, announced by the Barrett company, a subsidiary of Allied Chemical and Dye corporation, marked the first change in the market inaugurated by the domestic trade. Previously quotations here have been controled by Chilean producers of natural nitrates.

BUTTER, EGG PRICES SAG AS CONSUMPTION FALLS; POTATOES DIP

Reports indicating lessened consumption of butter and eggs, and good to heavy rains over the leading producing districts, led to liquidation of futures contracts on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. November butter declined ½ cent and closed at 33¾ cents a pound. October eggs were ¾ cents lower at 24½ cents a dozen. Potato futures lost 10 to 15 cents with January closing at $2.35 per 100 pounds.

Part of the pressure on butter was the result of reports of further importations from abroad. Receipts of eggs at Chicago and New York were 10,000 cases in excess of arrivals a year ago. Current price of eggs for October delivery is a cent lower than a year ago and 3 cents under the recent high point.

Sales of butter futures totaled 120 cars; of eggs, 289 cars; of potatoes, 31 cars. Range of futures follows:

INITIAL DIVIDEND IS DECLARED ON GAR WOOD STOCK

The Powderly and Alexander company directors voted to establish the new $5 par common stock on a regular annual dividend basis of 60 cents. They declared a quarterly disbursement of 15 cents, payable Sept. 15. The old stock, which received 37½ cents quarterly and 12½ cents extra for the last disbursement, was split four for one recently.

Bloomingdale Brothers, a unit of the Federated Department Stores corporation, increased the common stock dividend to 45 cents this quarter, compared with 10 cents in the previous quarters. The dividend is payable Sept. 28.

An extra dividend of 10 cents in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 5 cents was declared by the Goebel Brewing company on the common stock. The disbursement is payable Sept. 30. Similar dividends were paid in the previous quarter.

AM. HAIR & FELT DENIES CHARGES IN STOCK SUIT

The American Hair and Felt company yesterday hit back at minority stockholders challenging the company's right to call the common stock at $5 a share in a brief filed in the federal District court in reply to the suit filed by stockholders to restrain the company from calling the stock.

The company denied the allegation in the bill of complaint that its stock is worth more than the call price of $5, and asserted the stock really shows a deficit of 91 cents. It also alleged the redemption provisions were announced when the stock was issued and also at subsequent periods when it was found that the over the counter dealers were selling it at a price above the call price.

The company also asserted the present suit was instigated by stock traders.

Copper Export Price Holds at 9.60 Cents Per Pound

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The export price of copper was unchanged today at 9.60 cents a pound, cost-insurance-freight European base ports. Buying abroad was reported in fair volume. Comments of London metal men on the last week's setback from 9.75 cents to its current level were that the setback was neither unnatural nor undesirable.

United Air Lines Reports July Trafic Best on Record

United Air Lines yesterday reported its July business was the heaviest of any month in its ten year history. Revenue passengers carried totaled 24,407; mail amounted to 564,536 pounds, and express, 186,890 pounds.

Bulova Watch Back Dividend Plan Approved

Bulova Watch company yesterday announced that a plan has been approved for clearing up dividend accumulations on the $3.50 preferred stock and its retirement through offering common stock plus cash to preferred stock holders.

The proposal calls for an exchange of present preferred, which is callable at $55 a share, for one share of common stock plus cash of $22.50 a share in addition to $17.50 in accumulated dividends.

This would give stockholders $40 a share in cash. Besides retiring the preferred it would pave the way for payment of dividends on common stock. No dividends have been paid on either issue since 1931. The last dividend on the common was 20 cents.

Values Preferred at $76.

Arde Bulova, chairman, in a letter to stockholders, said that common stock had a market value of $36 a share on Aug. 21, which, including the $40 of cash, is equivalent to $76 a share for preferred shares.

Deposit receipts will be issued to stockholders depositing the preferred shares for exchange and application will be made to list them on the New York Curb exchange, Bulova indicated.

Officials of the company said the contemplated payment of accumulated dividends and the cash offer for exchange of the preferred into common stock can be accomplished without additional financing, through using cash resources.

Plan One Class of Stock.

If the entire amount of preferred stock is converted the cash payment at the rate of $40 a share will total $2,000,000. Upon consummation of the plan and retirement of the preferred the capitalization will consist of 325,000 shares of common stock.

The letter to stockholders pointed out that earnings for the fiscal year to March 31 were equivalent to $4.15 a share on the common stock after allowance for preferred dividends. Bulova said that earnings for the current fiscal year are running substantially ahead of the preceding year with the improvement expected to continue.

CLUB ALUMINUM REPORTS PROFIT; TO REORGANIZE

The Club Aluminum Utensil company of Chicago yesterday reported net profit of $1,260 for the fiscal year ended June 30, the first year since 1929 that the company has shown a profit. In the year ended June 30, 1935, the company's net loss amounted to $12,24[illegible].

H. J. Taylor, president, said the company is working on a plan of reorganization for the purpose of reducing an indebtedness of $439,377 to creditors. He said a plan probably will be submitted to shareholders and creditors during the next fiscal year. The company's annual stockholders' meeting for this year will be held at 2 p. m. on Sept. 3 at 1238 Fullerton avenue.

WHISKY STOCKS GAIN SHARPLY IN LAST MONTH

During the month 19,994,247 gallons were produced, while only 4,643,417 gallons were withdrawn.

STOCK PRICES MOVE HIGHER IN QUIET TRADING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 24.—The stock market sought higher levels today in quiet trading. Most issues scored fractional gains, but thin markets in a number of issues resulted in a few wide advances.

The day opened with a carryover from Saturday's rally and some leaders rose as much as 2 points. Scattered selling made its appearance after the noon hour, which cut down gains considerably and in some cases substituted losses. The list then steadied in the final hour, wiping out most of the declines.

Trade news was not conducive to violent movements in either direction. In its weekly survey the department of commerce took note of the slowing down of retail trade because of warm weather and reported a drop in the sale of motor cars in July from June.

Steel Situation Favorable.

On the other hand, speculators were cheered by the well-sustained level of steel operations and by the steady flow of favorable advices from other industries. Steel shares led an upward movement just before publication of the American Iron and Steel institute's forecast that operations this week would rise slightly.

While U. S. Steel and Bethlehem added fractions, their final prices were around the best of the day. Youngstown registered an advance of 1¼ and Jones & Laughlin climbed a point.

Chemical shares recorded the best gains. Allied especially stood out, jumping 7 points, and du Pont, Monsanto, and Columbia Carbon each climbed a point or more.

Prices were higher in the motor section, where Chrysler moved up a point. Studebaker was active and higher. Fractional gains were scored by the rails. Great Northern was a feature, registering a gain in excess of point.

Drouth Less of a Factor.

Drouth conditions receded as a market factor and farm implement shares benefitted accordingly. Sears, Roebuck and Spiegel-May-Stern were good mail orders.

American Telephone closed unchanged after climbing nearly 2 points in early dealings. Consolidated gas retained a major fraction of a gain that at time extended to more than a point.

Stocks to gain 1 to 3 points included American Tobacco, International Cement, Johns-Manville, Anaconda Wire, May Department Stores, International Business Machine, Loews, and, Coca Cola.

PEOPLES GAS RATE INCREASE PLEA IS DENIED

The Illinois commerce commission refused yesterday to grant the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company a temporary increase in gas rates pending a hearing Sept. 15 on its petition for a permanent increase. James M. Slattery, chairman, reported that the commission found no emergency threatened.

A schedule filed by the company June 26 revealed the proposed increase would yield $2,543,173 annually. Unless the increase is granted, said George A. Ranney, president of the company, the company would turn to the courts for relief.

An intervening petition filed in behalf of the city by Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes charged the new schedule would mean an increase of 16 per cent over prevaling rates and 50 per cent in the minimum monthly charge. His petition also alleged that the present rates are too high and asked the commission to make an investigation to afford the domestic consumer lower rates.

DEPRESSION ENDED, SAYS EDSEL FORD

New York, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor company, home from a five weeks' tour of Europe today, said: "There certainly is every indication that the world depression is over."

Although his company intends to expand a number of plants now in operation, it does not plan to open any new foreign factories, he said.

Public Service Profits Rise; Other Companies Report Gain

Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and subsidiaries yesterday reported net income of $169,555 for July, compared with $138,236 in July, 1935. Gross earnings were $3,104,903 for the month, against $2,792,025 in the same period last year.

In the first seven months of this year net income amounted to $1,981,331, against $1,930,394 in the corresponding months of last year. Gross earnings for the period were $22,837,298, compared with $20,946,401.

It was explained that earnings figures for 1935 were after allocation of adjustments affecting that year, and net income for 1936 was after provision for federal income taxes, including the surtax on estimated undistributed profits, calculated on the basis of the present rate of dividend disbursements.

Servel Profit Doubled.

Servel, Inc., and subsidiaries reported for the quarter ended July 31 net profit of $2,122,306 after charges and taxes. This compares with $1,067,336 in the July quarter a year ago. Net earnings per share were $1.19, compared with 77 cents in the July, 1935, quarter. The company said no provision was required for surtax on undistributed profits, as the corporation's fiscal year ends Oct. 31, 1936.

National Dairy Products corporation earnings for the first seven months of this year were as large as earnings during the entire year ended Dec. 31, 1935, Thomas H. McInnerney, president, announced yesterday on his return to this country from abroad. He said that in the initial six months of 1936 the company earned 89 cents a share, compared with 49 cents in the corresponding period a year ago. He believes that this ratio will prevail in the complete year report.

National Tea Sales Gain.

National Tea company reported consolidated sales for the four weeks ended Aug. 15 were $4,812,646, against $4,297,938 in the corresponding four weeks ended Aug. 10 of last year, an increase of $514,707, or 11.97 per cent. The number of stores in operation declined from 1,224 on Aug. 10, 1935, to 1,214 on Aug. 15, 1936, officials of the company said.

Wentworth Manufacturing company, dress manufacturers, reported net earnings for the nine months ended July 31, after charges including provision for federal income taxes, of $261,041, equivalent to $2.54 per share on the outstanding common stock, compared with net earnings of $235,381, or $2.29 per share, for the full fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1935.

SEC MAY BAR STOCK OPTIONS IN NEW MOVE TO END MANIPULATION

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Officials of the SEC, considering strengthening of the commission's hand for prosecutions of infractions of the law against market manipulation, were reported today to be entertaining the idea of barring the giving and taking of stock options.

Because the law as it stands places on the commission the burden of proving intention as well as acts in manipulative practice, if conviction is to be obtained, two or three material changes are being considered, it was said.

Revisions dealing with options were in the form of a prohibition of the giving or taking of options on the ground that they are manipulative devices in themselves, a prohibition against trading in a stock against an option, and a blanket provision against any one dealing in a stock on an exchange while engaged in distributing it over the counter.

Options of various kinds, particularly those given above market value at the time of their issuance, have been encountered, it was said, in nearly all cases of alleged manipulation investigated so far by SEC.

NEW FINANCING TO BE ANNOUNCED BY U. S. SEPT. 8

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today that an announcement concerning the Sept. 15 financing would be made on Sept. 8.

A total of $514,000,000 in government securities falls due on the former date. The secretary declined to say whether any additional money would be borrowed at that time.

Morgenthau announced tonight that the $50,000,000 offering of 273 day treasury bills on Aug. 21 brought total bids of $197,603,000, of which $50,046,000 was accepted. The average price of bills to be issued was 99.871, which represented an average interest rate of 0.17 per cent per annum.

Further Rise in Steel Operations Is Indicated

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Operations in the steel industry for the current week advanced 0.3 of a point to 72.5 per cent of plant capacity, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated today. A month ago operations averaged 71.5 per cent and a year ago 47.9 per cent.

JULY EARNINGS INDICATE GOOD RAIL PROSPECTS

Two More Carriers Report Gains.

Measured by July revenue reports received so far and by early car loadings figures for last week, the outlook for the railroads yesterday continued favorable. Reports on July operations of two of the nation's leading carriers, the Pennsylvania and the Illinois Central, disclose the manner in which increased revenues are boosting railway operating income, which is the amount remaining after expenses but before fixed charges.

The Illinois Central system reported for July railway operating revenues of $9,407,560, an increase of $2,039,283, or 27.6 per cent, over the total of $7,368,277 reported for July, 1935. Railway operating income increased approximately 550 per cent. The figure for last month was $1,207,671, an increase of $1,021,002 over the $186,669 reported for July, 1935.

Best Showing Since Last October.

The Illinois Central's railway operating income last month was the largest since last October, when it was $1,923,703. While showing a substantial increase the amount fell short by approximately $175,000 of providing for fixed charges for the month.

For the first seven months of this year the Illinois Central's railway operating revenues totaled $63,075,204, an increase of $8,844,735 over the total for the like 1935 period, while railway operating income totaled $7,149,874, an increase of $1,811,809.

The Pennsylvania reported railway operating revenues of $37,748,225 for July, an increase of $8,239,388, or 27.9 per cent, over July, 1935. Railway operating income amounted to $7,907,171, an increase of $2,858,499, or 56.6 per cent. The July gross earnings were the largest for any month since October, 1931, when they were $38,206,879.

All Divisions Show Increase.

All divisions of the Pennsylvania's operations showed increases over July, 1935. Freight revenues at $28,870,375 were up $6,687,193. Passenger revenues responded to the lower fares, totaling $5,622,655, a gain of $1,109,115 over July, 1935.

For the first seven months of this year the Pennsylvania railway's operating revenues totaled $242,716,391, an increase of $34,353,606 over the like period of 1935. Railway operating in-

BRANDS DEPOSIT GUARANTEE JUST NEW DEAL MYTH

Wilcox Asserts It Offers False Security.

Describing the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation as "just another New Deal myth that has lulled millions of depositors into false security," the American Mercury magazine in September issue publishes an article by U. V. Wilcox in which the FDIC is attacked as an agency by which the collectivists in the New Deal administration hope to get an iron grip on the credit machinery of the nation. Wilcox is Washington correspondent for the American Banker, a daily publication in New York City.

"What they proposed to do," Wilcox says in explaining the birth of the FDIC, "appeared gallant in the extreme. The first salvo was to mottify the American wage earner that henceforth and forever his bank money was insured by the federal government against loss, spoilage, or sudden death; that his savings book was therefore safe and inviolate; that there would never again occur vast losses through mass closure of banks; and that the financial future of the republic was to be everlastingly rosy.

Theory Proved Unsound.

"In other words, the bankers—those 'creatures of entrenched greed'—were to be soundly shelled in their dugouts. What issued from the frowning muzzle, however, was not a barrage of shrapnel and high explosive—but a dud. For, sad to relate, the theory of federal bank deposit guarantees has proved itself to be economically unsound and impossible of large scale application.

"The promised guarantee is only partial and is paid for in the main by banks which do not profit from its provisions. The whole scheme has substituted reliance on federal mechanisms for individual brains and corporate responsibility; its only tangible substance is the hold it exercises on the management of banking.

"The conclusion to be drawn is extremely obvious. The new rules and regulations are not guarantees of financial security. Rather they are being used as a means by which the Roosevelt burocracy hopes to seize absolute control of the banks as one further and important step toward the creation of the New Deal totalitarian state."

Holds Runs Not Prevented.

Wilcox attacks the theory that the guarantee of bank deposits will eliminate runs on banks. He points out that although 98 per cent of individual bank deposits are covered by the insurance plan the total of insured deposits amounts to only 18 millions of the 41½ millions of deposits of insured banks. Deposits are not covered above a maximum of $5,000 each. This means, he says, that there will be nothing to deter the withdrawal of big corporate deposits in cases of threatened bank failures. He adds that bank closings in the past have usually followed the withdrawal of the larger deposits.

He points out that while New Dealers are claiming credit for the de-

SECURITY GROUP GIVES APPROVAL TO WILLYS PLAN

Toledo, O., Aug. 24.—(AP)—During a hearing today in the federal court on the reorganization plan of the Willys-Overland company two stock brokers and a Pennsylvania attorney, representing bond and stockholders in the old firm, approved the plan.

M. R. Bauer, Chicago, member of the brokerage firm of Paine, Webber & Co., said it was his belief that bondholders within a reasonable length of time will receive both par and accrued interest in full. He testified that under the plan the bondholder can, if he wishes, sell his bonds or preferred stock for almost par if the reorganization plan is approved.

Report Ice Sales Boosted by Advertising Campaign

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Leslie Smith of Chicago, secretary and treasurer of National Ice Advertising, told Oklahoma and Texas manufacturers today the nation's ice sales increased 52 per cent last year. He said he considered the increase directly due to a national advertising campaign costing $475,000.

FIRE INSURANCE RATE CUT SUIT IS DISMISSED

Action Ends Palmer Feud with Eastern Firms.

A suit brought by 176 fire insurance companies to restrain Ernest Palmer, Illinois director of insurance, from enforcing a rate reduction of 10 per cent, was dismissed yesterday by Judge J. Earl Major in the Federal District court at Springfield.

ERNEST PALMER.

The action apparently ends the feud between Palmer and big eastern stock companies over his rate reduction order. A concession had been made by both sides as Palmer recently announced that the companies agreed to a 5 per cent reduction on residential fire insurance rates, effective Oct. 1.

Planned to Press Action.

The suit was dismissed as a result of this agreement. In commenting on the dismissal, Attorney General Otto Kerner said yesterday:

"Had the insurance companies refused to make concessions in rates upon this class of property, the state was prepared to litigate the matter to the highest court . . . and I was prepared to show that those rates are exorbitant and discriminatory."

It was generally believed by insurance men that Palmer would be appeased by the companies' agreement to reduce rates by 5 per cent and that he would drop any efforts to enforce a 10 per cent cut which he ordered last June 23.

The reduction was to have been carried out by all stock companies operating in this state, but some of the big eastern firms balked at complying with the order.

Practically all mutual fire insurance companies, a few non-board stock companies and London Lloyd's agreed to abide by the rate reduction, but 176 stock companies filed suit to restrain Palmer from enforcing the order, claiming that he lacked the power to make such a demand.

Got Temporary Injunction.

These companies succeeded in getting a temporary injunction against Palmer, and another hearing on the suit had been scheduled for Oct. 1 in the Federal District court at Springfield.

"We will treat all companies alike and await the final decision of the Federal court," Palmer said after the temporary restraining order had been issued.

Palmer's plan for enforcing the rate reduction was to deny renewal of licenses to companies not complying with his order.

The reduction that goes into effect Oct. 1 amounts to 1 cent flat per $100 of liability, amounting to 5 per cent applying to brick and frame dwellings with approved roof coverings when located in cities and towns having full fire department and water works protection.

GOLDBLATT PAYS $95,000 FOR HOME IN NORTH SHORE

County records yesterday disclosed that Nathan Goldblatt, secretary and treasurer of Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., paid $95,000 for the residence of Benjamin Marshall in Wilmette, on Sheridan road, opposite Bahai temple. Title was conveyed by the First National Bank of Chicago to Frances Goldblatt.

The purchase was made subject to leases to the Benjamin H. Marshall Studio, Inc., which occupies office space, and the Sheridan Shore Yacht club, which uses part of the residence for club purposes.

Erected in 1921 at a cost reported to have been well over a million dollars, the Marshall home has attracted international notice. Among its many noted visitors was the prince of Wales, now king of England.

U. S. FILES REPLY IN SUIT AGAINST COMMODITY ACT

Fights Injunction Plea of Produce Mart.

An answer to charges that the commodity exchange act of 1936 is unconstitutional was filed yesterday on behalf of the federal government. Hearing on the suit for an injunction to restrain enforcement of the law will be held at 2 p. m. today before Federal Judge John P. Barnes.

The attack on the constitutionality of the act was made in a suit filed Aug. 15 by William S. Moore on behalf of himself and other members of the Chicago Mercantile exchange. A brief in support of charges that the act is illegal on 19 counts was filed last Friday.

Federal Arguments Presented.

The answer, filed by United States District Attorney Michael L. Igoe, Assistant District Attorney Edmond Sullivan, and Wendell Berge, special assistant attorney general of the United States, asserted the complainant has ample legal remedies and that issuance of an injunction now would be improper.

The government recited that the act was passed on June 15, 1936, and only the "procedural" provisions are now in effect. It said the Chicago Mercantile exchange and its members are not subject to any federal regulations until other provisions become effective Sept. 13, so the complainant is asking "injunctive relief from provisions not yet effective."

Objects to Assumptions.

"The bill of complaint does not show such direct, immediate and irreparable injury to the complainant as would warrant or require issuance of an interlocutory injunction," the answer set forth.

"It is not enough that the complainant may be put to some slight annoyance or inconvenience if the act becomes effective as to him on Sept. 13, 1936. Nor is the complainant entitled to an interlocutory injunction merely because it is possible by making certain assumptions about hypothetical future events, to imagine that the complainant may, at some future date, suffer injury if certain events, now wholly speculative, should transpire."

In urging the adequacy of ordinary legal remedies, the answer pointed out that a complainant can appeal directly to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals from any order issued by the Commodity Exchange commission—as was the case under the grain futures act.

Asserting that no showing of facts has been made to support a contention of serious injury done, the government insisted that no injunction should be issued on "mere vague and general allegations."

SEEK TO INDICT 6 FOR AVOIDING LABOR HEARING

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—(AP)—A federal indictment of six officials of the Railway Audit and Inspection company for failure to appear before the La Follette labor investigating committee will be sought this week. Robert Wohlforth, secretary of the committee, said today that a record of the senate committee's hearing last Friday when the officials failed to appear has been certified to Vice President Garner and should be returned by him to the district attorney in the District of Columbia "within the next two days."

The officials against whom the indictments will be sought are W. W. Groves, president; W. B. Groves, vice president; L. Douglas Rice, secretary; J. E. Blair, treasurer; R. S. Judge, director, and J. C. Boyer, undercover operative.

They were subpenaed to appear with their company's records in connection with the senate committee's investigation of alleged use of labor spies in labor disputes.

DELAY HEARING ON LIVE STOCK RATES TO AUG. 27

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace's investigation of rates and service fees charged by the Union Stock Yard and Transit company, operators of the physical facilities of the Chicago live stock market, was adjourned yesterday morning by Examiner J. C. Brooke until 10 a. m. Aug. 27, in room 358 of the federal building.

The government accepted the motion of counsel for the yard company for a postponement to enable a lawyers' consultation which might establish concord on certain matters of valuation and other basic premises.

The inquiry, known as "bureau of animal industry docket No. 472," was instituted by Wallace to determine the "lawfulness of all rates and charges" of the yard company.

Burlington Road Will Put Roller Bearings on Engine

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad has placed an order with the Timken Roller Bearing company for bearings and boxes to equip all driving axles and other parts of one of the road's large passenger locomotives, it was announced yesterday. It was said the new equipment will enable the speed of the locomotive to be raised 30 miles an hour without increasing the hammer blow of the drivers, thereby increasing the life of the track, as well as reducing the normal wear on the locomotive.
